Governor's Budget Change Is A Hoax, Republicans Assert

Opposition Charges Accrual Plan Will Bring Higher Taxes

SACRAENTO (AP) — Assembly Republicans today called Governor Edmund G. Brown's plan to avert new taxes a "$250 million election year accounting hoax" and said it would leave California $320 million in the red next year.

In a "white paper" prepared for a news conference, Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, said:

"We charge the governor with political motivation and avoiding his constitutional responsibility to find the funds to pay for the programs he advocates."

The stinging attack on the Democratic administration's fiscal policies was aimed at a proposed bookkeeping change Brown says will maek available $243 million to balance his record $4.61 billion budget.

Brown proposes to count expected tax revenues before they are actually in the state's hands — an accounting device called the accrual system.

"If the governor's accrual plan is accepted, the legislative analyst estimates next year's post-election revenue gap at a whopping $320 million," Monagan said.

"And if the governor's plan is approved this year, then next year whoever is governor of California will be forced to ask for the largest tax increase in the history of the state — even larger than Governor Brown's previous record tax increase in 1959."

Brown is seeking re-election this year, and if accepted, his plan would permit him to run without asking for a tax increase.

The Republican report also objected to the administration's plan to exempt $325 million in bank and corporation taxes from the new system.

And it criticized Brown for abandoning his original plan to keep some $140 million made available by the new system in reserve.

Monagan said the governor "wiped out the reserve account so he could have an election-year bookkeeping gimmick to balance the entire budget."

The Republicans asked the legislature to tell the auditor general to study the new bookkeeping system and report before it is put into effect. They also asked for creation of a special legislative committee to study the plan.

The administration's plan is like a business which counts as assets money owed by customers — accounts receivable. Part of the plan is contained in a bill by Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams.

Johnson's Viet Cash-Raising Plans Upset

U.S. China Policy Testimony Ruffles Doves' Feathers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration forces in the Senate, reeling from a surprise drubbing by a lone Republican, rallied today to try to save off further eleciton year addi- additions to President Johnson's $6 billion Viet Nam tax program.

In two narrow votes yesterday —45 to 40 and 44 to 43—the Senate approved an amendment to the big tax package that would extend Social Security benefits to an additional 1.8 million Americans 70 and over not now covered.

LEADERS SHOUT

Ignoring shouted pleas from their leaders, Democrats joined with Republicans to give Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., a long-sought victory for his Social Security "rider." The leaders had expected his amendment to be defeated as easily as it was when he proposed it last year.

The administration bill, as passed by the House, also would bring in $4.8 billion through a speedup in corporate tax collection and a graduated income tax withholding system.

But Prouty's plan would cost an estimated $3.4 billion over the next five years, cancelling out some of the immediate revenue-raising effects of the bill.

HELPS ELDERS

Prouty argued that his proposal would lift from poverty the elderly who had not paid into the Social Security fund during their working years. Among them would be retired farmers, government employes, policemen, firefighters and teachers.

Elsewhere in Washington, "containment without isolation" should be the keystone of U.S. policy toward the sullen giant that is Communist China. That means helping Peking get into the United Nations, an expert claimed.

That was the substance of Columbia University China expert A. Doak Barnett's five and one-half hours of testimony yesterday as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee opened its wide-ranging study of Sino-American relations. The hearings resume tomorrow with Harvard Prof. John K. Fairbank, another Asian expert, the principal witness.

Looming over the committee's hearings—as it does over almost every other issue in Washington these days—is the continuing question of the Viet Nam war.

Barnett's endorsement of the Johnson administration policy of "measured use of force" in Viet Nam appeared to disap-

Roy A. Brown, Publisher, Civic Leader, Dies At 72

PUBLISHER AND PRESS MODEL —Publisher Roy A. Brown of the Independent-Journal, who died of pneumonia today, is shown with a model of the I-J's new 84-page Hoe press as it was being installed last fall as part of an expansion program at the newspaper which was still under way under his direction when fatal illness struck. Brown had been publisher of the I-J and its predecessor, the San Rafael Independent, since 1937.

Brief Illness Turns Into Fatal Pneumonia

Roy A. Brown, publisher of the Independent-Journal for nearly 30 years, died of pneumonia early today. He was 72.

He had been hospitalized since Saturday when complications began to result from an apparent attack of influenza.

When he became publisher of the San Rafael Independent in 1937, it had less than 3,000 daily subscribers. He guided and directed its growth and development into a prize-winning publication of more than 40,000 circulation.

Until taken ill last Thursday evening, he had been on the job directing the Independent-Journal's current plant expansion, a major phase of which was completed with a building addition and installation of a new 84-page press last September.

SANGER PUBLISHER

Brown came to Marin from Sanger (Fresno County), where he and his wife, Hazel Wishard Brown, published the Sanger Herald for more than 15 years.

Mrs. Brown survives, as do their two children, Wishard A. Brown of Greenbrae, assistant publisher and business manager of the I-J, and Barbara Brown Leibert, wife of Edmund T. Leibert of Sleepy Hollow, also associated with the I-J.

A nationally recognized leader among newspaper publishers, Brown served as president of the National Editorial Assn. in 1941. He was president of the California Newspaper Publishers Assn. in 1938. In recent years he had served on the board of directors of the Inter-American Press Assn. and the Audit Bureau of Circulation. He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, and an honorary member of Alpha Phi Gamma.

NATIVE OF IOWA

Prior to his acquisition of the Sanger Herald, he had been engaged in the automobile business in Sanger and in his native Bloomfield, Iowa.

He served in the Navy aviation service during World War I and was a member of Wilkins

Novato Agrees To Pay Share For Airport

The Novato City Council last night by 4-to-0 vote, with Mayor Robert D. Carrow abstaining, approved an airport agreement with the county in which the city would give Marin County $50,000 in annual installments over the next five years toward the Marin County Airport.

Then by 3-to-1 vote, with J. Wayne Womack against and Carrow still abstaining, the council asked the board of supervisors to leave Novato off the name of the airport and call it the Marin County Airport.

The agreement must now go to the county airport commission, then to the board of supervisors for final approval, Supervisor William A. Gnoss said.

The city will pay $6,000 next Jan. 1, with the amount increasing to $14,000 in 1971.

"You will get your funds back more than double from the benefit which the airport will bring," Gnoss said.

William Jack Adams said that he was irritated with the central area of the county with its attitude that "Novato is not in Marin County."

"All the cities in the county will benefit from the airport, with San Rafael benefiting the most, so they ought to contribute also," Adams said.

Mayor Carrow said he abstained because he has done legal work for the Wrights who own land surrounding the airport which may be purchased for its expansion.

Ukiah Senator In Congress Race

State Sen. Frank S. Petersen, 43, D-Ukiah, announced today he will seek the Democratic nomination for congressman from the First California District, the seat now held by Republican Don H. Clausen.

His entry means a three-way race for the Democratic nomination—Petersen, Marin County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, and "peace candidate" Phillip Drath of San Rafael.

Senator Petersen considers Viet Nam the most important issue today. As a non-military man, he acknowledged he does not have all the facts. However, on the basis of what he has read and heard, this is his conclusion:

"All reasonable steps must be taken to attempt to negotiate with North Viet Nam and with the Viet Cong, if necessary, to arrive at a peaceful conclusion. If we refuse to talk to those directly involved in the conflict, we'll never be able to terminate hostilities."

FRANK S. PETERSEN
In Congress race

As for bombing North Viet Nam, "As long as we have soldiers over there, if it is necessary to bomb military targets to protect our soldiers, then it must be done."

He opposes "acceleration" and considers mining of Haiphong Harbor as acceleration.

When and if hostilities cease, Senator Peterson says he favors free elections, without anyone exercising force over how the

Education Tax Saving Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected today the proposal of Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., to provide a tax saving of up to $325 a year on college education costs.

The roll-call vote was 47-37.

The proposal was offered as an amendment to President Johnson's tax bill designed to pick up $6 billion to help finance the Vietnamese war.

Under it, up to $325 of annual college expenses could be taken as credit and thus subtracted from taxes due.

Light Rain Starts And More On Way

Light rain began falling in Marin County today as a prelude of yet more to come. The forecast calls for occasional showers through tomorrow.

By noon today, .01 of an inch was recorded in San Rafael, while other areas reported light to medium rainfall. In Novato, light rain began to wet the streets about 9 a.m.

Reds Besiege Viet Camp In Mountains

SAIGON (UPI) —Communist troops swept down from the jungle-covered mountains today and laid siege to a U.S. Special Forces camp of 13 Americans and several hundred Vietnamese tribesmen. The heavily outnumbered defenders were reported still holding out tonight.

The Viet Cong force, estimated as high as two battalions—up to 1,200 men—shot down a C-47 armed rescue plane, apparently killing four American crewmen, and heavily damaged one of two C-123 transports dropping supplies. The besieged camp was reported running low on ammunition.

NEAR LAOS

Fighting raged throughout the day at the Ashua camp near the Laotian border 375 miles northeast of Saigon, died out at sunset and resumed during the night as U.S. planes dropped flares through the clouds that hampered U.S. air strikes.

Radio contact was lost for a while and it was feared the Viet Cong had overrun the camp. Communications were restored later and it was disclosed the Americans and Vietnamese tribesmen had suffered casualties.

AROUND CAMP

The attackers were apparently backed up by 50 caliber machineguns or Chinese Communist 12.7 millimeter anti-aircraft guns set up in the mountains surrounding the camp.

In Saigon, a spokesman for the U.S. Military Command meanwhile disclosed that 61 U.S. servicemen died in Viet Nam during the week ending March 5. He said 177 others were wounded and one was reported missing in action. The U.S. suffered a record 1,048 casualties in the previous week.

School Probe To Get 'Passive' Board Aid

A probe of San Rafael school problems by the Personnel Standards and Ethics Commission of the California Teachers Assn. will get "passive" cooperation from the San Rafael Board of Education, board members informally agreed last night.

They were not happy with the timetable. The commission will hold its hearings in San Rafael March 23, 24 and 25, Supt. Bert C. Corona announced.

The next board of education business meeting is scheduled for March 30, board vice president Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. pointed out. "But I'd have no objection to passive cooperation," he said.

Board president Carl J. Brown reported he had conferred with California Teachers Assn. officials three weeks ago to ask a six-month delay so San Rafael's relatively new board could have a chance to look into problems dating back 10 to 15 years.

"I felt when I left the meeting, I had wasted a Saturday morning . . . This was all cut and dried; they are going ahead with this study," Brown said.

To an audience member's warning that the board might be "sticking your head in the sand," member Herman L. Childress objected that "this is a family affair—we believe the family should settle its problems before bringing in a third party." Member Anita C. Strom

Hunter's Point Youth Jailed In Shooting At Marin City

A 19-year-old youth from Hunter's Point in San Francisco was charged today in the wanton shooting of a Marin City man on Feb. 22.

James Hawkins was charged with assault with a deadly weapon on Eugene Johnson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee A. Johnson, 270 Drake Avenue. Bail was not immediately set, Marin sheriff's officers said Hawkins was being held in San Francisco City Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail on a felony complaint for allegedly shooting at San Francisco police a week ago.

According to Sheriff's Inspectors Marco M. Melovich and A. V. Menjou, Hawkins was both the driver of a car which pulled alongside Johnson in Marin City and the person who fired three shots.

Two shots missed Johnson, visiting his parents from a Lake Tahoe camp. The third slug struck him in the right thigh. He fled about 500 feet before collapsing in a field. He recovered.

Johnson reported the attack on him was unprovoked.

Sheriff's officers said San Francisco police joined them in the investigation and statements of witnesses led to identity of Hawkins. They said the car, one of four from Hunter's Point cruising Marin City the night of the shooting, contained Hawkins and three other male teenagers.

It was not learned if Hawkins is a member of the Majestic Gents or the Sabrines, gangs of Hunter's Point.

Inspector Menjou said Hawkins allegedly opened fire a week ago on a cruising San Francisco police patrol car. No one was injured, but Hawkins was charged with assault with intent to murder the police occupants.

Hawkins probably will remain in San Francisco pending outcome of that charge, officers said.

CREEK PLANS DRAW FIRE OVER COSTS

John G. Buresh, San Anselmo attorney, told city councilmen last night that the maintenance agreement they, Fairfax and Ross city councilmen signed for the Corte Madera flood control project "may not be worth the paper it was written on now."

Buresh said it appears the Army Corps of Engineers is not going to settle for the plan projected when the cities agreed to pay a maximum of a five cent tax to help maintain the project to the Ross city limits.

"The cost may have doubled or tripled by now," he said.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said he, City Administrator David Sumbardo of Fairfax, and City Engineer Phillip B. Lygren of Ross will meet tomorrow to discuss changes in the project.

Yorty Announces He'll Run Against Governor In June

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty said today he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of California.

Yorty, 56, mayor of the state's largest city since 1961, has long been critical of the eight-year administration of Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who has announced he will seek a third term.

Yorty's statement accused Brown of putting what he called machine politics ahead of tax reforms and said:

"California Democrats are entitled to a choice in the primary and I have assured them of a choice by becoming a candidate."

Anti-NATO French Stand Is Repeated

PARIS (AP) — France said today reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is impossible and the government is going ahead with plans to pull out of the integrated command structure.

President Charles de Gaulle, in a terse statement issued through his Cabinet spokesman, expressed willingness to talk over mutual defense arrangements with the NATO allies. He added France will not formally renounce the NATO treaty when this becomes possible in 1969.

De Gaulle has always distinguished between the Atlantic Alliance, which he favors, and the integrated military command, which he detests.

The measures which France intends to take unilaterally, concern French troops in NATO commands, French officers in the headquarters, and the foreign bases on French soil.

Island Plane Crashes Kill Seven

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—A hunting party flying to a remote offshore island to shoot wild boar met disaster when two planes crashed on the island, killing seven persons, authorities report.

Ventura County officials identified the victims as Jack Leroy Wheeler, Dr. John Carroll Gilbert and Claude Gilbert Casey, all of Las Vegas, Nev.; two pilot, R. L. Wallace and Wally Bassett of nearby Santa Paula, and Ted Shatt and Gordon Ridge of Santa Barbara, hunting guides.

Bassett

Bassett, owner of Bassett Flying Service, which had chartered the three light planes, crashed at 8 a.m. on fog-shrouded Santa Cruz Island, about 25 miles off the Southern California coast.

The second pilot, Wallace, crashed on takeoff after dropping his two passengers on the island. Five of the victims were Bassett's passengers.

The third plane, piloted by Jack Grentzer of Camarillo, also landed on the island, let off passengers and took off, to land safely later at Santa Paula.

The privately owned island is used primarily for grazing cattle, but is periodically leased for hunting.

McCarthy Asks To Quit Adviser Post

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Senate Minority Leader John F. McCarthy has told the Senate Rules Committee that he wants to resign from the Public Works Board to allow Southern California to have Senate membership on the agency.

The San Rafael Republican nominated Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, to replace him yesterday.

The three-member board, appointed by statute, has four additional lawmakers acting as advisers. The legislators are appointed by their respective houses.

Another Northern California senator, Luther Gibson, a Vallejo Democrat, also sits on the board.

Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, said he opposed the nomination of Cologne, since, declared McAteer, the San Diego County Republican has been highly critical in the past of Gov. Brown's budget.

The committee decided to take McCarthy's proposed resignation under advisement.

The board, with certain exceptions, decides on state construction, selects state real estate and allots county fair money.

Cable Television Gets More Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Communicatons Commission yesterday issued formal regulations governing the nation's 1,600 community antenna television (CATV) systems.

The new rules, most of them effective April 18, back up the FCC's controversial order of Feb. 15 placing virtually all of the booming CATV industry under federal regulation.

The House Commerce Committee plans full hearings into the entire issue and what role the FCC should play.

CATV picks up television signals from the air and relays them by cable into homes, where viewers pay an average $5 a month for the privilege of getting a generally clearer signal and greater variety of programs.

One FCC regulation issued yesterday would affect burgeoning CATV operations in big population areas already served by one or more network stations.

It imposed a temporary freeze on CATV expansion into the 100 biggest television markets in the country, where the industry believes 90 per cent of its potential revenues is located.

To enter such an area, or to extend its signal if already operating there, a CATV system would have an FCC hearing. Subscribers as of Feb. 15 would not be affected.

In an elaboration of its earlier decision, the FCC ruled that a local television station must give a CATV system at least eight days' notice of a program it does not want duplicated the same day by a CATV-relayed signal from a distant area.

CATV systems are forbidden to show the same program the same day as one broadcast by a local station, unless it is a color program that the hometown station chooses to broadcast in black and white.

Another rule published yesterday requires a CATV system on request to carry all local station signals of "grade B or better" in its area or ask the FCC to waive the rule if technical limitations prevent compliance.

Other regulations cover instructions to CATV owners for filing ownership information with the FCC, including a list of subscribers, television stations carried, and "the extent of any existing or proposed program origination."

Rome Has Proposal For Parking Spaces

ROME (AP)—After months of investigation into Rome's chaotic traffic, the city's Urban Study Commission recommended today that an underground parking garage for 3,000 cars be dug beneath the huge white monument to the Unknown Soldier.

The big landmark on the Piazza Venezia is also known as the Altar of the Nation. Visiting statesmen place wreaths there. The proposal could touch off heated argument.

More Ranchers Sign Agriculture Preserve Pacts

Four additional agricultural preserve contracts were signed just prior to the Monday tax lien date, bringing total area in Marin under agricultural preserve to 6,683.10 acres.

The latest contracts were signed by Merle E. and Walter S. Lawson with 812.57 acres near Dillon Beach, Mary E. Anthony, Joseph and Carlos Silveira and Dolores Cordero with 1,142 acres north of Novato, James S. Thatcher with 623.3 acres south of Novato, and David B. Burbank with 200 acres near the Sonoma County line in West Marin.

The property owners, by contracting to keep their property in ranch use for 10 years, can expect lower assessments. The assessor can disregard values figured from potential sale within the 10 years.

Bridge District Agrees To Hire Negro Painter

A hearing before the state Fair Employment Practices Commission ended abruptly yesterday when officials of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District agreed to hire a painter who said he had been discriminated against because he is a Negro.

James B. Haugabook of East Palo Alto said he will accept the job. In addition to paying him $980 monthly, the district must pay him the difference between this salary and what he has earned since he was turned down for the job last July.

Formal approval of his hiring will come before district directors Friday. General Mgr. James Adams said he was sure they will approve.

In consenting to a commission order, district officials did not admit they had been guilty of discrimination in turning down Haugabook, who was the only one of six men sent to the bridge in July by Local 4 of the Painters and Paper Hangers Union who was not hired. None of the others was a Negro, Haugabook told the commission.

Bridge officials said they would strengthen their policy of hiring employees without regard to race, creed or color. They also promised to review their recruitment practices and to set up programs to teach skills needed for working on the bridge.

Bridge officials insisted they had turned down Haugabook because he lacked experience in painting structural steel and in high-pressure sand blasting carried on by the bridge's 40-man crew of painters.

point some of the President's critics on the committee, most notably its chairman, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

Barnett told Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., another administration critic, that he did not think the fact U.S. land forces were increased in South Viet Nam would bring China into the conflict. But he said there could come a point where the Chinese would have to get in whether they wanted to or not.

"I believe the bombing of Hanoi or Haiphong might be this point," Barnett said.

Police Broadcast Runaway Alert

An allpoints bulletin was put out by San Rafael police last night for two teen-age girls, believed to have run away together from their homes.

Nancy Bauer, 16, of 79 Knight Drive was last seen carrying a brief case and guitar when she left for San Rafael High School yesterday, said her father, George W. Bauer.

According to police, Nancy left a note telling her parents she had run away and not to worry.

Police believe she was accompanied by a friend, Nedra Ruiz, 15, of 9 Lynn Court, who failed to return home from school yesterday. Nedra appeared to have taken a change of clothing, said police.

Sausalito Sues Marin To Stop Marincello

A suit by the City of Sausalito to have county rezoning for Marincello nullified and block further ordinances or resolutions permitting the development was filed late yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

The city and four other plaintiffs, John P. and Constance L. Erickson and Herbert and Frances M. Perkins, all living adjacent to the controversial 2,100-acre trace among the Marin headlands, allege the county illegally rezoned the land from residential and agricultural to planned community.

They also charge there was insufficient legal notice of a public hearing before the board of supervisors held Jan. 19. Plaintiffs declare that had they been given the required 10 days notice, they would have attended the hearing and had opportunity to argue against the project.

In addition, substantial changes were made in the plan when it was considered by the board of supervisors instead of first being properly studied by the county planning commission, the suit alleges.

It claims Marincello would cause an intolerable and unsafe traffic situation on Highway 101, and burden Sausalito's schools and public services.

The court is asked to declare the rezoning illegal and to issue temporary, preliminary and permanent injunctions to prevent adoption by the county of any more resolutions or ordinances making the rezoning possible.

Defendants are the county; its board of supervisors; the planning commission; Paul Zucker, county planning director, and Donald R. Frost, county director of public works.

Marincello developers have called the proposed suit, unanimously endorsed by the Sausalito City Council, "another move in the continual harassment of Marincello."

The planned community with eventual population of some 22,000 is proposed by Frouge Corp. on Gulf Oil Co. land. It has been subject of attacks by conservationists since it was first proposed two years ago.

The suit was filed by Richard Breiner of the law firm of Truett, Durham and Conn, San Rafael.

Garbage Contract Parleys Planned

Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District directors agreed last night to resume negotiations with Mill Valley Refuse Co. in the hope of arriving at a garbage contract soon, chairman Gale E. Bishel said today.

Negotiations ceased after the board turned down three bids March 1, the lowest from the Mill Valley company, saying they were too high and would result in a substantial increase in rates for residents. There is no contract now but service is supplied by the Mill Valley company. Discussions on a contract started last June.

Directors approved annexation to the district of the proposed Tennessee Highlands, a Goheen Enterprises subdivision above Tamalpais Valley School.

Rain, Gale Winds Are Predicted

Crescent City was soaked last night with 2.48 inches of rainfall. Eureka reported .65 of an inch.

Forecasters said moderate temperatures will continue.

Mt. Tamalpais Railroad, Bar Are Opposed

Homestead Valley Improvement Club directors last night unanimously passed a resolution opposing a railroad, restaurant and bar on Mount Tamalpais.

The board agreed there should be no commercial enterprise on the mountain at least until a master plan is developed, reported president Bernard M. Weinstein.

Directors expressed concern over a Greyhound bus stop located in front of Brown's Hall, saying a more suitable location should be found since the stop needs loading facilities which are open at all times.

A long discussion was held on available facilities for youth activities in the Homestead area, and the board agreed to look into the possibility of making Brown's Hall available for such functions.

elections are held. "The U.S. should set an example; we should not dictate to other people the persons for whom they should or should not vote."

Petersen said he would have more to say later on other topics, including conservation and the proposed Redwood National Park.

Asked about the Marincello development in South Marin, Petersen replied: "This is a local issue within the jurisdiction of the board of supervisors. I don't think I have a right to even state my position on it. Besides I am not sufficiently informed on the details."

His experience of 12 years in public service, including four years in the Senate, makes him better qualified to serve in Congress than the other candidates, said Petersen.

He received his law degree from University of San Francisco in 1951 and practiced in Ukiah. In 1954, he was appointed assistant district attorney of Mendocino County, and in 1960 became district attorney.

Elected to the State Senate in 1963, he serves on six senate committees. He is vice chairman of the State Judiciary Committee.

During World War II, Peterson served two years overseas with the Navy.

He lives with his wife, Bonnie, and their six children in Ukiah.

LONDON (AP) — Britain has requested air base facilities from the island republic of Malagasy to help it keep an air watch for any tankers that might try to run oil to the breakaway government of Rhodesia.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the Malagasy government had not yet decided whether to grant the facilities. They would enable Royal Air Force scout planes to shadow any tankers using the Indian Ocean approaches to Portuguese Mozambique, 250 miles from Malagasy.

Demonstrations Are Spreading In Celebes

SINGAPORE (AP) — Anti-Communist student demonstrations raged today in Jakarta and spread to other areas of the Indonesian archipelago, highly reliable sources reported in Singapore.

The sources, who are in constant touch with developments in Indonesia, said more than 10,000 students ignored tanks and barbed wire barricades in the Indonesian capital to attack and occupy the Education Ministry Building.

They said a university student was shot dead during an anti-government, anti - Communist demonstration outside the Chinese Communist consulate in Makasar, capital of the Celebes.

Anti-Communist, pro - army students from the outlawed Kami student group have been protesting since Feb. 21 against President Sukarno's ouster of the anti-Communist defense minister, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution.

Moonshiners Lose Still

TRENTON, Ga. (AP) — A group of Dade County moonshiners successfully camouflaged their still against air observation, but failed to hide it from the U.S. Treasury Department's ground troops.

Agents destroyed a still complex of four 2,000-gallon and two 1,500-gallon cookers.

All metal surfaces were painted green in the complex near Trenton on Sand Mountain. The work trail used by the moonshiners had several trees set out to give it coverage. Pines as tall as 25 feet were stuck into the ground in the still area.

The distillery could produce 440 gallons of whisky a day, agents said.

The discussion sprang from correspondence included in the agenda, a letter from the San Rafael Teachers' Assn. saying that its executive council had requested the CTA study because "outside help is needed" to solve "friction that has existed among the faculty, administration, board, and the community" for at least 10 years.

Superintendent Corona said location of the CTA hearings and how to present information to the commission will be publicized after arrangements are completed.

Ivan L. Slavich of 505 Fourth Street, San Rafael, called the California Highway Patrol at 1:30 p.m. yesterday to report he had just had such a conversation with Wayne T. Andersen in a service station rest room.

Planners Won't Give Authority

Larkspur planning commissioners last night declined to delegate authority to the city building inspector to give architectural approval or to call a special meeting of the commission when a quick decision is needed.

Commissioners said no such emergency situation could arise involving architectural supervision.

Commissioners granted architectural approval for a single-family dwelling to be constructed by Harold O'Brien at 909 Magnolia Avenue. They adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday for a session on the proposed planned district zone.

Little Theater Looking For A New Home

Sausalito Little Theater, located at 745 and one-half Bridgeway for the past eight years, is looking for a new home.

Walter Silva, owner of the building as well as of the Plaza next door, said today he asked the theater to move since he is remodeling the building to contain four shops plus a mall.

The theater gave its last production in the location, "The Show Off," two weeks ago.

Harold Rogers, past president of the theater, said a new site is being sought. The theater's flats and furniture have been stored in the Old Star of the Sea Church.

The tiny theater, which seated 70, was formerly a pool room.

The Sausalito Little Theater, which formerly gave productions in Central School and the Sausalito Woman's Club, is 16 years old, Rogers said.

Wheels Are Stolen From Two Autos

Theft of wheels from two Mill Valley automobiles was reported yesterday to police.

Ingeborg van Erp of 17 Ethel Avenue reported her 1966 Volkswagen was broken into Saturday night or Sunday morning and the spare tire stolen. Lillian Swarthout reported theft of a right front tire from her 1958 Ford, parked in front of her home at 170 Miller Avenue yesterday afternoon.

Novato Annex Practically Surrounds Loma Verde

The Novato City Council last night authorized annexation of nine acres of unhabited land which will make Loma Verde almost completely surrounded by the City of Novato.

The annexation lies between Alameda del Prado and Highway 101 and from the old entrance to Loma Verde to Ignacio Boulevard Annexation No. 1. This will leave only a few feet of the old entrance to Loma Verde as a corridor out of the city into county lands.

The annexation has been submitted to the Local Agency Formation Commission, reported Robert Lagle, planning director. The land is owned by Hector Rubini and others, he said.

Pupils To Hear Of Constitution

Vallecito School will hold its third annual "freedom assembly" at 1 p.m. tomorrow, with members of the Marin Sertoma Club explaining the nation's constitution and pupils giving their views on freedom.

Previous assemblies have been held between Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays. This, however, was postponed due to the influenza epidemic which was in progress at that time.

The school, in Dixie School District, is at 50 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael.

Thant Appeals Again For End To Bombing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Secretary General Thant appealed today for an end of U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam and a seat for the Communist Viet Cong in any peace talks. Thant issued a statement on the Viet Nam war through a spokesman.

The spokesman would not comment on whether Thant was continuing his personal efforts to bring about peace talks. He said the secretary general planned to hold a news conference during the last week of March.

Drivers' Alcohol Test Bill Gains

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A hotly debated bill providing California police with a more effective weapon against drunk drivers has passed its first test easily, but still faces an uncertain future.

Debate on the measure yesterday included a written statement by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch that "possession of a driver's license . . . is a privilege, not a right."

He, Gov. Edmund G. Brown, traffic safety groups and law officers are strong backers of the measure by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka.

It provides that any driver is considered to have given his "implied consent" by taking a chemical sobriety test if lawfully stopped for suspected drunk driving. Refusal to take the test of his breath, urine or blood would mean six months' suspension of his license, with a chance for appeal.

The measure, after long and technical debate, cleared the Senate Judiciary Committee on a voice vote, with only Sen. Joseph Rattigan, D - Santa Rosa, casting an audible "no."

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

But the bill now goes to the upper house Finance Committee which barely approved it last year and shows strong signs of reluctance this time around. The Senate killed the identical bill in 1965 in a surprise maneuver without a roll call.

Lynch said, "California has a war of its own—the war against drunk driving. Our efforts must be directed toward the removal of this menace on our streets and highways. Chemical testing . . . will clear and protect the innocent."

Debate focused on the bill's original provision that a person refusing the test would have his license lifted immediately, even before the Motor Vehicles Department appeal hearing he could request.

TIMING CHANGED

That was changed to provide that once a person was notified of his license suspension, he would have 10 days to file an appeal, and still could drive in that period. If he appealed, the hearing would have to come within 15 days of his declaration, and he could continue driving until final decision was reached by the board.

School Bonds Correction Bill Fails To Pass

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has turned down a bill aimed at easing passage of local school bonds, but the author plans to give it another try.

The vote yesterday was 25-9 in favor of the constitutional amendment by Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R - Watsonville, to reduce from two-thirds to 60 per cent the voter majority needed to approve bonds.

That was two votes short of the two-thirds majority needed in the 40 - man upper house to pass the measure. Grunsky received permission to bring the legislation up for another vote later.

The legislature last year passed, and Gov. Brown signed, legislation to accomplish the same purpose. But a drafting error forced lawmakers to look at the issue again.

As erroneously drafted, the measure would require 60 per cent of all voters casting ballots in a primary or general election to approve the bonds, instead of 60 per cent of those voting only on the bond issue.

If the Grunsky amendment passes, voters in November will have to choose between both the erroneous and corrected versions, since both will be on the ballot.

Meanwhile, the Assembly Constitutional Amendments Committee approved an identical measure carried by Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus, D - Reedley.

The committee's split voice vote sent the constitutional amendment to the floor, where earlier in the day the Assembly voted 60 - 11 for a companion technical bill by Garrigus that would put the amendment into effect if it wins voter approval.

Subdividers Seek To Quit

Miwok Corp., owner of 85 acres at Muir Beach, has asked that its land be detached from the Muir Beach Community Services District.

Request for approval of the proposal was filed with the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission yesterday.

The detachment, if approved, would split the district's territory in half, commission executive officer John F. Barrows said. Included in the proposal is the detachment of the county's 8.2 acre Muir Beach Overlook.

The corporation, developing the 60-lot Seacape subdivision on 55 acres, claims the district is unable to provide water for the tract. The corporation formed the Seacape Mutual Water Co.

Indians made curious use of settlers' goods before learning their purpose. The first coins that reached the Yurok were given by them to their children as playthings. The Hupa used flour for face paint. The Tsimshian sewed thimbles on their ceremonial garments as decorations.

READY TO HIT THE TRAIL

Gov. Edmund G. Brown (right) adjusts his western-style hat in Sacramento yesterday, getting ready to take part in rites dedicating a "wilderness trail" to be used by horsemen and hikers north of the capital. At left is Paige Harper, adviser to the Sacramento Hiking and Riding Assn. (UPI Telephoto)

Senate Gets Anti-Riot Bill After Assembly Approval

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate received Gov. Brown's anti-riot legislation today, mandating stricter arson and firebomb laws and giving firemen greater protection.

The legislation, sparked by last year's Watts riot, received strong bi-partisan support in the Assembly yesterday, as the lower house approved a three-bill package.

One bill would make manufacture or possession of a fire bomb a felony and would carry a minimum sentence of five years to life for persons who set fires during a riot or emergency proclaimed by the governor.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Pearce Young, D-Napa, also increases from 1-10 to 2-20 years in prison the minimum penalty for arson involving commercial structures. And it makes attempted arson a felony punishable by up to five years in prison, rather than having a two-year maximum prison term.

The second bill incorporates the first anti - Molotov cocktail measure, and Young said he would push for its passage if the first bill fails to clear the Senate.

The third measure provides stiff jail terms and fines for anyone interfering with firemen while they're fighting fires.

Planners To Eye Change In Rules

Two possible changes in procedures were hinted at, but not discussed in any detail, at last night's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission.

One, proposed by Acting City Planner Charles J. Litchicum, would prevent developers from getting excavation permits unless they really mean to build.

The other, urged by Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding, would combine the commission's approval of use permits and architectural plans, now handled by separate votes.

Linthicum said he would put both suggestions on the agenda of a future meeting.

Alley Is Named Kientz Lane

San Anselmo city councilmen last night voted to name the alley running behind San Anselmo Avenue stores between Magnolia and Tamalpais avenues as Kientz Lane.

The name was requested in a letter from three businessmen—W. H. Whalen, Mozart Kaufman and, appropriately, August L. Kientz.

"Tell Kientz we'll do it if he pays for and puts up the street sign," joshed Councilman William Franchini.

Schools Book Controversy Still Echoing Before San Rafael Board

Echos of beatnik novelist Jack Kerouac's opus "On the Road" were heard again at last night's meeting of the San Rafael Board of Education.

Supt. Bert C. Corona reported on proposed revisions to the form district citizens may use to complain about books and other instructional materials. He was handed a set of further ideas to work on. Letters from the Marin County Federation of Teachers, condemning handling of the controversy, and from Santa Venetia teacher Hilda M. Steffen, upholding students' rejection of the reading matter, drew no action from the board.

Corona's three-page report suggested that complaints be registered either on a form provided by the school office, or in an informal letter; that the principal and the teacher using the material get together, the principal to seek a solution with the complainant, and failing that, to refer the issue to the assistant superintendent. If further negotiation fails, the assistant superintendent would set up a committee of teachers, including at least two department chairmen, to study the objections.

The book or material under fire would not be removed from use during the probe, Corona recommended. However, board members last night favored setting a deadline for the committee action, to which Corona agreed.

He also said he would seek further suggestions from principals and others, and report further at the board's March 30 session.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

1. Despite complaints from teachers that the late closing date would interfere with professional institutes, adopted a 178-day calendar for next school year, beginning Sept. 6 and ending June 16, 1967.

2. Unanimously adopted a resolution instructing the county counsel to begin condemnation proceedings against a 25-acre parcel of land in Peacock Gap, for a school site northwest of the golf course, where an old red brick barn now stands.

3. Received assurances from Dominican College spokesman Richard Bettini of cooperation with the San Rafael district in obtaining a site for classrooms to serve an expected 700 homes in the Frank Sinatra properties on high ridges east of the Civic Center, and other developments west of Highway 101. Board members and Corona agreed that Coleman School expansion probably would be the best way to serve the area.

4. Learned that 13 candidates are still in the running to replace Alfred N. Thomson as principal of San Rafael High School. Only two finalists have been interviewed so far, according to Asst. Supt. Mitchell L. Voydat.

5. Appointed Sleezer and Eckhoff accountants of San Rafael for a maximum of $1,400 to audit the high school district and $1,250 for elementary district books.

6. Approved four National Defense Education Administration projects for which the government and the districts will split total costs of $99,440.43.

7. Rescheduled the annual closed personnel evaluation session of the board from March 17 to March 22, and the business meeting originally set for March 22 to March 30, in the San Rafael High School library.

8. After receiving an opinion from the county counsel's office that the board is empowered to reorganize itself, formally elected Carl J. Brown as president and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. as vice president. (Somebody had raised a question as to whether the board could reorganize itself under the city charter, although Article 6, Section 4 of the charter plainly states, "The board . . . shall organize by electing one of their number president.")

9. Hired Mrs. Frances Steadman as a teacher in the elementary district intermediate grades, and appointed Martin Parlan as elementary summer school principal.

10. Accepted retirements and voiced thanks to Mrs. Ruth Reist, MacPhail School fifth grade teacher for eight years' service, and to Ludwig Schmodt, head janitor at Davidson School, after 15 years.

11. Granted leave to Coleman School teacher Marian Egan to serve as a librarian in Hawaii for a year; accepted resignations of Kristin Camphouse, Terra Linda High School social studies teacher; Jesslyn Hilt, Terra Linda mathematics teacher, and Patricia Snyder, Terra Linda English teacher.

12. Adjourned at 10:50 p.m.

Teacher Bound Over On Morals Complaint

Carl James Vachal, 37, of 347 Melrose Avenue, Homestead, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday following a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of indecent exposure with a prior conviction.

The teacher for a private reading school in San Francisco allegedly exposed himself to a 22-year-old Tamalpais Valley mother Feb. 25 at a Dolan's Corner Laundry. Vachal was charged after the woman obtained the license plate number of the car he was driving.

Base Calls For Bids

The base procurement office at Hamilton Air Force Base today called for bids on three jobs on the base: To repair the water storage reservoir, Building 710; to paint exteriors and trims of various buildings and the interior of Building 138, and to repair various hangar roofs.

School Library Plan On Larkspur Agenda

Larkspur school district trustees, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the District office, will be asked to approve expenditure of $12,363 in federal funds to keep school libraries open after school and on Saturday mornings, with teachers on hand.

Trustees will also hear a report on summer school plans from Douglas Lindauer, principal of summer school.

Campaign Aide Named

Robert Warnick has been appointed finance chairman of the "Rod Robinson for City Council" campaign committee, Paul Rosenthal, campaign chairman, said today. Also named was G. W. Robertson as campaign coordinator. Robinson is running for election to the Mill Valley City Council.

YMCA Delegates

BOARD CHANGES MARINCELLO PLAN

Tennessee Valley Multiple Zoning Deleted. April 5 Hearing Set On Bunker Hill Access

Marin County supervisors yesterday made one major change and several small ones in the Marincello master plan, before an unusually light audience.

The big change was to delete all multiple zoning in the Tennessee Valley portion of the plan. It will be relocated as garden apartments, mostly in the southeast corner of the development.

This change was asked by supervisors and later recommended by the county planning commission.

The board did not recommend relocation of a proposed landmark hotel at the top of Wolfback Ridge near Sausalito. It asked study of this plan, but the planning commission recommended no change other than blocking any access to Marincello and the hotel from Wolfback Ridge. Supervisors yesterday approved this ban, much to the pleasure of Warren Glass, a ridge resident.

Supervisors agreed that the business and professional and light industrial areas adjacent to the proposed headlands state park should not be relocated. The planning commission said the areas should remain but the designation should be changed from light industry to business and professional. The board approved this, understanding that the actual uses proposed will remain unchanged.

More controversial is the proposed access along the Bunker Hill Road route, recommended by the planning commission Monday. Supervisors set hearing on this for 1:30 p.m. April 5. They will also hold a hearing on deed restrictions proposed to assure integrity of the plan if Marincello should be incorporated.

Venereal Diseases Reported In County

Six cases of gonorrhea and five cases of syphilis were reported in Marin County last week, according to figures issued by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Other communicable diseases reported included 14 outbreaks of streptococus infection, four of measles, two of tuberculosis and one case of salmonella. One case of amebiasis was reported from San Quentin prison.

Supervisors Return To TV Cable Debate

An old debate over television cables was revived before supervisors yesterday with the request of Robert D. Lewis of Cable Television of Marin and Bob's TV.

He asked that the board send a letter to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to the effect that the county does not grant franchises for cable installation, but requires an encroachment permit.

Supervisors, however, got into considerable discussion over whether the cables should be put underground. Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Byron W. Leydecker thought they should be underground, but Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said he did not think such a requirement fair if other overhead utilities were allowed to remain in an area.

Lewis said he plans cable installations south and east of Novato, north of Sausalito, west of Fairfax, and east and north of San Rafael. He said the letter to the phone company would not commit the county to grant him any encroachment permit.

Supervisors finally agreed to write such a letter, leaving the underground question for further debate when all board members are present.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, on vacation, was absent all day, and supervisor Thomas T. Storer, recovering from pneumonia, was absent during the afternoon.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Appointed James Dougan to the board of the Bolinas Fire Protection District, taking the action almost a year later than required. Dougan was unopposed for the last scheduled election so no election was required. The district board, however, failed to request supervisors to appoint Dougan at that time.

2. Delayed action on the executive salary committee recommendation that Public Defender Jerome Durham's salary be set at $16,000. Durham was ill yesterday.

3. Accepted the joint statement of the North Marin Water District and Marin Municipal Water District on their willingness to provide sewer service in their respective areas of expansion. Supervisors urged the districts to proceed with planning for sewers.

4. Adopted a resolution urging that the federal budget include funds for development of Warm Springs Dam in Sonoma County next fiscal year. The project would provide water for both of Marin's major water districts.

5. Set discussion of proposed reorganization of the human rights commission, including reduction from 22 to seven members, for April 5.

6. Approved staff reorganization proposed by County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker. It establishes the position of special assistant to the director for office administration, and changes a senior planner position to chief of advanced planning and a principal planner position to chief of current planning.

7. Authorized transfer of the supplementary school text library from the library department to the county schools office effective July 1. Perry McDonald, director of the special library, plans to retire at that time.

8. Struck a requirement for 227 feet of highway dedication attached to architectural approval by the planning commission on market expansion proposed by J. E. Kenney on Merrydale Road. Kenney protested that it was an unfair requirement.

9. Approved setting the eastern boundary of commercial zoning around the county airport at Novato to coincide with the east side of the property line on the realigned runway. The agricultural area on the east side of the airport is still under study by the planning commission. The action was an amendment to an earlier proposal that set the industrial boundary 200 feet east of the runway.

10. Approved revision of an agreement with the City of San Rafael on rental of the San Rafael Recreation Center at Brooks and Second streets as a senior citizens' center. The county assistance will increase from $150 to $250 per month, the additional money to help provide parking space.

11. Hired Rayfield Edwards at $345 a month as general apprentice in the personnel department; Linette T. Jackson at $440 as deputy clerk in municipal court; Lee G. Booker at $486 as fire warden; Patricia A. Young at $590 as deputy probation officer; Thomas N. McKay at $960 as associate civil engineer in the department of public works; and Mary M. Irwin at $486 as social worker, Ethel F. Hoffman at $562 as social service practitioner and a Marin Hendrix at $345 as typist in the social services department.

12. Endorsed the plan of Richard N. Bale and others for a boys club in the Marin City Community Center.

13. Consolidated elections with the June 7 primary for the Terra Linda Community Services District, Almonte Sanitary District, and Ross Valley Sanitary District.

14. Learned that the average interest rate expected on the 20-year, $4.3-million bond issue to be voted on June 7 would be 3.625 per cent. The estimate was provided by the auditor-controller's office.

15. Received a letter from Robert De Young saying he has withdrawn the proposal for a private airport on the Burdell Ranch north of Novato.

16. Set special tax elections April 12 for the Ramona Avenue permanent road division, which will require annual tax revenue of $770 per year, and the Monte Christo permanent road division, which will require annual revenue of $2,900. Taxing period in both cases would be limited to six years.

17. Adjourned at 3:30 p.m.

Horse Linked To Lawsuit Over Crash

A $135,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court resulted today from an auto crash March 11, 1965, in which a horse loose on Highway 101 was partially blamed.

Richard L. and Elaine M. Keith of East Sonoma and Richard Harper, 25, of 2008 Hatch Road, Novato, allege that negligence by the driver of a car, Robert Kremer, 57, of 340 Keystone Court, Marinwood, and by Joseph A. Fagundes, owner of the ranch pasture from which the horse allegedly strayed, caused the collision.

The three plaintiffs suffered cuts and bruises when their vehicle, driven by Richard Keith, was in collision with the Kremer car near Lucas Valley Road.

Keith asks $25,000; Elaine Keith is seeking $100,000; and Harper asks $10,000.

Teen-age Defendants' Burglary Trial Set

Cases of Richard Lee Wagner, 19, and Sheila Jo Leppik, 19, both of Forest Knolls and charged with burglary, were consolidated by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court yesterday. Jury trial is June 13.

The two allegedly broke in Lagunitas Grocery Store on Dec. 19. About 10 cases of beer and several cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Quorum Lacking

The Marinwood Fire Commission, unable to get a quorum last night, will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the Community Center.

Oak Crest Is Granted City Fire Protection

San Anselmo City Council last night unanimously agreed to provide fire service to 23 acres in the Oak Crest area which have been annexed to the Sleepy Hollow Fire District, even though this may lessen chances of annexing the area to the city.

City Attorney John G. Buresh reported that the city's contract with the Sleepy Hollow Fire District, subject to renewal in three months, does not require the city to extend service to all areas annexed to the district.

City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt recommended that, since the city has a request to annex the area before the Local Agency Formation Commission, fire protection be held back until the area can be brought into San Anselmo.

Wesley Martin of 500 Oak Crest Road reported he had talked with more than half the home owners in the area within the last week "and I haven't found one who would like to come into San Anselmo."

"That may be so," said Councilman William Franchini, "but it also might be that if you were denied the fire service through the Sleepy Hollow district, you would be more anxious to annex to the city."

Martin retorted, "There is always a chance I can be sugared into an annexation, but I can never be dragooned in."

Chairman Robert O. Keller of the Sleepy Hollow Fire District Board argued the council "would be delaying for no valid reason. The area is already annexed to the district."

Councilmen voted to extend the service for a fee to be determined by Flautt and the fire district, based on last year's assessed valuation.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Adjourned to Tuesday at 8 p.m., when it will meet with the planning commission on its recommendation for a revised town center plan for downtown San Anselmo.
2. Continued to March 22 hearing on a request by Bay Counties Realty Corp. for rezoning at 48 and 52 Tamalpais Avenue from duplex to apartments. The property falls within the commercial area of the present town center plan.
3. Ordered the police chief and city engineer to work out a compromise on a parking ban on Sequoia Drive near Ancha Vista Avenue. Thomas L. Dempsey, a former San Anselmo councilman, and Ralph C. Hendricks complained the ban left no space for their guests to park.
4. Denied a request for a street light at Sequoia Drive and Park Avenue.
5. Sent Shell Oil Co. representatives to the planning commission when they requested their appeal for a use permit for service station on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Madrone and Bella Vista avenues be reopened. It was previously denied 3-2 by the council, after applicants refused to provide the city a 15-foot right of way for widening of Drake Boulevard. Representatives said last night they are now prepared to offer that right of way.
6. Granted the right to salvage a city-condemned house in the Indian Rock subdivision to Nipper and Marchant Realty for $555.

Councilman John M. Reichmuth was absent.

Protester Of Parking Ban Charges Police Harassment

Dr. Norman F. Carrigg of 53 Monterey Avenue, San Anselmo, who is seeking repeal of an ordinance which bans all-night parking on San Anselmo streets, last night accused Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani and his force of waging a "vendetta" against him.

The doctor reported that, after he complained of the ordinance to the city council Feb. 21, his car was ticketed four nights in a row.

The tickets then stopped, he said, but started again Saturday and continued through Monday, after he filed a letter protesting the previous tickets with the city administrator Friday.

Dr. Carrigg termed the tickets a form of "instant revenge" and said: "This type of police vendetta is silly. It also happens to constitute harrassment."

Councilmen listened sympathetically to the tale of the $2 tickets, then chided Police Chief Buchignani for not having the doctor's car tagged every night.

"I don't know why he didn't get a ticket every night," said Councilman William Franchini. Other councilmen repeated this sentiment.

Chief Buchagnini reported that the nights the doctor got no tickets, the department's two-man night patrol was delegated to other areas in the city.

No Time Limit On War Crime Prosecution?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A U.N. study reported today that under the latest interpretations of international law there can be no time limit on the prosecution of war crimes, or crimes against peace and humanity.

The study was prepared under the direction of Secretary-General U Thant and will be considered by the U.N. Commission on Human Rights, now in session at U.N. headquarters.

The issue has been a hot one for West Germany, where the Cabinet last year approved extending the statute of limitations for prosecution of war criminals for 10 years more. The 20-year limitation was due to expire on May 8, 1965.

Northgate East Plans Unveiled

Plans for the proposed Northgate East shopping center were unveiled before the San Rafael Planning Commission list night.

And, as they have done since excavation for the project began last fall, commissioners fretted about what the project is going to do to the hillside just across Highway 101 from Terra Linda.

SHOWS PLANS

Architect Eugene Wedell of Sausalito showed commissioners his plans as they held their first hearing on a use permit for the center. Vote on approval of these plans will not come until they are formally submitted later.

Wedell said he envisions a crescent-shaped complex, with parking areas dug into the hillside underneath the four main buildings, which he has proposed be of heavy timber construction.

The buildings would house an outlet for a large chain furniture stores, a restaurant, shops and a Fox West Coast motion picture theater. Also, Wedell said, Tidewater Oil Co. plans to build a service station there and has agreed to make its design fit with the center's architecture.

UNIFORM COLOR

Signs of all shops, he said, would be of a uniform color, while one 40-foot timber "tower" would display the main center sign and a three-faced marquee for the theater.

The plan, said Wedell, calls for 371 parking spaces, which would be 18 less than called for by city building code requirements.

He insisted this would make no difference, since peak parking for theater-goers would be in the evening, after shoppers had gone home.

Commissioner V. Judson Klein, acting as chairman in the absence of Fred C. Robbins Jr., insisted Wedell should present details of whatever research he had done to prove this point, however.

Commissioner Jorgen V. Lunding said he was fearful the excavation would leave a scar on the hillside.

Wedell said the developers, Eugene P. Aureguy of Mill Valley and Harold G. MacKenzie of Novato, planned to landscape it thoroughly and submit landscape covenants to the city at the appropriate time.

MacKenzie, in the audience, said "we at the moment have one son-of-a-gun of an unsightly cut now," but insisted this would be corrected.

"This is not going to be a Mickey Mouse project," he insisted.

A minor furor developed over the shopping center site in November when officials discovered Novato excavating contractor Paul Phillips was removing dirt without a permit. The city finally allowed the permit for removal of 30,000 cubic yards of dirt, which were sold to Marin County for use at the site of the Veterans Memorial Building at Civic Center.

Last night, MacKenzie conceded another 230,000 cubic yards must be removed before the center can be built.

Gnoss Backs Park Bonds June Date

Marin County Supervisor William A. Gnoss, an old hand at county politics, yesterday had some frank observations to back up the board's earlier decision for a $4.3 million park bond issue June 7.

"June is the start of vacations," he said. "People are heading for the open spaces then.

"If you had the bonds in November, that's when people are getting their tax bills and are ready to vote 'no' on everything.

"Another thing, eight years ago, I had a man run against me on the platform of no more special elections. We'd had two or three that year. Well, I'm not going to be caught on that one again."

Gnoss's comments came in answer to Supervisor Thomas T. Storer's argument that the bonds should be scheduled on a special election, rather than combined with the primary or general election.

Lawsuit Report Due

The San Anselmo School District board, meeting at 8:30 p.m. today in the district office, will hear a report from Richard V. Godino of the county counsel's office on the court case between Cypress Abbey cemetery and Sunny Hills orphanage. The cemetery is suing the orphanage for a right of way it claims runs through the area of the orphanage and Red Hill School.

Government Wants Safe Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is seeking to require nine new safety features on the cars, trucks and buses it buys.

The General Services Administration, announcing this yesterday, also called for revisions in 11 of 17 safety standards adopted last year. The proposals would become effective with 1968 models.

In the past, government requirements have been incorporated by the automobile industry into vehicles sold to the general public.

New standards would include padded seat backs on school buses and other vehicles, recessed or relocated window and door controls, front seat headrests for protection against whiplash injuries and defoggers for rear windows.

San Rafael Planners Set Industry Guideline

The San Rafael Planning Commission last night adopted a set of standards for developments in commercial and light industrial areas, but made a point of stressing they would not be binding.

Commissioners have been consulting with local developers for several weeks on the details.

The standards are intended to set guidelines for setbacks, landscaping, signs and lot coverage.

They call for a front setback equal to 10 per cent of the lot area, provided it is from 10 to 25 feet. Landscaping of an area equal to 60 or 70 per cent of the setback area—with the same amount on both sides of corner lots—is called for.

Street side setbacks are set at 10 feet, and those on lot lines next to other parcels are given a minimum of 20 feet.

No more than 70 per cent of the lot is to be covered, the new policy states, and several restrictions for signs, including a prohibition of projecting, flashing and roof signs, are included.

To emphasize that these were for guidance only, commissioners included a paragraph recommended by Acting City Planner Charles J. Linthicum stating the standards "should not be interpreted as an ordinance requiring strict adherence to every minor requirement or as requiring specific variances prior to approval by the planning commission."

Italian Premier Due Test Of New Cabinet

ROME (AP) — Premier Aldo Moro put his new center-left government to its second test today in the Chamber of Deputies and was certain to win confidence there as he did in the Senate.

The chamber scheduled a lengthy debate on the new Cabinet's program. The vote on the government that Moro formed Feb. 24 is expected next week. The Senate gave the Cabinet a 173-123 confidence vote Tuesday night, 24 over the required majority.

Shanghai, with 6,900,000 people, remains the most populous city in Communist China despite its decline as a world trade center. Shanghai's colorful waterfront was once jammed with merchantmen from all over the world; now it is strangely quiet.

Fresh Dispute Flares Over Office Area Road Dedication

A dispute over right of way dedication yesterday forced reopening of debate on business and professional zoning along the north side of San Pablo Avenue south of the Marin County Civic Center.

Supervisors approved the zoning several weeks ago with condition that each of the six property owners involved dedicate frontage 10 feet deep for widening of the road.

It appeared yesterday that three owners, apparently led by Jacob Inauen, are willing to make the dedication, while three others, with Emil Lauchenauer as spokesman, are violently opposed.

Inauen in a letter to the supervisors said that Lauchenauer not only refused to cooperate in the dedication, but was not keeping his property in good condition. Lauchenauer took strong exception to this, and the two got into a hot exchange before the board yesterday.

Supervisors referred the whole matter back to the planning commission.

Lighting Approved

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District last night approved the street lighting plan for the 100-unit Casa Marinwood townhouse development, district secretary Genevieve Bolding reported today.

Dallas may build a partially domed stadium.

President Urges Anti-Crime Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called today for a redoubled national effort against crime.

While proposing no major legislation, Johnson urged swift passage of a number of bills that have been before Congress for some time.

He urged appointment of a blue-ribbon commission to recommend drastic revision of all federal criminal laws by 1968.

And he called for more federal money to help state and local law enforcement agencies bring their methods up to date.

Johnson outlined a three-stage strategy against crime:

A schedule of immediate action through passage of pending legislation.

A program of experiment and assessment of the crime problem of the future.

Attacking the problem at its roots with campaigns against poverty, big-city blight, racial discrimination and illiteracy.

Johnson asked Congress to increase from $7.2 million to $13.7 million appropriations under the Law Enforcement Assistance Act which provides federal aid channeled through the Justice Department for modernizing police work and training law enforcement officers.

The President recommended passage of a Senate bill to regulate and control interstate traffic in guns.

Knocknaboul May Join Services Unit

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District last night agreed to try once more for annexation of the Knocknaboul area to the district.

Protests from homeowners killed the proposal almost two years ago.

District secretary Cleo D. Murray said there has since been new interest in annexation from some of the owners. There are 37 homes in the area, which lies on the north side of the district.

The proposal, approved once by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, will have to go before that commission again, according to John F. Barrows, commission executive officer.

District directors accepted the resignation of director Sesto Lucchi, who has moved from the district. His term would have expired June 7, Mrs. Murray said.

Persons interested in serving on the board may call or write Mrs. Murray at the district office.

Burglary Charge Plea Coming

Ronald Frank DuFay, 32, Santa Rosa, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on two counts of burglary. Judge Peter Allen Smith then scheduled plea entry for this afternoon.

DuFay allegedly burglarized Bolinas houses of Donald Baker, and Lawrence E. Wilson.

Two other men, also charged with the breakins, are being sought. DuFay was released on $550 bail.

District, Engineers Splitting Over Bills

The Tiburon Sanitary District Board Monday night voted 3-2 to discontinue work with its engineering firm, Kennedy Engineers of San Francisco, at least until $1,693 in recent bills to the district are explained.

The board agreed in Ooctober to pay the company $3,200 for plans and specifications for a sludge disposal filter, according to Secretary James Murray.

On receipt of the plans in November, the board rejected them as unsuitable. The plans would not have allowed for competitive bidding, Murray said.

He reported the engineers submitted a second set of plans without being asked to do so by the district. Since then, he said, bills totaling $1,690 have been sent to the district "for sludge filter."

"We haven't paid any of the bills yet," Murray said.

The motion to discontinue work with the engineers was made by board President Fred Mantegani. Directors Angelo P. Mirata and Francis Ryan voted "no."

Board Attorney Lawrence Jensen was instructed to investigate the possibility of acquiring by condemnation a lot owned by Northwestern Pacific Railroad adjacent to the district plant at 2001 Paradise Drive. Purchase has been held up pending litigation over other parcels which the railroad also wants to sell.

Ghana's Ruler Asks West's Aid

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Ghana's new military ruler, Lt. Gen. Joseph Ankrah, says his government wants firm relations with the United States and Britain and would welcome aid from the West and "even Russia."

Ankrah said his regime was not disturbed by the elevation of ousted President Kwame Nkrumah to the title of co-president of Guinea by President Sekou Toure of Guinea.

He said "the surrounding countries and neighboring countries with Guinea are confident that Guinea is just playing the fool."

Nkrumah, who was visiting Peking when he was overthrown, took refuge in Guinea last week.

GEORGE GESSNER
"Justice denied"

Ex-G.I. Held In Selling Of Secrets Freed

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — George John Gessner drew his first free breath after five years in government custody and said: "Justice delayed is justice denied."

The 29-year-old former soldier showed no elation at his sudden and unexpected release from the U.S. penitentiary where he has been since his conviction June 4, 1964, of giving nuclear weapons secrets to the Soviet Union. He was the first convicted under the Atomic Energy Act.

An appeals court last year nullified Gessner's conviction and life sentence because it found his confession — basis of the government's case — was made involuntarily.

EVIDENCE

U.S. Atty. Newell George stood before the same three judges yesterday and declared, "Without the confession we do not have sufficient evidence to go to trial." He filed a motion to dismiss charges against Gessner and a few hours later Gessner was free.

Asked why he had signed the confession, Gessner replied:

"Because of continued interrogation month after month and promise of total immunity."

"Of course, it was not true," he said.

"I hope to return to college—if any college will have me." If he does go to school, he said, "It is not my intention to restrict my political opinions."

NUCLEAR WEAPONS

Gessner, a private first class, was a nuclear weapons specialist at Ft. Bliss, Tex., when he deserted Dec. 6, 1960, and went to Mexico City. The confession, introduced at his trial, said he met with officers of the Soviet Embassy on several occasions and gave them all he knew about mechanisms of atomic cannon. He was arrested in Panama City, Panama, March 23, 1961, and has been in custody since then — one year of it for desertion.

The confession, Gessner said, was obtained through coercion and fraud.

Hospital Ship Going To War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy today announced it is taking a second hospital ship out of mothballs for the Viet Nam war.

The hospital ship Sanctuary has been moved from the James River, Virginia, reserve fleet to the Portsmouth naval shipyard where the vessel is undergoing inspection prior to work that will get her in shape for active service late this year.

The Sanctuary is sister ship of the Repose which was reactivated last October and now is stationed off South Viet Nam.

Like the Repose, the Sanctuary will have between 700 and 900 beds.

Education Board Gets New Salaries Proposal

San Rafael Board of Education members last night heard the first of at least three sets of teacher salary proposals they will consider before completing work on the fiscal 1967 budget.

Pay schedules proffered by Alan L. Hopkins, chairman of the San Rafael Teachers Assn. salary committee, asked an average increase of 11.7 per cent, or about $229,000 for the high school district, and 10.9 per cent or $224,000 for the elementary district faculties.

He made no mention of earlier proposals that merit pay be considered. When board member Anita Strom asked about the idea, Hopkins replied, "We felt this was not the time for that."

Board vice president Lawrence I. Kramer Jr., who sat in on the salary committee sessions, said "it was fairly obvious" that the merit pay idea "was climbing up a greased pole." He plumped for consideration of a two-year salary package, to eliminate time-consuming annual debates.

Hopkins urged a salary decision before Easter vacation, explaining that is the time when much hiring is done and many teachers decide to switch to better-paying districts.

San Rafael teachers rank sixth among seven average Marin County districts in starting salary, Hopkins said, at $6,160 per year. Beginning Tamalpais High School teachers get $560 more, and other nearby districts pay up to $600 more, he said.

Teachers with two years' experience can get $530 a year more in Tamalpais, and up to $700 more outside the county, he said. And at the top of the scale, the district's most experienced teachers make up to $1,230 more a year at Tamalpais, $800 in Mill Valley, $730 in Reed School District, and up to $1,200 outside the county.

The teacher group asks a starting salary of $6,500 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and 30 graduate units, ranging up to $12,800 for maximum experience and graduate education. In addition, Hopkins reported, health plan benefits costing a maximum of $44,000 a year are requested.

Still to be presented to the board are the salary requests of the Marin County Federation of Teachers, and recommendations by Supt. Bert C. Corona. Both are due at the board's next business session, March 30.

Non-teaching employees of two San Rafael districts, represented by the California School Employees Assn., are asking a 7 per cent raise plus one-step promotions for some classes, for an estimated $25,000 increase in the districts' budgets, according to Edna Austin, chairman of the salary committee. She presented comparisons with other districts' salaries to the board last night.

Responding to Hopkins's request that a second board member sit in on further salary committee sessions, Mrs. Anita C. Strom volunteered, and was appointed by board president Carl J. Brown.

State Gives Coin To Plan Schools

The State Allocations Board yesterday alloted $80,805 to the Novato Unified School District for planning of two elementary schools.

This is $45,856 for planning of the 18-classroom plus two-kindergarten San Marin Elementary School to be constructed on a site purchased in San Marin, according to Eugene de Brecht, assistant superintendent in charge of buildings.

It also allocated $34,949 for planning a 12-classroom elementary school in the Westridge area on the Novato High School site, according to De Brecht.

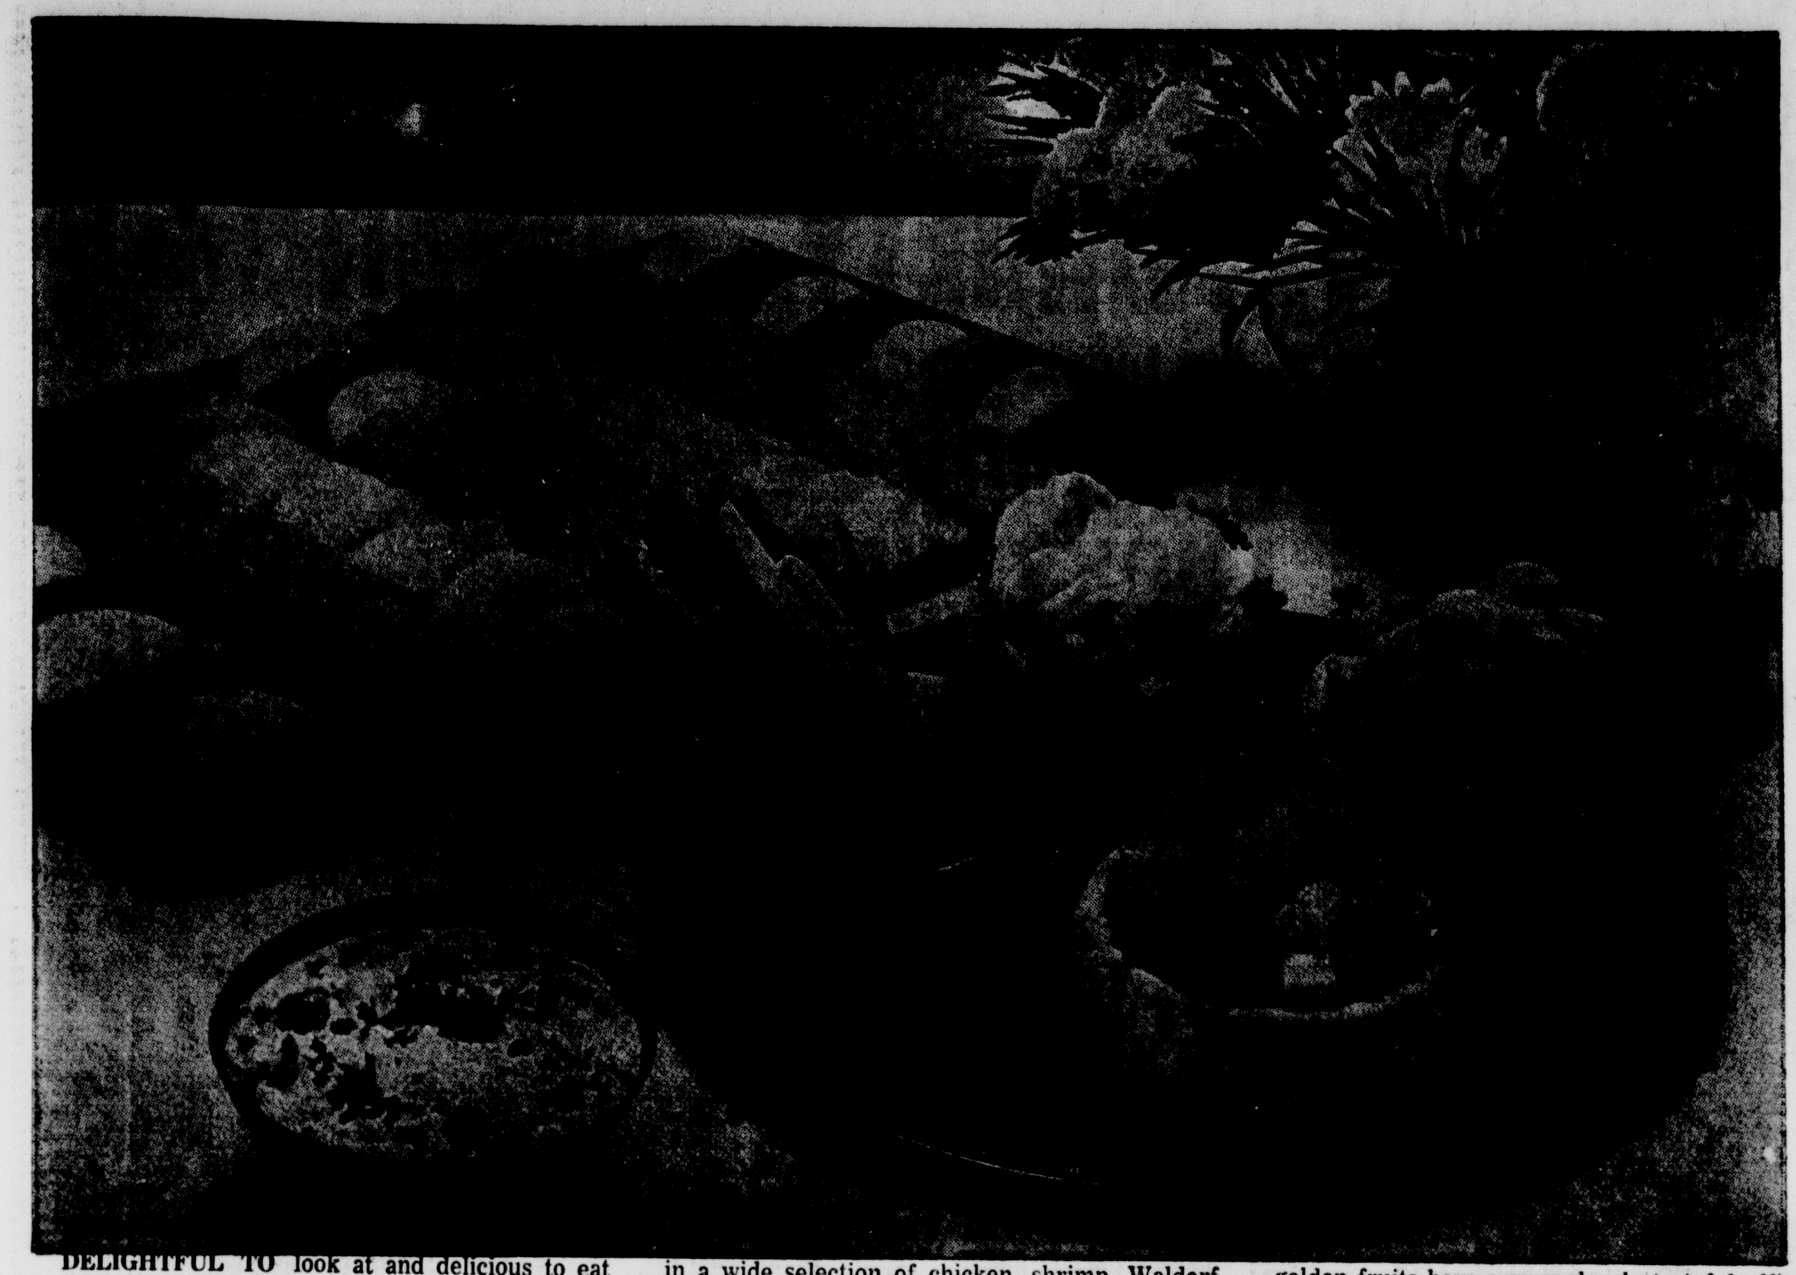
MACY'S SAN RAFAEL, FOURTH AND COURT, 456-3333: OPEN MONDAY AND FRIDAY 9:30 TO 9; OTHER DAYS 9:30 TO 5:30



DELIGHTFUL TO look at and delicious to eat are these salads in grapefruit bowls which come in a wide selection of chicken, shrimp, Waldorf or grapefruit. Apples, oranges and grapefruit are three of America's favorite fruits. The three golden fruits have a marvelously tasteful affinity for each other, coloring scores of healthful, appetizing dishes for your early spring menus.

Variations On A Golden Trio

Apples, oranges and grapefruit are three of America's favorite fruits. Though grown at opposite ends of the country, fine-quality Florida oranges and crisp Washington Golden Delicious apples parallel their ancestral lineage. Both trace their roots back to China and Persia, but today, some 5,000 years and 10,000 miles later, we enjoy the ultimate in these fruits developed by years of dedicated horticultural work. The growing of Washington Golden Delicious apples began in the U.S. a little over 100 years ago, that of grapefruit somewhat earlier, while oranges antedate the Pilgrims!

THESE THREE golden fruits have a marvelously tasteful affinity for each other, coloring scores of healthful, appetizing dishes for your winter and early spring menus. Happily low-calorie, fresh apple wedges, orange slices and grapefruit sections make a tempting Golden Fruit platter for dessert or a between-meal snack. And delightful salads combine chopped apple with chicken, grapefruit sections with shrimp, grapefruit and apple topped with a unique Waldorf dressing freshened with frozen Florida orange juice concentrate. One of the superior characteristics of the Washington Golden Delicious variety is that the flesh stays white after cutting longer than does that of other apple varieties.

THIS APPLE is equally good cooked, too, and combines deliciously with the tart-sweet flavor of rich orange juice in a versatile recipe for Orange Spiced Golden Apples to serve as an accompaniment to roast fowl, as a salad or dessert. Apple and orange pair once again in a gem of a dessert to be served warm or cold, Topaz Apple Pudding-Cake.

TOPAZ APPLE PUDDING-CAKE

- 2 cup peeled and finely chopped Washington Golden Delicious apples
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup melted butter
- 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
- 1½ cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ cup finely chopped prunes
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 Washington apple, peeled and sliced

Combine chopped apples with sugar in a large mixing bowl; let stand 10 minutes. Add egg; beat well. Stir in butter and orange rind. Sift together flour, soda, salt and cinnamon; add to apple mixture. Add prunes and nuts; stir until well blended. Turn into a greased 8-inch square cake pan. Arrange apple slices on top of cake for decoration. Bake in a 350° F oven, 55 minutes, or until cake shrinks away from sides of pan. Cut and serve warm or cold, plain or with whipped cream.

Yield: 6 servings.

ORANGE-SPICED GOLDEN APPLES

- 3 large Washington Golden Delicious apples
- ½ cup Florida orange juice
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon, nutmeg or curry powder

Peel, core and quarter apples. Combine orange juice and sugar in a medium saucepan. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until sugar is dissolved. Stir in desired spice. Add apples and simmer until tender. Remove from heat. Serve as an accompaniment to roast chicken or duck, as a salad or top with whipped cream and serve as dessert.

Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

ORANGE-CURRY CREAM DRESSING

- ¼ cup frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Blend undiluted orange concentrate, mayonnaise, curry powder and Tabasco. Fold in whipped cream. Chill until ready to serve.

Yield: 2½ cups.

WALDORF SALAD DRESSING

- 1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- ½ cup finely chopped Washington Golden Delicious apple
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped walnuts

Combine sour cream, mayonnaise and undiluted orange concentrate, apple and celery. Refrigerate to let flavors blend. Just before serving add nuts.

Yield: Approximately 1½ cups.

GOLDEN FRUIT PLATTER

- Florida oranges, sliced*
- Washington Golden Delicious apple wedges
- Florida grapefruit sections*
- Arrange fruit on platter.

*To peel and section Florida oranges and grapefruit, cut slice from top, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane, then cut slice from bottom. Or cut off peel round and round, spiral fashion. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section, over bowl to retain juice from fruit. Or slice peeled oranges crosswise ¼-inch thick.

SALADS IN GRAPEFRUIT BOWLS

To prepare grapefruit bowls, cut fruit in half and remove core. Cut around each section, loosening fruit from membrane. Remove grapefruit sections and reserve. Remove membrane. Line grapefruit halves with greens; spoon in salad. Top with desired dressing.

Chicken: Prepare 2 grapefruit according to directions. Combine grapefruit sections with 1½ cups chopped chicken, ½ cup diced Washington Golden Delicious apple, 6 each raw mushrooms and ripe olives, sliced. Full grapefruit halves.

Yield: 4 servings.

Shrimp: Prepare 2 grapefruit according to directions. Combine grapefruit sections with 1 pound cooked, shelled and deveined shrimp, ¼ cup chopped celery and 1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, sliced. Fill grapefruit halves.

Yield: 4 servings.

Waldorf: Prepare 2 grapefruit according to directions. Combine grapefruit sections with ½ cup finely chopped Washington Golden Delicious apple, ½ cup each chopped walnuts and celery. Fill grapefruit halves.

Yield: 4 servings.

Grapefruit Salad Bowl: Prepare one grapefruit according to directions. Reserve grapefruit sections for other use. Arrange radish roses, scallions, carrot sticks, celery sticks, turnip wedges, pepper slices and cucumber sticks in grapefruit bowls.

Scallops, pearls of delicacy from the deep, inject a glamorous note to your Lenten menu when served in tender flaky patty shells. Patty shells, the frozen variety which rise to such spectacular heights in a hot oven, are quick and easy to prepare yet look as though you spent hours making them. Add this scallop dish to your Lenten repertory—it's one the whole family is sure to enjoy.

Chanko-nabe Dish Favorite In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Chanko-nabe is the favorite dish of Japan's sumo wrestlers who are obligated to eat constantly to keep their impressive girth. However, you may enjoy this dish with a clear conscience for while it is high in protein and vitamins, its calorie count is quite low.

Chanko-nabe is served in two parts. First come the fish, chicken breast, shrimp and clams that have been water-cooked; these are served with a Soy Sauce Dip. After this the broth from the fish, chicken and shellfish — to which Chinese cabbage, mushrooms, chicken dumplings and bean curd are added — is served in bowls containing cooked noodles. Strict weight watchers can, of course, omit the noodles.

CHANKO-NABE

- 2½ quarts water
- 1 large whole fish, cleaned and sliced
- 1 chicken breast (about 8 ounces)
- 6 very large shrimp, shelled and deveined
- 6 clams, scrubbed in cold water
- 10 leaves Chinese cabbage, coarsely shredded
- 10 fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- 2 cakes bean curd (tofu) if available, each cut into 8 squares
- Chicken Dumpling Mixture
- Soy Sauce Dip
- Cooked noodles, drained and hot

In a large surface-heat casserole or kettle bring the water to a boil. Add the sliced fish and chicken breast; cook until tender, then add the shrimp and clams and cook briefly. (Do not overcook the shellfish or it will be tough.) Remove the fish, chicken, shrimp and clams and keep warm.

To the broth in the casserole, add the Chinese cabbage, mushrooms and monosodium glutamate; bring to a boil. Spoon portions of the Chicken Dumpling Mixture into the broth and cook until tender. Remove from heat; add the bean curd.

Serve the reserved fish, chicken breast, shrimp and clams with the Soy Sauce Dip. After this, serve the remaining soup and Chicken Dumplings in bowls containing the cooked noodles. Serves 6 persons generously.

CHICKEN DUMPLING MIXTURE

- ½ pound boned and skinned chicken breast, minced
- 1 teaspoon minced green onion (scallion)
- 1 teaspoon minced peeled fresh ginger
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 2 egg yolks

Thoroughly mix together all the ingredients and use as directed in Chanko-nabe recipe.

SOY SAUCE DIP

- Soy Sauce
- Lemon juice
- Minced green onion

Add lemon juice and minced green onion — in proportions that suit your taste — to the soy sauce and serve as directed in Chanko-nabe recipe.

- 1 cup tomato juice
- ¾ teaspoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Dry fish on paper towel; sprinkle with salt; roll up each fillet and secure witih wooden picks; place in a buttered baking dish (about 10 by 10 by 2 inches). In a 10-inch skillet over low heat melt the butter; add onion, celery and green pepper; cook and stir occasionally until partly softened—about 10 minutes. Mix in remaining ingredients; pour over fish. Cover tightly with foil; chill. At serving time, remove foil and bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until fish is cooked through and sauce is bubbly hot—about 30 minutes. Remove wooden picks. Makes 5 servings.

MODEL AND POODLE TO MATCH

Randi Randell, modeling at yesterday's fashion show for the Officers' Wives Club at Hamilton Air Force Base, was not to be undone by a poodle "Noir" who wore a matching coat. "But, Darling, I Haven't A Thing To Wear" was the title of the fashion show. (Independent-Journal photo)

Head Librarian To Speak In Sausalito On March 23

Sausalito librarian Audrey K. Berteau will be presented by Sausalito Friends of the Library on March 23 at 7:30 p.m. in a meeting at Campbell Hall of the Episcopal Christ Church in Sausalito.

Her talk on "What Friends Can Do for the New Library" will be followed by a short film on libraries, "The Fifth Freedom."

Mrs. Berteau recently assumed her duties as head librarian at the Sausalito library.

Mrs. Robert Scarborough, president of the group, urges all members and interested persons to be present at this "important" meeting when a nominating committee will be named to choose officers for next year. Three members will be selected from the floor, and two will be appointed by the present board.

A short movie of Mark Twain will follow.

A social get-together will precede and follow the program.

AUDREY BERTEAU

Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Scarborough has led the work by the friends in cooperation with the Sausalito City Council in furthering plans for building the new library.

She suggests that all persons wishing to donate books for the annual book sale in early fall take them to the old police station in the city hall or call her to arrange pickup service.

The Kindest Cut

No matter how you slice it, odds are you cut things with an electric slicing knife. If you're without one, you're just not with it.

In 1965, some 5.9 million newly purchased slicing knives were used to attack the Sunday roast. The electric housewares industry is awfully happy about the whole thing.

Mad Hatter Runs Up Against Supposed 'State Law' Barrier

DEAR HELEN:
I see they're getting their warnings on the cigarette packages. Do you think this will slow sales?—DOUBTFUL

DEAR DOUBTFUL:
Not right away, but over the years—probably.

Just now, sellers report, the cigarette packages with the printed warnings are in big demand — people know they're fresher.—H.

DEAR HELEN:
I don't return things to stores very much, but when I do it's for good reason, and I expect to have the merchandise exchanged. After all, this is part of the service, isn't it?

Well, I bought a hat. When I got it home, my husband said either it would go or he would. You know men — about hats they're very opinionated.

So I took it back next day, hoping to get a credit slip. The clerk said, "No hats exchanged. It's a state law." I pointed out that I had only tried it on once at home, and a lot more people than me had put it on in the store, but she said anything that touches the body can't be exchanged. I mentioned that dresses also touch the body, but she just looked over my head and repeated, "Sorry, it's the law."

Have you ever heard of anything like this?—MAD HATTER

DEAR MAD:
No, I hadn't heard of anything like this—but I've learned a lot, thanks to your letter.

I first called the Better Business Bureau, whose manager said he wasn't aware of a state law regarding exchange of hats though many stores will not allow the return of undergarments and swim suits. He assured me that no store is required to take back or exchange merchandise, unless it is defective. This is done as an extra service to promote good will.

Next I called the chain department store where you bought your hat, and was told most definitely that "a California state law" ranks hats with "personal wear" (bras, girdles, swim suits, panties, men's shorts, etc.) and if returned, must be discarded. This to protect the customer. "Naturally," he sniffed, "we won't take these things back simply because a woman has changed her mind."

Several other hat shop managers contacted said they had never heard of such a "law," they would exchange hats, and I gathered those hats would go back on the racks.

So then I called the Department of Public Health and got the real dope: There is no such thing as a state law governing the returnability of any wearing apparel. This is up to the individual store, and it should post notices of its policy in each department. Many stores insist that undergarment sales be final, but the woman at the Health Department said, "I've never heard of the rule applying to hats."

It appears you picked a highly particular chain store, and if you're mad enough you could probably "fight city hall" and get your money back.

Meanwhile, I hope your husband simmers down.—H.

DEAR HELEN:
I read your column every morning on my way to work as a waitress. You wondered about another name for us. I call myself a table technician. Stop in and have a cuppa coffee with me sometime.—MARY B.

DEAR TABLE TECH:
That I will, and thank you kindly.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent - Journal, Box 330, San Rafael.

Marin Chamber Event To Feature Soloists

Sunday's concert of the Marin Chamber Orchestra will be marked by the apearance of four outstanding soloists and the Northern California premiere of Leonard Bernstein's "Serenade for Solo Violin, Piano, Strings and Percussion."

First concert of the season for the orchestra under direction of Hugo Rinaldi, it will be presented at 4 p.m. in Alexander Hall of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Concert mistress Frances Wiener will perform the violin solo in the Bernstein work, which is based on Plato's dialogue "The Symposium."

Miss Wiener has performed as soloist with many of the country's major symphony orchestras and has been well known for 10 years in this area as solo violinist on KCBS.

In the "Poem for Flute and String Orchestra" by Charles Griffes, flutist Patrick Hurtado will be welcomed back to Marin. For the past three years he has been a student at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, where he studied with renowned flutist Julius Baker.

While in New York he appeared in Carnegie Recital Hall and Town Hall and was first flutist with the New Lork Ballet two years. He is now teaching at the new San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow.

The concert will open with J. S. Bach's light "Peasant Cantata" featuring the outstanding Marin soloists, soprano Marian Marsh and baritone Byron Jones.

Using first chair musicians and the entire string ensemble will be Schoenberg's "Verlarte Nacht" (Transfigured Night.)

"This is a marvelous occasion for me," said Nadas, because of his "musical compatibility" with Salgo. "We have a fantastic understanding as though we had played together all our lives."

The pianist was guest soloist at the Carmel Bach Festival last summer under the direction of Salgo but this is his first appearance with the growing Marin Symphony. It will also be the first time that Nadas has played the Brahms in public concert in the Bay Area.

The second concert in the series sponsored by the Symphony Guild of Marin will also include Haydn's Symphony No. 99 in E Flat Major and the American premiere of Humphrey Searle's Third Symphony, which Salgo conducted for the BBC recording in London last month with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra.

Teen Dances Given Nod; Police Object

San Rafael planning commissioners last night voted 4-1 to grant a six-month permit to two men to hold weekend teen dances at 70 Woodland Avenue.

The men, Rudolph Nelson of Marinwood and Phillip Burris of Daly City, said they will hold their first dance, complete with a rock and roll band, on March 18.

Commissioners acted in the face of a memorandum from Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa saying he was "firmly against" the whole idea because of the problems it might create for his men.

Besides limiting the permit to six months, commissioners insisted there be at least one police officer present for every 100 youths at the dances, with a minimum of eight officers always there, and that there be one parking place available for every five persons.

Off-duty policemen will be hired to patrol the dances. Nelson said they will be held only on Saturdays at first, but may later be on Fridays as well.

Commissioner John A. Miskimen dissented from the vote.

A permit was issued last year to another man to set up a teen recreation center in the same building, but it failed to open.

Commissioners turned down plans for a Mobil gas station at Bellam and Francisco Boulevards when they realized the plans were identical to those they had rejected in December, 1964.

The city council later overruled the commission's first denial, but the oil company allowed its one-year permit to lapse without building, so had to apply again.

Last night, commissioners voted 4-1, with Jorgen V. Lunding dissenting, to issue a new permit, but then turned down the plans. This, too, came on a 4-1 vote, with Commissioner Carl S. Brown dissenting.

Lunding objected to voting separately on the permit and plans. Brown, who dissented in the 1964 vote, appeared startled when Commissioner John A. Miskimen moved to turn down the plans for a second time.

"Even though the council has overruled us?" he queried.

"We can try to raise the standard of the council," countered Commissioner Pat Hetherton, who had seconded Miskimen's motion.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. and Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole were absent.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Renewed for a year the permit of the Second Church of Christ Scientist to use a house at 8 Nova Albion Way for services.
2. Renewed the permit and architectural approval of Joe Davis Allen for a nursing home at 237 Picnic Avenue.
3. Granted a permit for a real estate office to Fox and Carskadon at Point San Pedro Road and Loch Lomond Drive.
4. Approved a permit and plans for a 40-bed rest home at 416 Fourth Street, planned by Hans Bretschneider. Approval of plans, however, was made subject to a variance permit for a five foot rear setback, which will not be acted upon until the next meeting due to a staff oversight.
5. Denied approval of plans for a projecting, illuminated sign advertising pizza at the Round Table Restaurant, Fourth Street and Tamalpais Avenue.
6. Approved plans for an American Savings and Loan Assn. building at 550 Las Gallinas Avenue.
7. Approved plans for additions to the Northgate Automotive building on the Redwood Highway frontage road (Brown dissenting), to the Wells Fargo Bank at Third and A streets, and to Stenstrom Buick at 502 Francisco Boulevard.
8. Approved plans for relocating a used car lot on the east side of Grand Avenue between Second Street and Francisco Boulevard.
9. Set for April 12 and 26 hearings on amending the zoning ordinance to include a planned unit development district.

Castro Spares Four Death Plot Suspects

HAVANA (AP) — Four men accused of plotting to assassinate Fidel Castro apparently have escaped the firing squad through an appeal from Castro to spare their lives.

Prosecutor Jorge Serguera switched his demand from death to 30 years' imprisonment for the four after telling the five-man military court that Castro had asked him not to seek the death penalty.

Two potential candidates for county supervisor from District 5 today removed themselves from consideration, apparently clearing the way for re-election of William A. Gnoss without opposition.

Charles P. Davies and Novato Mayor Robert D. Carrow, both mentioned as likely contenders, announced they will not make the race.

Davies, who managed Gnoss's campaign four years ago, said he had considered running this year, "but as things now stand, I am withdrawing." He said he is throwing his support to Gnoss.

Carrow, who previously had been mentioned as a possible state senate candidate and then decided not to seek the Democratic nomination for that post, announced he will not run for supervisor either.

He said he had discussed the most important problems of North Marin with Gnoss and they were in agreement on them.

Department Store Calls In Faulty New Radios

J. C. Penney Co. has asked customers to return some radios sold in Penney stores as defective and "possibly dangerous."

Officials of the company declined today, however, to explain the nature of the danger from the sets.

In Marin, five Penney customers who bought Penncrest model radios have returned them and received corrected models, the company disclosed.

Company officials described the defect as a faulty condenser, but said they did not know the effect this might have. The radios were described as having a "technical problem which might render the product unsafe in a limited number of situations." The situations were not described.

Three radios were bought from the Corte Madera Penney store and two from the San Rafael store. They were returned and replaced after the store traced ownership through charge slips.

Clock radios models 3521 and 3522 and radio models 5521 and 5522, all transistorized, might be defective and should be returned for corrected models, the company said.

Ammunition Boxcar Blast, Fire Rattle Three States

CORNING, Ark. (AP) — A boxcar loaded with 175mm artillery shells mysteriously exploded near here early today with a force felt in three states.

The predawn blast gouged a crater 50 feet long and 15 feet deep in a railroad siding three miles north of this northeast Arkansas town.

The explosion, felt in Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee, ruptured a natural gas line and forced the evacuation of several hundred Corning residents before the gas was shut off.

One house was demolished by the explosion and fire. Walls of two others were caved in. Only one person was injured, not seriously.

John Hutchinson, secretary of the Corning Volunteer Fire Department, said the fear of more explosions kept firemen from battling the fire in the wreckage.

The gas leak, which existed for about two hours, could not be repaired because it, too, was near the fire, Hutchinson said.

Deputy Sheriff Jess Watson said the artillery shells exploded as the car stood on the siding to which it had been pulled to clear the main line for another train.

Assessor's Ex-Aide Tells Of Dealings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former Assistant Assessor Max J. Newstat has concluded his testimony for the prosecution in the bribery case of Assessor Russell L. Wolden.

In his testimony, Newstat listed 40 firms which he claimed had been given assessment cuts of almost $33 million—or enough to cost the city treasury about $3 million.

Among companies he named yesterday were Weinstein's Department Store, assertedly reduced $1,188,941, and three divisions of the GET discount house.

Defense attorney James M. MacInnis had only a half-hour to open his cross- examination but hammered at Newstat hard in an attempt to demolish his credibility.

MacInnis drew admissions from Newstat that he had taken "gifts," that his judgment was influenced by them, and that he could have disobeyed orders to perform illegal acts.

Newstat is expected to stay several days on the stand during cross-examination, but MacInnis was quick to get a pair of issues across.

The first was a reminder to the jury of nine men and three women that much will depend on whose word is believed Newstate or Wolden's.

And the second issue might be termed one of gratitude. Newstat agreed yesterday that Wolden had helped him to find vacation time employment, studying Nevada warehouse law in 1954 and Oregon sawmill rules in 1955. In neither case did he have to turn any of his earnings over to Wolden, Newstat said.

'Moonlighting' Confessed By Former Official

OAKLAND (UPI) — Michael J. McLaughlin, a top aide to Alameda County Assessor Donald E. Feragen, testified yesterday that he "moonlighted" for Castro Valley tax consultant James C. Tooke.

McLaughlin said at Feagen's bribery trial that he handled tax returns for Tooke while employed in Feragen's office.

Defense attorney Herman Mintz questioned him on the extent of their business relationship. McLaughlin hailed in midsentence and commented, "I'm under indictment in another department and unless Mr. Mintz wants to try the case on my behalf, I refuse to answer."

Judge Redmond C. Staats then called a recess, and the trial did not resume because one juror felt ill.

Feragen is charged with accepting $14,000 in bribes to undervalue property for Tooke's clients. McLaughlin also faces similar charges.

47 YEARS

Retired Worker To Be Honored

Employees of Marin Municipal Water District tonight will fete on his retirement a fellow worker employed 47 years by the district.

Joseph Soldavini went to work for the water district as a meter reader in 1919, after graduation from San Rafael High School. He advanced to the engineering department, becoming successively draftsman, chief draftsman, assistant engineer, and — the job he held until retirement this month—engineer in charge of distribution.

About 125 people are expected to attend a dinner in his honor this evening at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax, according to William R. Seeger, water district general manager.

Soldavini was born in Italy, Jan. 12, 1901, and came to the United States in 1912.

He and his wife, the former Tierina (Becky) Aribini, have two sons, Stanley and Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. Soldavini reside at Oak Knoll Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo.

Patrick Asks Public Apology From Reagan

FRESNO (UPI) — William Penn Patrick shed "this nice guy approach" yesterday in his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor and demanded "a public apology" from Ronald Reagan for the rival GOP contender's action at a weekend Negro Republican meeting.

Patrick told a news conference he wanted an apology for Reagan's assertion that he and George Christopher, the other Republican candidate, implied that Reagan was a racist or bigot. Regan also called the other two candidates "s.o.b.'s," Patrick said.

Reagan, after an angry, emotional outburst, walked out of a meeting of the California unit of the Negro Republican Assembly Saturday in Santa Monica.

"I think it was a bad thing," Patrick said of the incident, "particularly for Mr. Reagan because it showed his political immaturity."

Reagan said he was angered by Patrick's and Christopher's responses to a question from a member of the audience about Barry Goldwater's vote against the 1964 Civil Rights Act. Patrick quoted Christopher as saying Goldwater's stand was "an indefensible position."

Reagan supported Goldwater during the 1964 presidential campaign.

"I resent anyone implying that I am bigoted," Reagan said, with tears of apparent anger rolling down his cheeks.

More Filings Coming In For Primary

Two more candidates have filed in Marin County for Republican Central Committee posts in the June 7 primary, two filed for Democratic Central Committee, and one took out petition papers for Marinwood Community Service District Board.

The last is John V. Tyler, 47, of 815 Appleberry Drive, Lucas Valley. He is in the trucking business.

Michael B. Dufficy, 27, of 47 St. Francis Lane, San Rafael, filed for District 1 of the Republican Central Committee, and Frank M. Sloan, 68, of 4 Van Court, Fairfax, filed for District 2. Dufficy is a deputy district attorney. Sloan is a hardware clerk.

Francis J. Ryan, 45, of 1803 Lagoon View Drive, Tiburon, is seeking a post on the Democratic Central Committee, District 3. Gary W. Thomas, 27, of 27 Knight Drive, San Rafael, took out papers for District 1.

Thomas is a deputy district attorney. Ryan is a deputy with the California Real Estate Commission.

Nomination Made For 'Citizen'

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce yesterday nominated Warren Mistron, assistant Larkspur fire chief, for radio station KABL's "Citizen of the Day." Mistron was recently "Fireman of the Year" by the Marin County Assn. of Firemen.

Chamber directors began planning a candidates' night to hear contestants for the Larkspur City Council. Former City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper was selected as moderator, but no date or location was set.

Directors also voted support for the Larkspur-Corte Madera Fourth of July fireworks celebration.

Youths Cited In Drug Case

San Anselmo police yesterday afternoon cited a 15-year-old San Anselmo boy and his 16-year-old Fairfax buddy, both of whom almost killed themselves Thursday experimenting with hormonal, barbituate, and an antibiotic drug.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said the San Anselmo boy, cited for theft and possession of dangerous drugs, admitted stealing the drugs from the San Anselmo Pharmacy at 312 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo. The Fairfax boy was cited for possession only.

Chief Buchignani said the San Anselmo boy also admitted stealing codeine cough syrup from the drug store, but denied the allegations of two friends that he passed it out at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Thieves Take Small Change

Burglars made off with $20 in small change from the home of Samuel Grossman, 8 Irving Court, Sleepy Hollow, sheriff's officers reported today.

Deputies said entry was through an unlocked garage door.

Ernest Tanzi, foreman for Mission Aggregate gravel company on Deer Island, Novato, told officers a door glass was broken for entry to a company trailer. He said desk drawers were ransacked and $3 taken.

Older Citizens Shouldn't Fail To Sign For Medicare

Medicare signup in Marin County may be better than the average rate of signup nationwide. But it appears virtually certain that several hundred of our older citizens will fail to sign up by the March 31 deadline because they were either unaware or misinformed.

We have carried news stories, editorials, and a five-part series on just how Medicare works and how it affects Marin County citizens.

Marin's Community Services Project for older adults, headed by coordinator Richard Phenix, is following up with a "Neighbors to Neighbors" program under which residents are visiting elderly neighbors to make sure they have signed up.

The slogan is: "Don't be medicareless! Join Medicare!"

We commend the efforts of the "Neighbors to Neighbors" program and join in urging all citizens over 65 to make sure they are enrolled by the end of this month.

Those who miss this month's deadline will be unable to enroll again until October of 1967, and then, it will cost more to do so.

The "Neighbors to Neighbors" campaigners point out why it is important that all those over 65 sign up now. The reminders bear repeating:

Virtually all private and company health insurance plans are to be drastically changed on July 1, so that those 65 and over who are now covered adequately through their own plans can find themselves unprotected in areas that Medicare will cover. Their present policies will become only supplemental to Medicare.

Medicare is divided into two general categories—hospital coverage and medical coverage.

The hospital coverage goes to all those who enroll free of charge, but the additional medical coverage will cost $3 per month.

Without question, Medicare is the best bargain in insurance ever offered. Estimates are that a comparable plan through private insurers would cost $18 a month for both parts of the plan (hospital and doctors), or $216 per year. With Medicare, individuals pay nothing for the hospital portion and $3 a month or $36 per year for the doctor portion.

Those who have not yet signed up should contact the Social Security office in San Rafael at 1245 Fourth Street, near C Street.

A national signup rate of 90 per cent is aniticipated. In Marin County, because of special efforts such as personal visits by neighbors, we hope the signups approach the 100 per cent mark.

White Crown Sparrows

A perky little bird that travels in flocks of its fellows and only spends the winter in Marin, is the White Crown Sparrow. As the name implies, he has a black and white striped crown on his head.

They sing a little, but without the beauty of their cousins, the Golden Crowns. Like other sparrows, White Crowns eat a varied diet, including the tender sprouts of many Marinites' winter gardens.

Watch for them in March. They should be especially common this month, as they stop over in Marin, for numbers of them winter still farther south and will be passing through on their way to their breeding grounds in the Pacific Northwest.

Resolution Would Ask Voters Not To Sign Marijuana Roll

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—For the first time in history, a resolution is before the state legislature asking voters of California not to sign an initiative petition.

The resolution is by Assemblyman George A. Willson, D-Huntington Park. If adopted, it would urge voters qualified to sign petitions not to sign the proposed initiative which would legalize the use of Marijuana.

At the present time, it is illegal to use, or to grow would legalize the use of marijuana comes from the hemp plant, which also produces the drug known as hashish, as well as bhang and cannabin.

"WHILE MARIJUANA may not technically be classified as an addictive drug," says Assemblyman Willson, "statistics and studies of addicts indicate that its use frequently leads to the user becoming addicted to heroin and other illict drugs."

Heroin, as most people know, is a derivative of the Oriental poppy, and is the ultimate in the illicit drug line, being preceded by the next to the last step which is opium, a less effective product of the poppy.

Willson says that the use of marijuana in many instances produces aggressive and irresponsible behaviors that poses danger to others, and represents a menace to society.

The Huntington Park assemblyman knows what he is talking about, as he was co-author of the narcotics rehabilitation program enacted in 1961 to treat addiction as an illness instead of a crime.

THE PROPOSAL to legalize a drug through the initiative process could raise some speculation concerning the initiative process itself.

Assume the measure qualified and was voted in by the people. Then the same process could be used to legalize the poppy, for growing one narcotic plant would be no worse than growing another and, if the state wanted to go into the legalization of illicit drugs, one would not be worse than another.

It is not anticipated marijuana will be legalized, but the mere fact that some sponsors of the drug seek this end brings up the necessity of examining all the factors involved.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT might be held illegal on the grounds it is a menace to the health and welfare of the state. And further, it is fairly well conceded that legalization would be expensive to the taxpayers in taking care of the individuals who might become hopeless addicts. The bill is large enough at present for taking care of those who have fallen to the heroin habit.

The use of marijuana, under many names, has been popular throughout the world for many centuries. In fact, the hordes of Genghis Khan are believed to have been users, and use of the drug, known in Asia as hashish, is what contributes to fierceness of the Khan's armies.

Use of the drug in the United States centers largely now on "smoking pot," a pastime generally associated with the country's beatniks, who use the drug not for enjoyment, but largely because it is illegal and they show rebellion by defying authority.

In any event, marijuana never has contributed to the ultimate well-being of anyone.

Inflation Brings Another Idea

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Amid gloomy prophecies that inflation may in the coming months prove a greater nuisance to the administration than even the Viet Cong, there is balm in the assurance of the lending fraternity that tireless computers are working around the clock to compute and accumulate the interest on our savings, not just occasionally, but every day.

Faced with soaring prices of ham hocks and dry lima beans, may we not complacently reflect that—to paraphrase Poor Richard or whoever it was—"A Dollar Saved Is 43.8 Cents Earned?"

This Resident Misses Blackie

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I was deeply touched by your photograph and story regarding the demise of Blackie, the famous horse of Tiburon. As one of the many gentry who always looked over in his direction when driving by, I can assure you that he will be missed by us all. He was not only a landmark, but also a tradition. His presence in the little pasture that was his domain was one of the last of the rapidly disappearing symbols of the kind of suburban area that we look forward to arriving, after a day in the busy city. Even on weekends, children and grown-ups alike who love to visit our wonderful county would stop and watch him for a while. Even photographers and artists found him to be a most willing subject.

Now I understand that some persons are proposing some sort of a gasoline cart raceway with its associated noise, to implant itself in this sole surviving pastoral area. Better that a park or plaza be situated there named after him, with a little plaque therein. It would almost seem possible that the news of this impending go-cart plan had reached his ears, and hastened his demise. Who knows?

Youth Reporting Needs Both Sides

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have become increasingly concerned with attitudes expressed in your paper toward our youth. A recent incident, involving use of marijuana by a very few students, was given huge headlines and multiple columns. The work accomplished by the YMCA model legislature in Sacramento for three days was covered in two small articles. The Marin County delegation . . . worked for many weeks preparing bills, learning parliamentary procedure, etc. . .

Two weeks ago, the Redwood High School Forensics team, the only one in the county, made a fine record in the statewide tournament in Pomona. The only article you printed told of a mishap that occurred in some juvenile horseplay. The high school principal was quoted as saying, "They made a rather poor showing. They only took one third place, I think." The actual results were these. Lucia Blakeslee received a fourth place (out of 56) in original oratory. Bill Grace and Steven Heller were the eighth out of 76 statewide debate teams, defeated only in the quarterfinals by the eventual champions. Since the forensics program at Redwood is only two years old, this hardly seems a "rather poor showing." The students worked diligently, with help from a gifted and interested teacher.

This anti-intellectual characteristic of our society was well documented in last Thursday's cartoon (Feb. 24), showing "Today's Educational System" polishing the boots of a foppish, snobbish long-haired "Gifted Student," while two obviously hard-working, crew-cut "Average Students" say "Bet he'll ask me for a job someday." Is it any wonder that academic excellence is not more sought-after by youth, in a society with such values? We say the aim of our schools should be to encourage students to learn and to think, but when they do, too often youths are criticized or ignored. . .

Much Clothing Is Received

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We would like to offer our sincere appreciation to your newspaper and to your readers who did so much to make our drive for clothing a success.

In December, Parents Mississippi Assn. appealed for 10,000 pounds of good warm clothing to send to the poor and the unemployed in Mississippi. We received over 15,000 pounds of clothing from sympathetic citizens and clothing manufacturers throughout Northern California.

This clothing is now en route to Mayersville, Miss., for distribution throughout Isaquena County—an area characterized by extremely high unemployment, long cold winters, and strong opposition towards the efforts of the local population to improve its own economic level.

On behalf of the people of Isaquena County, our warmest thanks for such a magnificent and tangible expression of concern.

Auto Fund Use May Be Wrong

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Many Marin towns, finding themselves short of funds, look to the motorist to balance the budget.

There is the southern Marin town that has in one location stop signs a few feet apart. Innumerable tickets are written for the unwary who do not stop both places. There are night parking laws that catch the motorist without off street parking, a real problem with the proliferation of the auto. At least one town operates a speed trap.

More power to those who protest these situations, as was done in San Anselmo recently. Only an angry populace will put a stop to using motorists for easy revenue.

BENNETT CERF

A BROADWAYITE with a predilection for practical jokes came up with one a month before last Christmas that worked out very nicely for him. He phoned the secretary of friends and told them, "I've got to have your boss' collar size before the day is over." The secretaries not only got him the required information, but advised their bosses, "So-and-so is obviously going to send you some fine shirts for Christmas, so you'd better buy him something too." The Broadwayite thus ended up with a lot of pretty good loot. As for his friends — well, each one at Christmas time received a card reading, "Here's wishing a happy holiday to the grandest guy who ever wore a Size Sixteen (or whatever size the secretary had divulged) collar."

PULSIFIER, the talking elephant, cast a contemptuous glance down at a mouse and trumpeted, "You are without question the puniest, most insignificant living organism I've ever seen." Squeaked the mouse, "Would you mind repeating that so I can memorize it? I want to say it to a flea I know."

Republicans Lining Up Tactics To Win Over Democrats This Year

WASHINGTON — Naturally the Republicans don't want to throw away Viet Nam as an issue in the elections this year if they can use it without getting burned themselves.

It looks as though they have found a way: Support the President and attack the Democrats for not supporting him strongly enough.

With this line the Republican strategists figure they have tactic to enable them to inject Viet Nam into the campaign in a way which will serve two purposes:

1. Avoid criticizing President Johnson's conduct of the war—since defense of South Viet Nam is GOP policy.

2. Attack Democrats for their criticism of the President's conduct of the war and their efforts to force the U.S. to quit defending Viet Nam.

THIS TACTIC is now being explicitly used by the House Republican leadership, which has expounded it in these words:

"The deep division within the Democratic Party over American policy in Viet Nam is prolonging the war, undermining the morale of our fighting men, and encouraging the Communist aggressor."

That's pretty strong campaign medicine. But not unfair. Indeed, when you look at the facts, it is valid and, if the issue is kept right where the Republicans have now put it, responsible.

What are the facts? Is there "deep division" within the Democratic Party over Viet Nam?

NUMERICALLY, the division among the Democrats in Congress is not great. But that is only part of it. What gives point to the Republican thesis, that Democratic division hurts the U. S. and aids the enemy, is that highly placed Democratic senators are the main dissenters.

Another fact which gives point to this Republican tactic is that, in the recent vote to pass the supplementary Viet Nam appropriation, some Democrats tried to constrict the President's freedom to act. No Republican did so.

In the House the Republicans voted unanimously for the Viet Nam appropriation. Four Democrats voted against it and 78 Democrats announced that they voted for it with reservations.

IN THE SENATE the Republicans voted unanimously for the appropriation and against two Democratic motions, one to prevent the President from using drafted servicemen in Viet Nam and another to rescind the Tonkin Resolution. Five Democratic senators voted to deny the President congressional backing for the defense of Viet Nam — William Fulbright, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee; Ernest Gruening of Alaska, Wayne Morse of Oregon, Stephen Young of Ohio and Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

There are 12 other Senate Democratic critics of the President's handling of Viet Nam and you would have to put down Senate Leader Mike Mansfield as not more than a third-hearted supporter.

This shows that Mr. Johnson has to carry a heavy burden of criticism and division within his own party. Since high officials of the administration agree that Hanoi gets encouragement from signs of weakness and division in the U.S., the President can hardly blame the Republicans for saying the same thing.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Republicans Ready For Big Fund-Raiser

By ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Another big fund-raising dinner is being set in motion by the Republican National Committee.

It will be for the House Campaign Committee, headed by Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., and the tentative date is May 19. That is two weeks after a similar affair slated by the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees.

Still undecided is the price of the GOP ticket—$100 or $500.

A $500-a-plate dinner last month by the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, headed by Sen. Thruston Morton, Ky., netted more than $600,000.

That event ruffled the feelings of National Chairman Ray Bliss and General Lucius Clay, head of the National Finance Committee. They were miffed because the Senate dinner was counter to the policy they had laid down that all fund raising be centered in the National Committee.

To avert such backstage friction, Wilson agreed to the House dinner's being under the auspices of the National Committee—with the clear understanding that the proceeds go to his committee.

THESE FUNDS will be used to support incumbent Republican congressmen.

In addition, Wilson has another fund of some $800,000 to be spent helping Republicans running against sitting Democrats. This hefty campaign chest has been raised by the Republicans Boosters, an informal nationwide organization of small contributors conceived and headed by Wilson.

President Eisenhower will address the May 19 dinner, if his health permits. A number of governors and other party notables will attend.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON and Vice President Humphrey will be the headline attractions at the May 5 Democratic dinner. Unlike the GOP fund-raiser, the Democratic event will have no connection with the National Committee — for a good reason.

As recently disclosed in this column, the Democratic congressional campaign committees are sore at the National Committee because the latter pocketed the recipts of a big fund-raising dinner presumably staged in their behalf last year. More than $600,000 was cleared.

But Sen. Warren Magnuson, Wash., and Rep. Mike Kirwan, Ohio, claim they still haven't got the one-third share their committees are entitled to.

Determined not to let this happen again, the two committees decided to hold a fund-raising dinner wholly under their own auspices and control, with all funds accruing to them.

BARRY GOLDWATER is enthusiastically supporting Massachusetts Attorney General Edward Brooke for the U.S. Senate.

Brooke did not actively support Goldwater in 1964. But the Bay Stater is now openly welcoming his backing. He told a group of Negro leaders, "I am running as Edward Brooke, Republican, and I want the support of all Republicans."

SEN. J. WILLIAM Fulbright's unexpected vote for the Morse amendment to revoke the 1964 Tonkin Gulf resolution was directly counter to the vigorous stand he espoused the day before at a strategy conference of opponents of the President's Viet Nam policy.

The Arkansan, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, strongly counseled against supporting the Morse proposal on the ground it would be overwhelmingly defeated and that would be viewed as a decisive endorsement of the President.

SEN. ROBERT KENNEDY, D-N.Y., who earlier had made headlines urging that the Viet Cong be given a "share of power and responsibility" in the Saigon government, heartily approved Fulbright's argument.

Teen-Age Drinking Has Changed From Pastoral To Urban Pursuit

Teen-age drinking habits have changed in recent years. It's a change for the worse, but if the situation continues to deteriorate, it's bound to force itself to get better again.

People have been saying lately that there are a lot more high schoolers drinking now than ever before. I think the percentage of rowdies among the young has actually remained about constant. The problem is that we're seeing a lot more of the youthful indulgers now than we used to.

A FEW YEARS AGO, when teen-agers decided they'd pretend they were grown-ups and get drunk, they'd sneak out to some rural patch where no one would be able to see them while they clowned it up. Eventually sobered up, they'd slink back home in the early morning, perhaps a bit dizzy but quite subdued.

Now it's apparently become cool to do just the opposite. Kids now cavort in the most active downtown spots they can find, brandishing their cans and bottles and making as much of a spectacle of themselves as possible.

It gets more police citations, but it does bring them more attention as well, and attention seems to be worth nearly any risk to them.

They're talking now about taking steps to screen youths as they show up for teen dances at the Tiburon Peninsula Club, making sure that some of the dancers won't still be rocking and rolling after the music has stopped.

"WE'RE WORKING ON a plan to make sure that the dance tickets are sold at the door, using some discretion to make sure the trouble-makers don't get in," explained Joseph Beard, 17, president of the peninsula club teen club.

Monthly teen dances were cancelled at the club after a December gala crumpled before an army of invading youths in high spirits who decided to take over the affair.

"The kids are more capable of good behavior than they show, but the drinking is inevitable," Joe claims, adding, "The county's just full of kids who are going to do it."

Why are they acting obnoxious at dances and in downtown areas instead of trying to "get their kicks" where they won't be in danger of being picked up by the police or of disturbing others?

JOE ADMITS he doesn't know.

No teen code, no good strong lecture, and no additional activities, he claims, will divert the "tough guys" from hitting the bottle and then crashing dances.

"There's no way to get around it. The drinking's just inevitable," he said, "and when some kids are out drinking on a Friday night they're going to be looking for some place to go."

Joe says that kids can be found now drinking or drunk at almost any teen activity. "They do it until it becomes old hat for them," he said, adding that happens after about two years of college.

The peninsula club board of governors has indicated that the teen club may be able to win back its dances by proving that other activities can be held without trouble.

"IT'S REALLY too bad," Joe lamented. "I guess we'll eventually get the dances back, but it's impossible to guarantee that there won't be any more trouble.

"We've just got to face it. There are kids who drink and they're going to force their way in, no matter what we do. How could you hold them back?"

The solution to Joe's problem might also be inevitable.

Perhaps, if things continue in their present direction, teen activities will all be cancelled out of fear of drunken violence.

No longer with any dances to disrupt, the far-roaming teen-age drinkers may again discover the wonder of imbibing under a pastoral moon, freeing the downtown areas once again for the more civil.

Talk About The Doves And Hawks, Something Is Going On In Hanoi

WASHINGTON — There has been so much talk about the doves and the hawks in the U. S. over Viet Nam that scant attention has been paid to the split in Hanoi. My CIA sources inform me that North Viet Nam is having a similar debate right now over the war and their people are equally divided as to what to do next.

It all started when President Ho Chi Minh asked for more money to wage the war in the South. A group of Communist deputies, led by the chairman of the Foreign Relations Comissariat, Foo-Brite, demanded hearings to challenge Ho's Viet Nam policies.

CHAIRMAN FOO-BRITE called as witnesses Gen. Gah-Van and Jawj Ken-Anh who warned against escalation. Gen. Gah-Van testified he believed the Viet Cong should set up enclaves until the South Vietnamese were willing to talk peace on Hanoi's terms.

Secretary of State Diem Ruh-Sk, testified that any display of weakness at this time would only give aid and comfort to the enemy. But President Ho said his position was not very different than that of Gen. Gah-Van and Jawj Ken-Anh. Ho than produced a poll to show that 63 per cent of all the North Vietnamese were for staying in South Viet Nam while only 37 per cent thought the Viet Cong should pull out.

THINGS WERE quiet for a few days until a young junior deputy from Nu-Yuk named Bah-Bi Khanh-A-Dhi held a press conference and said he thought Hanoi should recognize that, if a peace settlement was ever to be made, the Ky government would have to be invited to the conference table.

Vice President U-Bit Hum-Fri, who was on a peace mission to Communist Asia trying to raise more troops for North Viet Nam, retorted angrily, "That's like putting a fox in a chicken coop."

Hanoi was up in arms over the Khanh-A-Dhi proposal. To add to the confusion, Gen. Mah-X-Wehl Tei-Lar, one of Ho's military advisors, explained that Bah-Bi's position was similar to his. Ho called in Gen. Tei-Lar and chewed him out for siding with Bah Bi.

IN THE MEANTIME Bah-Bi called another press conference to clarify his position and he said that he would only advocate the support of Gen. Ky's faction after elections.

Ho immediately announced that Bah-Bi's position was very similar to his own and, if that's what he meant, he had no argument with him.

In the meantime U-Bit, who went away a dove, came back a hawk and said, "We owe it to our boys in the Viet Cong to give them all the support we can. Any debate at this time is only playing into the hands of the Johnson administration."

THE DISCUSSION is still raging in Hanoi, but it has hurt Ho's administration.

The latest poll out of North Viet Nam shows that only 49 per cent of the North Vietnamese think Ho is doing a good job in South Viet Nam. Thirty-two per cent (mostly those being bombed) think he's doing a lousy job and 6 per cent said they didn't know anything because they lived in the back.

Scottsdale Proposal Approved In Split Vote

The Novato City Council last night approved the tentative map of the first unit of town houses on 57 lots in Marin Riviera portion of the Scottsdale development by Hi-Valley Development Corp.

The vote was 4 to 1 with Mayor Robert D. Carrow dissenting. "I feel that the original Scottsdale plan was a mistake in the first place and that this modification is not much better," Carrow said.

The vote came after a long discussion on advisability of undedicated streets in the subdivision. The council is to have a plan for a proposed maintenance corporation reviewed by City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. If this is unacceptable to the city, it will form an assessment district for maintenance of the streets.

The 34-foot private streets would not have sidewalks.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Received a petition against two-story houses from 13 residents of Ormond Court. Robert Vaughan of 50 Ormond Court said two-story houses 22 feet from their property line would be an invasion of the privacy of their rear yards. Robert Lagle, city planner, said there was nothing in the ordinance preventing any house up to 35 feet or two and one-half stories in height.
2. Introduced an ordinance rezoning from single to multiple family 39,000 square feet at Railroad and Olive avenues for Olompali Investment Co.
3. Approved division of an acre and one-half into three lots at Simmons Lane and Leese Lane by Otto J. Stroeh, requiring dedication of five feet for future widening of Simmons Lane, but not requiring sidewalks or curbs.
4. Approved an application to the Housing and Home Finance Agency for $36,000 as half the estimated cost of $72,000 to acquire land adjacent to Pioneer Memorial Park for addition to the park. This would be 50 per cent federal matching funds for park acquisition.
5. Made the intersection of Center Road and Diablo Avenue a four-way stop during the period of the construction of the Warner Creek Bridge.
6. Adopted a list of banks to rotate the city account every two years, starting in fiscal 1967. In order of the 10 year cycle are Central Valley Bank, Bank of America, Bank of Marin, Crocker-Citizens and Wells Fargo National Banks.
7. Granted Fun Fair Shows permission to play at the Novato Fair shopping center March 16-20.
8. Passed an ordinance increasing the council's salaries from $25 per meeting with a maximum of $75 per month to $150 per month.
9. Requested that the county-city parks bond issue be placed on the agenda for the March meeting of the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen.
10. Passed an ordinance rezoning from planned community to single-family residential Unit 9 of San Marin, and from multiple to multiple with highway frontage regulations, the Clayton apartments and Lot 6 in Jade Gardens.
11. Accepted the Tropicana Estates subdivision as completed.

Mill Valley Studying Rule To Encourage Wood Signs

Hand-carved and painted wood signs will be permitted to project over the city right-of-way 42 inches under a proposal recommended last night in a new sign ordinance for the City of Mill Valley.

At present no sign is permitted to extend more than one foot over the sidewalk. The new provision, reported city Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon, is proposed to encourage signs in keeping with the character of Mill Valley.

The new ordinance includes a variance procedure which will give greater flexibility to the city in considering signs, added Bragdon. There is no variance procedure now.

Commissioners said owners of 50 remaining non-confirming signs could apply for a variance if they feel their sign is in character with Mill Valley.

The commission also considered a revised zoning map and recommended rezoning of 150 pieces of property. About one-half of the properties north of East Blithedale Avenue, in the area of Sunnyside, Buena Vista and Mountain View avenues and Hill Street, are proposed to be rezoned from duplex to single-family. The lots are too small for duplexes and the area has the appearance of a very stable single-family area, reported Bragdon.

Five lots fronting on Ethel Avenue between Miller and Creek lanes were recommended to be rezoned from commercial to single-family residential, and an area on East Blithedale near Sycamore Avenue was recommended to be rezoned from neighborhood commercial to general commercial, the category of neighborhood commercial being eliminated.

Further discussion of the revised zoning ordinance and map will be at a meeting March 23. The commission will not meet March 22 since Chairman Rodric L. Robinson is unable to attend.

The commission will meet March 30 at 8 p.m. in the Outdoor Art Club to discuss plans, for a second time, of commercial areas with merchants and property owners. The April 12 meeting has been moved to April 13 because April 12 is election day.

Commissioners directed Bragdon to write Marin Municipal Water District expressing concern over the appearance of a new water tank above the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center, and suggested that trees be planted around such tanks.

Hospital Sets Medicare Talks

Two public meetings to explain the provisions of Medicare will be held at Ross General Hospital Saturday at 2 and 4 p.m.

The hospital sponsoring the meetings, under the title "Medicare and You," and the speakers will be Dr. John C. Siemens, hospital administrator, Dr. Marjorie E. Belknap, president of the medical staff, and Betty Presley, Marin County social services director.

"I think it is important that Marin County residents understand that our hospitals have anticipated Medicare for some time," said Dr. Siemens today, "and that for many months we have met with government, state and local agencies and insurance intermediaries."

While he anticipated more people entering all hospitals in Marin "patients will continue to receive the highest level of care," he said.

Dedication Slated For School Addition

New construction and improvements costing $350,000 have been completed at Ross School and will be dedicated Tuesday —almost a year to the day since final plans were approved.

Included in the 538-student school's face lift, the subject of a bond issue election in September 1964, is a new multi-purpose room, four classrooms, and repairs to the main building.

The old multi-purpose room has been made into an enlarged library and the old library into another classroom.

Total number of classrooms now is 24, the number required for the school to maintain its ratio of 25 pupils in each room at its present growth rate, said Supt. William W. Monahan.

District growth rate indicates the school will have 555 pupils next year and 610 by 1970. Until completion of the new construction, the school has had to lease portable classrooms.

Monahan said the enlarged library was particularly needed since the Town of Ross has no public library and the checkout volume of books had more that doubled in recent years.

The new facilities will provide more space for the teaching of music, art and science and the multi-purpose room which has a stage, will have space for indoor sports.

Voters passed the bond issue for this work at the second attempt, a $400,000 issue having failed in April of 1964. District trustees trimmed $25,000 off the original estimate to bring it within the $350,000 set aside.

Scheduled to take part in Tuesday's ceremony are Mrs. Marjorie McGee, president of the district board; Winnie Hamilton, president of the student body, and Ford Greene, vice-president; architect Martin J. Rosse of San Francisco; and contractor Jack Herrero of Herrero Brothers of San Francisco.

Student To Accept Ruling Of Chancellor Over Rally

BERKELEY (AP) — Miss Bettina Aptheker, who says she is a Communist, agreed yesterday to accept discipline at the University of California and thereby will remain on its rules committee.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns told her and two others that for violating campus rules they must refrain until June 9 from activity in student organizations, handing out leaflets, collecting funds and organizing meetings.

The trio, members of the Vietnam Day Committee, was disciplined for staging an unauthorized campus rally Feb. 2 in protest to U.S. actions in Viet Nam. The committee exceeded its quota of one campus rally per week, as permitted by university rules.

Others in the trio are Susan C. Stein, 23, and Harold S. Jacobs Jr., 24.

Miss Aptheker, a senior student in history, is the daughter of Herbert Aptheker, an American Communist Party historian, who made an unauthorized trip to North Viet Nam.

She was active in the Free Speech Movement which disrupted the campus in December, 1964, with a massive demonstration demanding greater political freedom for students.

The Campus Rules Committee was organized as a result and Miss Aptheker was elected to it.

After being placed on probation, the trio issued this statement:

"We agree to abide by the chancellor's discipline because it is our opinion that the most important problem confronting the student movement is to engage in effective and concentrated efforts against the war in Viet Nam."

Forums Slated On Family, Sex

Evelyn Millis Duvall will conduct a pair of two-hour sessions on "Living and Sex in Today's Family" Friday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 1123 Court Street, San Rafael.

The first session, at 9:30 a.m., will be for parents of children from birth through primary grades in school.

The second, at 7:30 p.m., will be for junior and senior high school students and their parents. Parents will be seated separately from the students in an L-shaped room for the discussion.

"Idaho potatoes" get star billing wherever they're sold or served. But not just any potato is an Idaho potato—only those grown in Idaho. We have the climate, the high altitude, the mineral-rich soil, the pure mountain water it takes to make great flavor, quality and all-purpose cooking versatility. If you want the most in a potato, look for the "Grown in Idaho" seal. Fresh, frozen or instant—it's a sure sign of quality.

CHECKING SNOW DEPTH

"Snow pillows," a new device for determining the potential "water crop" in Sierra regions, are being tested this winter in a meadow near 8,573-foot Carson Pass. The experiment is being carried on by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and state and federal agencies. Three of the "pillows" are shown (above) after installation last fall. Filled with non-freezing liquid, they are connected to instruments in a nearby shed. H. V. Lemons (left) and Russ Keene take a snow depth sample the conventional way as a check on accuracy of the new method. Snow depth at the time was 76 inches.

College To Consider Purchasing More Land

Marin Junior College District trustees, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Room G-3 of the Physical Education Building, will be asked to buy yet another parcel of property at Kentfield Corners: the Flying A service station owned by Tidewater Oil Co.

The station, at 1001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was appraised by the county assessor's office this fiscal year at $83,000. Three years ago, when the college master plan was drawn up, the appraised market value was $68,000.

College President Stephen E. Epler will recommend purchase of the property, saying enrollment projections and, especially, the expected influx of students under the new G. I. bill, make it necessary. The site, according to Epler, will be used for an unspecified academic building.

Trustees are also scheduled to hear a plea from the Newman Center Foundation that the district hold up on condemnation proceedings against the Newman Center, 885 College Avenue (next door to the service station) until the Newman Club can find new quarters near the college.

The college filed a condemnation suit against the property, formerly the College Market, while the Catholic archdiocese of San Francisco was in the process of purchasing it for $35,000 last Aug. 31.

Newman Foundation officials said they were unaware the college wanted the property when they made the purchase. Since that time, according to Brother Nicholas Kurguz, assistant chaplain of the club, student work and community contributions have increased the value of the property almost two-fold.

Also on the agenda is an academic senate resolution asking that department head and division chairmen be elected by the faculty, not appointed by the board. Dr. Epler will recommend against the proposal, saying it would cut administration and board control.

Dr. Epler will also present a tentative budget for fiscal 1967. The board will hear reports on the progress of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project and the board of supervisors' decision on widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of the college.

More Candidates To Broadcast

The six candidates for three seats on the Mill Valley City Council in the April 12 election will give their views on the Radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Speakers will be Louis E. Bartolini, John Finn III, David Bruce Gardner, Dean N. Meyer, Willard H. Pennell and Rodric L. Robinson. None is an incumbent.

The program will be tape recorded for replay at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Next week's broadcast will feature candidates for the Sausalito City Council.

Hamilton Awards $12,800 Contracts

Shields Construction Co. of Novato has been awarded a $4,500 contract to construct a vault in Building 309 at Hamilton Air Force Base by the base procurement office.

I. H. Leonardi Electric Co. of San Rafael was given an $8,030 contract to add telephone duct, secondary distribution lines and alternate primary distribution lines at the base.

Humane Society Sees Cost Hike

The Marin County Humane Society has estimated its cost of operation will rise 10 per cent net fiscal year.

The society operates the county animal shelter and enforces the animal control ordinance under contract with the county.

This fiscal year the operating costs will come to $123,000. In fiscal 1967 they will total $136,200, according to a letter to county supervisors from Frederic D. Kerr, society president.

Lucas Green Changes On Planners Agenda

The county planning commission on March 21 will hear proposed changes in the commercial portion of the Lucas Green development at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Highway 101.

Proposed is an ell-shaped market and shop building and a separate bank building. Earlier plans called for a straight row of shops. Instead of the original 75,000 square feet, the buildings proposed would have 57,000 square feet. There would be parking for 515 cars on the nine-acre site.

Lions To Hear Arab At Northgate Meeting

Marin Civic Center Lions Club will hear Farark Mawlawi of San Francisco's Arab Information Center at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Brothers Two restaurant in the Northgate Shopping Center.

Monday's Independent-Journal erroneously reported the meeting would be at 344 Summit Avenue, San Rafael.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

J.C. League Eyes Realignment; Walker No Flier, Misses Meet

GOLDEN VALLEY CONFERENCE, of which College of Marin is a member, is contemplating realignment for its basketball and possibly baseball competition.

With College of the Redwoods (Eureka) and Lassen College (Susanville) joining the basketball activities next year, the GVC coaches favor a Northern and Southern division. The North would include Shasta (Redding), Yuba (Marysville), College of the Siskiyous (Weed), Redwoods and Lassen while the South would line up with Marin, Napa, Santa Rosa and Sierra (Rocklin).

At the end of regular intra-division competition, the North and South champions then would meet in a best-of-three game playoff to determine the conference winner.

Cal Riemcke, Marin coach, said the realignment would eliminate transportation problems. It's a long, weary haul between some points in the present setup.

Baseball coaches are expected to second the realignment proposal and conference school presidents will vote on the matter in May.

INCIDENTALLY, Riemcke was quite philosophical about his Tars' loss last Friday to San Joaquin Delta J.C. in their playoff for a bid to the state tournament.

"The way I look at it," Riemcke said, "there is only one happy team in the state at the end of the California tournament. Everyone else is disappointed somewhere along the line. We're extremely proud of our team for winning the conference championship."

Amen.

BILL RANNEY of Fairfax, the 30-year-old Sonoma State College student who is one of the country's leading competitive walkers, was all set to enter the mile walk in the IC4A national collegiate indoor track meet in New York last Saturday night, but couldn't find space aboard any of the airliners.

Bunion Burner Bill, one of the top men in the field of 17 entered in the meet, waited all day at San Francisco International Airport, hoping to squeeze aboard one of the flights, but no soap.

Whyinell, I wonder, didn't he walk?

I CAN'T REMEMBER when, if ever, a Marin County boy played in an NCAA basketball tournament, but we have one this year.

He is Redwood High graduate Hillard Witt, a sophomore at University of the Pacific, kingpin of the West Coast Athletic Conference. Witt is not a starter, but his pals are pulling for him to see some duty Friday night when Pacific tackles Utah in the NCAA Western Regionals at Los Angeles.

Witt played in only five games this season, scoring three points.

Drake Quint Has Hopes For Upset

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Drake High School's Pirates basketball team will be trying its hardest to upset McClymonds High of Oakland tomorrow night in the Tournament of Champions in Berkeley.

That game will be the last on the four-game card on opening day in Harmon Gym on University of Cal's campus. Berkeley High School (19-10) and Washington of Fremont (16-5) open the day's action at 4:30 p.m.

Then at 6 p.m., it's Arroyo of San Lorenzo (21-2) vs. Salesian of Richmond (15-6). Lincoln of San Francisco (24-2) meets Sonoma High (19-5) at 7:30 p.m., followed by the Drake (20-4) vs. McClymonds (16-5) game at 9 p.m.

All competing teams are champions of their respective leagues, so the talent is abundant at this basketball classic, the granddaddy of Northern California cage tournaments.

Drake won 10 of its 12 league games to capture the Marin Athletic crown this year. The other champs are Arroyo of the Hayward Athletic League, Lincoln of the Academic Athletic Assn., Sonoma of North Bay League II, McClymonds of the Oakland Athletic League, Washington of the Mission Valley Athletic League, Salesian of the East Bay Athletic League, and Berkeley of the Alameda County Athletic League.

Tickets for the tournament can be purchased either at Drake High in San Anselmo or at Harmon Gym during the tourney. Cost for adults is $2 each day. There will be four games tomorrow and Friday, and three Saturday.

Drake has the lowest offensive scoring average of all eight teams, 54.7, but is second in defense with a 47.6 mark. Arroyo has the strongest scoring punch with a 70.5 average, and Washington is tops in defense, 44.3

SOME PRE-TOURNAMENT NOTES:

Top scorers who will play in the tourney are Ray Allen of Salesian, 20.3 average, and Jerry Stevenson of Arroyo, 20.0 average . . . Arroyo won all 16 of its league games; other undefeated league champs are Lincoln (11-0) and Sonoma (11-0) . . . Tallest players in the tourney are Arroyo boys, Wayne Johnson at 6-7½ and Stevenson at 6-7 . . . 26 of the 40 listed starters are 6 feet tall or better . . . shortest boy is Paul Tavares, Arroyo again, at 5-8 . . .

Orlando Cepeda Runs With A Limp

Giant Slugger Admits It's Mental Problem

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Orlando limps.

This is the sad news from the San Francisco Giants spring training camp. Whether it is as bad as it looks for Orlando Cepeda, only the short time between now and the National League opener can tell.

But Cepeda limped around in the outfield yesterday shagging fungoes and working out with Coach Charley Fox.

"I'm still a little afraid to put full pressure on it," said Cepeda about his right knee. "It's in my head now—a little fear."

The Giants would much rather have it in the Puerto Rican slugger's head than the knee that required surgery before the 1965 season. The Big O's big bat was almost dead silent last year and the Giants finished second, two games behind Los Angeles.

For hour upon hour during last season and after it finished Cepeda worked to strengthen the knee with physical therapy, running, exercise and weight lifting.

Whether he can shake the leg loose before the April 12 opener is a question that could receive a partial answer Saturday when the Giants open the Cactus League season against Cleveland at Tucson.

Still without top pitching stars Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw, Manager Herman Franks has announced a sextet of non-holdout hurlers to work the first two exhibitions.

Gaylord Perry, Joe Gibbon and Lindy McDaniel are slated for Saturday action. Gibbon came from Pittsburgh and McDaniel from Chicago in off-season trades.

On Sunday, Franks plans to use Bob Bolin, Bill Henry and Frank Linzy, all with the Giants the last campaign.

Warriors Lose To Baltimore

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors hold an edge over Baltimore, the club they meet again tonight in Seattle in the last National Basketball Association game between the pair this season.

San Francisco has a 5-4 season advantage, although Baltimore captured last night's tilt with the Warriors at Eugene, Ore., 130-109.

The Warriors played without 6-foot-10 Nate Thurmond who is sidelined with an ailing back. Nonetheless they were nip-and-tuck with the Bullets until the last three minutes of the third period when Baltimore picked up a 17-point lead with a blitz of baskets.

The Warriors could not catch up.

Johnny Green of Baltimore and rookie Rick Barry of San Francisco were the top scorers on each club with 25 points apiece.

TORONTO ACCEPTS TITLE BOUT

A Home-Away-From-Home Is Found

TORONTO (AP) — Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell finally have found a home-away-from-home for their heavyweight title showdown but the mental roadwork involved in the search appears to have backed both fighters into a dark corner.

Toronto received sanction as the site of the March 29 bout yesterday, ending a road-show that began in New York and touched bases throughout the United States and Canada. Contracts were signed last night on behalf of the fighters following approval of the match by Leslie Rowntree, Ontario's labor minister.

Clay, generally recognized as the world champion, and Terrell, the World Boxing Association titleholder, received the good news with mixed emotions. Both are happy the hunt is over but both admitted to be on the ropes when word of the approval reached them.

"They got a fight for us and, in a way I'm relieved," Terrell said at his training camp in Pleasantville, N.J. "But they made such a joke out of it that it disgusts you."

"It's been all mixed up and the way it's been handled, it's like mental cruelty," the 6-foot-6 Chicagoan complained.

Clay was in no better frame of mind at his Miami, Fla., training headquarters. "If fans want to see me beat," said the champion, "they ought to start making reservations for Toronto."

"Terrell has a better chance of beating me than either Sonny Liston or Floyd Patterson had," Cassius, who prefers his Islamic name Muhammad Ali, continued. "I'm out of shape. I'm not mentally as good as I should be. I am weighted down with pressures — more pressures than I had before my two fights with Sonny and the Las Vegas fight with Floyd."

Rowntree's announcement before the Ontario Legislature that he had approved the bout for Maple Leaf Gardens lifted some of the pressure off Main-Bout, Inc., the group holding closed-circuit television rights to the match. Frank Tunney of Toronto will promote the fight in conjunction with Maple Leaf Gardens.

"We are pleased someone has finally looked at this as a sports event — which it is — instead of something else," Mike Malitz of Main-Bout said in New York.

Main-Bout still has misgivings, however. Theaters have been dropping off the television hook-up in droves. "We had about 280 exhibitors ready to show the fight in their theaters," said Robert Arum, another Main-Bout executive. "But since all the political troubles began, we've lost 100 of them."

Estimates of the gross receipts from closed circuit TV, gate receipts, radio and movie fees have dipped from between $4 million and $5 million to a high of $3 million.

The troubles began when Terrell was denied a license by the New York State Athletic Commission because of his association with alleged underworld figures.

The fight, which had been set originally for New York's Madison Square Garden, was shifted to Chicago but the Illinois commission, after fist giving its approval, reversed itself and ruled the promotion set-up was unacceptable.

Illinois' rejection came shortly after Clay spoke out against his draft reclassification from exempt (1-Y) to 1-A and announced he would appeal the change.

Louisville and Pittsburgh were among the cities that then turned down the fight in rapid order. Montreal followed suit and other Canadien cities put in bids before Toronto entered the picture.

Clay and Terrell both said they planned to leave for Toronto today or tomorrow and set up training camps.

"This thing's been off and on so much, I tried to ask for two weeks extension to get in better shape," the champion said. "But the TV people said they couldn't do it." He said he is about 10 pounds overweight despite having sparred 100 rounds in Miami.

"I've been in divorce courts, before commissions and on March 17 I've got to go before the draft board again," he lamented. "And in Toronto I'll have to do my road work in freezing cold."

Kentucky Top Team After Final Cage Poll

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky's Wildcats, who narrowly missed a perfect regular season, scored in a runaway in the final Associated Press major college basketball poll for 1965-66.

The Wildcats were voted No. 1 by 39 of the 48 sports writers and broadcasters on AP's nationwide panel. Duke climbed back into the second spot ahead of Texas Western, which, like Kentucky, suffered its only loss of the season last Saturday night.

Kansas's Big Eight champions jumped from sixth to fourth, St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania also advanced two places to fifth, and Cincinnati climbed from 10th to seventh.

Others in the final rankings are Loyola of Chicago, which slipped from fourth to sixth; Vanderbilt, which dropped three spots to eighth; Michigan in ninth and Western Kentucky in 10th.

Michigan, winner of the Big Ten title, regained a place in the ratings and Western Kentucky made the Top Ten for the first time.

Voting was based on games through Monday night.

Kentucky was toppled by Tennessee 69-62 Saturday night and Texas Western lost to Seattle 74-72. Both rebounded Monday night — Kentucky whipping Tulane 103-74 in its season finale, and Texas Western downing Oklahoma City 89-74 in the first round of the NCAA tournament.

Kentucky is the favorite for the NCAA championship, while seven other members of the Top Ten are in the running for the title. St. Joseph's and Western Kentucky advanced to Friday night's second-round games with victories Monday night, along with Texas Western. Kentucky, Duke, Kansas, Cincinnati and Michigan drew byes into the second round.

Loyola also was an NCAA team, but was eliminated by Western Kentucky 105-86 Monday night. St. Joseph's beat Providence 65-48 in other NCAA action, while Kansas clinched the Big Eight title with an 85-65 romp over Colorado.

Providence and Nebraska, losers to Colorado last Saturday, fell out of the rankings. The Friars were No. 8 last week, Nebraska No. 9.

Duke won the Atlantic Coast championship with three victories in the conference tournament, Cincinnati is the Missouri Valley champion, and Michigan won the Big Ten crown — then lost to Michigan State 86-77 Monday night.

The final Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, records through Monday, March 7, and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1.	Kentucky (39)	24-1 — 468
2.	Duke (3)	23-3 — 387
3.	Texas Western (1)	24-1 — 313
4.	Kansas (2)	22-3 — 305
5.	St. Joseph's, Pa. (1)	23-4 — 237
6.	Loyola, Chicago (2)	22-3 — 226
7.	Cincinnati	21-5 — 134
8.	Vanderbilt	22-3 — 126
9.	Michigan	17-7 — 93
10.	Western Kentucky	24-2 — 63

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Boston College, Bradley, Brigham Young, Colorado State, Davidson, Michigan State, Oklahoma City, Oregon State, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, San Francisco, Southern Methodist, Syracuse, Temple, Utah.

LONGDEN SAYS HE'LL RETIRE ON SATURDAY

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The jockey they call Grandpaw, Johnny Longden, says he will ride his last race Saturday.

At 59, Longden has ridden 6,030 winners, including a triple-crown winner, Count Fleet, in 1943. His last race, he says, will be Saturday's $125,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap at Santa Anita.

"Win, lose or draw, Saturday I'll hang 'em up," Longden said yesterday. He has been a jockey for 40 years.

Longden said he has received an offer to become trainer for a prominent stable in Florida, but declined to elaborate.

Gay Brewer No. 2 Earner

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Gay Brewer jumped from virtually nowhere in the official PGA winnings to second place this week by winning $10,000 first prize money in the Pensacola Open Golf Tournament.

Brewer, who officially won only $2,977.50 before his three-stroke victory this week, was not ranked in the top 25 golfers in PGA winnings. He now has $12,977.50 in official winnings and $15,913.76 in total winnings.

Arnold Palmer continued to lead with $14,412.50 in official winnings and $32,438.06 in total earnings.

Others ranked among the top money winners, their official and total winnings:

Joe Campbell, $12,612.50 and $15,897.98; Billy Casper, $10,890.47 and $15,346.10; Gen Littler, $9,961.45 and $10,48.95; Ken Venturi, $9,675.00 and $10,250.2; Dudley Wysong, $9,000.00 and $10,990.63; Frank Beard, $8,895.83 and $10,249.78; George Archer, $8,797.01 and $10,492.14; Mason Rudolph, $8,070.00 and $11,958.33.

Frank Leahy May Coach AFL Team

ANAHEIM (AP) — If Anaheim is awarded an American Football League franchise, Frank Leahy, the former Notre Dame coach, may be pacing the gridiron again.

Leahy contemplated the new 60,000-seat Anaheim Stadium last week and discussed a contract, says Bruce Werlhof, spokesman for a group seeking incorporation as the Fullerton Athletic Corp. The group has a 90-day option on the stadium.

Leahy retired from Notre Dame in 1953. He is now in the insurance business in Portland, Ore.

S.F. Seals Host Leafs Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The fifth-place Seals, nine points away from a playoff position in the Western Hockey League with 16 games to go, welcome second-place Victoria to the Cow Palace tonight.

The Seals, still hopeful of catching fourth-place Seattle, have had their best success this season against Victoria, taking six of 11 from the Maple Leafs and tying them twice.

"The boys are loose," proclaimed Seals' general manager Bud Poile. "They're hot with two straight wins, particularly the overtime over first-place Portland.

"We got two games in hand over Seattle and things are not hopeless," continued Poile. "A win over Victoria and another over Vancouver here Friday and we'll really be flying."

TV Fight Blackout Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Athletic Commission is urging promoters to black out closed-circuit television broadcasts of the Cassius Clay-Ernie Terrell title fight and two prominent sponsors have refused to handle it.

This could mean a boycott of the fight in the country's most populous state, which has more than 18.5 million residents.

The athletic commission said yesterday it opposed the bout because of "Clay's unpatriotic remarks and obvious unwillingness to serve his own country." Also it said New York had refused to license Terrell.

Mrs. Aileen Eaton of Los Angeles said she will not back the TV showing of the heavyweight championship — scheduled for March 29 in Toronto. She has promoted closed-circuit TV showings of each heavyweight championship since the first Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston bout.

In Northern California, Don Chargin said he has turned down an offer to handle the closed-TV showings in San Jose, Oakland, Richmond, San Francisco, Stockton and Sacramento.

Mrs. Eaton said she was avoiding the bout "in deference to the many families who have loved ones fighting and dying in Viet Nam."

The closed-TV rights are owned by Main Bout Inc.

Both Chargin and Mrs. Eaton said other promoters might handle the telecasts.

"The California Athletic Commission members sincerely hope that no promoter in the state of California will lend his good name to this bout in any manner," said a commission letter sent to every licensed promoter.

The letter was signed by Chairman Douglas Hayden and commission members Harry .W Falk Jr., Jules Berman, Alberto C. Diaz and Dan O. Kilroy — the full membership.

Thos Poor Mutts At A Dog Show

It's not only the names they give those show dogs that bug me, it's the things the poor mutts have to do.

You all know by now that Ch. Zeloy Mooremaides Magic, which (you'll find hard to believe) is a wire-haired fox terrier, won the Westminster. This put him up with Ch. Courtenay Flootfoot of Pennyworth and made him better than, among others, Ch. Fezziwig Raggedy Andy or Ch. Aeenchens Poona Dancer.

It was Ambrose Bierce who said a dog is an intelligent four-footed animal who goes around with a sap at the end of his leash and Westminister proves this.

THE POOR dog has to sit there as if he's enjoying himself while some fat old party in a tuxedo probes him over like a housewife at a meat counter. He is not meant to pay attention to the crowd, the other dogs. He should not bite the party getting familiar, shouldn't scour the Madison Square Garden floor for buried bones, or, in short, be have at all like a dog.

A dog doesn't want to do this, believe me. Not even show dogs. Because I happened to be at a hotel right across the street from the Garden at the time of the show and the lobby was full of dogs—and saps.

DOGS LOVE New York. It's full of fire hydrants. And the lobbies are full of potted palms. Believe me, if the judges had been in the lobby the night I was there, they would have disqualified the whole show.

My dog's name is "Duffy." Not "Ch. Uggums Buggums Woogums Duffy of Floy-Floy" but just plain "Duff." Sometimes I call him "Stupid." He doesn't answer to anything anyway.

WHAT THEY should have to really determine a champion dog is contests like trying to see who can tip over the most garbage pails in an hour. Who can get the most meat out of a neighbor's Spam can without cutting his nose.

They ought to have a "working group" exercise to see who can stop the most often in 100 feet to bite fleas. Duffy would win the skunk-chasing contest hands-down.

INSTEAD OF "Obedience trials," how about "disobedience" trials? They should see which dog, when called by his master, can look up the longest to see what's in it for him to obey. The winner will be the one who recognizes instantly he's being asked to take a bath and will slink rapidly off in the other direction.

How about barking at 3 a.m. for volume and duration at another dog? They should have a prize for the dog who can resist house-breaking on the most expensive furniture in the house. Defoliation of prize shrubbery would be another challenge.

I GUARANTEE you Duff would have bit the TV announcer I heard at the Westminister show. Nobody is going to talk about a lady dog like that in Duffy's presence. The guy, who talked as if he had just sat down on a sword, referred to the winning dog as a—come closer—"B--ch." "Are you," he asked superciliously, "going to take the little b--ch home to California?" And you talk about Peyton Place on TV!

REMINDS ME of the night I worked on the New Haven Register and the lady, irate, called up to complain to the sports editor, Dan Mulvey, that she had never seen such language in a family newspaper as in the dog show story. "Haven't you ever heard the word before," countered Mulvey. She got haughty. "Well, yes." she admitted. "But never in connection with a dog!"

It Was To Be Surprise But 'Ol Casey Fooled 'Em All

By MILTON RICHMAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —Casey Stengel was too proud to admit it, openly, anyway, but he also liked the idea that they didn't wait until it might have been too late.

Officially, the garrulous, comical 75-year-old man who has to use a cane now to get around, joined the 103 other immortals in baseball's Hall of Fame yesterday.

But if you drowned out all the Stengelese and listened closely, you heard him confess that he's only a mere mortal after all and that he doesn't expect to live forever.

That particular reference came moments after they sprung the big surprise on him, or thought they did, anyway, by announcing his premature election to the Hall before an assemblage of baseball notables, the press radio and television men at Huggins-Stengel Field.

Holding a royal blue Mets' baseball cap in his hand and trembling ever so slightly with emotion once or twice, Casey's first words were: "Thank you—I guess I should say a thousand thank yous."

TIP-OFF

He then made what for him was a brief speech, immediately after which came the tip-off on how he knew they had hurried to usher him into the Hall.

"I'm not gonna make a big speech," he said, with his wife, Edna at his side. "I'm gonna save my speech for Cooperstown . . . if I'm present."

No one needed an interpreter to explain exactly what Casey meant by those last three words.

He knew they had made an exception in his case by waiving the mandatory five-year wait. He appreciated what had been done and he was human enough to wish to have enjoyed this honor while he was still around.

"I've been so fortunate to be alive," he began another one of his sentences and then typically finished it with an unaccompanied reference to some of the great Yankee players he had managed.

"To get in is an amazing thing," he said of his sudden election. "I never realized it was such a great thing until I talked with some of the other old timers who didn't make it. Like Rube Marquard. Now there was an amazing pitcher. He won so many games. We were talking about the Hall of Fame once and he said to me, 'Cheez, I'd like to be in that thing.'"

Stengel made his brief speech only a few yards away from the entrance to the Mets' clubhouse where he had held sway as manager only a year ago and now they wanted him to move toward the first base bleachers to acknowledge the cheers of the fans.

"Go say hello to the people, Casey," advised one of the Mets' aides.

"Do they know about it yet?" Stengel inquired. "Better tell 'em. They're liable to throw things at me."

In his excitement, Casey had dropped his cane. He never even missed it. He simply hobbled toward the bleachers with Edna right behind him and then evoked an immediate laugh from the fans by announcing:

"I want all you people to realize this is Mrs. Stengel, so don't make any remarks you shouldn't."

Then he walked over toward the third base bleachers, made another short speech and was joined by Yogi Berra, his ex-catcher with the Yankees and now a Met coach.

"This is one thing you didn't know about," Yogi teased, putting his arm around the old man.

"I got wise this morning," Casey countered. "I said something was wrong when they told me to come on out here for something or other and I gave Edna the dickens . . . I had an idea."

Casey, the old fox, fooled them all when all along they thought they were fooling him.

DRAKE OPPONENT

McClymonds Boasts A Balanced Attack

Drake High School's first round opposition in the Tournament of Champions is a team that boasts of all five starters averaging more than 10 points per game.

The team is from McClymonds High School of Oakland, a name that makes other basketball teams shudder before the team even takes to the court, simply because of its past record.

Drake, champ of the Marin Athletic League, will take on the McClymonds Warriors Thursday at 9 p.m., last of four opening day games in the basketball classic at Harmon Gym on the University of California campus in Berkeley.

Why do teams shudder before they even see the McClymonds team? "Only" because that school has won the Tournament of Champions eight times, six of those titles in rapid succession between 1958 and '63. The name McClymonds is on almost every record in the TOC books.

The Warriors lost their first three games of the season and East Bay observers cried, "McClymonds doesn't have it this year." But after winning 16 of its next 18 games, including a 66-65 win over Fremont in the Oakland Athletic League tie-breaking playoff game, McClymonds showed that it does "have it this year," and again will be in the TOC. It will be the 11th appearance in the classic for the Warriors, quite a feat when you consider it will be the 20th year of the tourney's existence.

Center for the 1966 McClymonds team is Tom Bell, a 6-6 senior who averages 12 points per game. At the forwards are Bill Colbert (6-5), a senior who averages 10.5 points per game and Nate Williams, only a sophomore who still has time to grow. Right now he is 6-3½ and averages 13 points a game. Guards for McClymonds are Sam Hill (5-10) a junior, and captain Lee Matthews (5-10), a senior. Hill averages 14 points and Matthews 11.5.

"We don't have a (Jim) Tolliver or (Joe) Ellis this year, but as a team we play really well," said McClymonds coach John Drinkwater, coaching the Warriors for the second year. The stars the coach was referring to were both two-year all-tourney players, Ellis in 1961-62 and Tolliver in 1962-63.

The sixth man for the Warriors is Dick Thomas, a 5-11 guard who spells either Hill or Matthews. Most of the team's rebounding comes from Bell, who averages about 15 per game, while Colbert and Williams each get about 8.

The Warriors' 16-5 win-loss records includes a 9-2 Oakland Athletic League mark.

City Manager From Belvedere Wins Golf Title

Belvedere City Mgr. William L. Cavalli single-handedly earned a name for his city among the state's city managers last month.

Or rather he did it with two hands, both of which seemed to have the feel of the golf club.

With a nine over par score of 82, Cavalli won the annual California City Managers' Golf Tournament held Feb. 23 in Coronado.

"It wasn't very good really," said the Belvedere boss who holds a nine handicap at Peacock Gap. Then he added with a laugh, "but it was good enough. City managers make lousy golfers for some reason."

INCOME TAX FACTS

Interest Deductible If Legally Liable

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, C.P.A.

Interest you pay is deductible if you are legally liable for the debt. You cannot deduct interest you pay for another if you were not legally liable to pay.

Interest is deductible in several places on your tax return, depending on what you use the loan money for, not on the property which secures the loan. For instance, if you borrow money on your home and use it to improve a rental property you own, you can deduct the interest on the Rental Schedule. If you are self-employed and your business borrows money which you use for personal purposes, the interest is not deductible as a business expense on Schedule C, but only as a page 2 deduction if you itemize.

P. J. Wikel

When you buy property or educational services on the installment plan, or use a deferred payment plan of an educational institution for educational services which is provided for a student and the interest is separately stated, you can deduct the interest in the year paid no matter what the rate. If the extra charges for time buying are only identified as "carrying charges" and the interest cannot be determined, you can only deduct the lesser of the following: 6 per cent of the average monthly unpaid balance of your account or the amount of the carrying charges allocable to the year.

To find your average unpaid balance, add the balance of your account at the end of each month in the year and divide by 12. To figure the carrying charges allocable to the year, divide the total carrying charges on the contract by the number of payments to be made. This gives you a carrying charge per payment. Then multiply this by the number of payments you made in the year. You can deduct only the smaller of the two.

Stocks Bounce Back In 'Technical Rally'

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today in a brisk technical rally.

Many of the worst losers of recent weeks snapped back smartly in a recovery move which gathered momentum as the session wore on.

In the absence of exciting news, analysts ascribed the advance to technical conditions, saying that the market was bouncing back from an "oversold" condition.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.5 million shares compared with 10.14 million yesterday.

Motors, chemicals, coppers, rails, tobaccos, electronics and office equipments were prominent in the upturn.

Several of the color television and other electronics issues also snapped back, recovering some of their sharp recent losses.

Aerospace issues were generally higher as were airlines.

In the absence of outstanding news, brokers saw it as a technical recovery.

IBM recouped 7 and Xerox 4 points while Polaroid gained 3. Up 2 or better were Anaconda, Zenith and United Air Lines.

American Motors, up a full point, loomed as the volume leader. Other auto stocks were fractional gainers.

Up a point or more were United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, Santa Fe, Lorillard, Schering, J.I. Case, Magnavox and Fairchild Camera.

Gains of amost 2 were scored by Motorola, Air Products, Nalco Chemical and Du Pont.

Many rails, airlines, tobaccos, electrical equipments, steels and steels and electronics posted fractional gains.

Commercial solvents was off about a point on profit taking. General Dynamics lost a fraction. Texaco and Jersey Standard eased.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, March 9, the 68th day of 1966 with 297 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning star is Venus; the evening stars are Jupiter and Mercury.

American railroad builder and founder of Stanford University, Leland Stanford, was born on this day in 1824.

On this day in history:

In 1832, Abraham Lincoln ran for his first political office, the Illinois legislature, and lost.

In 1862, the ironclad warships Monitor and Merrimac battled four hours off Hampton Roads, Va. The Northern Monitor claimed a moral victory when the Merrimac retreated to Norfolk in the Civil War naval battle.

In 1947, one of the longest strikes in American history ended after 440 days when the United Automobile Workers came to terms with the Case Manufacturing Co., Racine, Wis.

In 1962, 31 miners were killed in a coal mine explosion in West Germany.

A Thought for the Day — Leo Tolstoy said:

"The more is given, the less the people will work for themselves. And the less the work, the more their poverty will increase."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Proper Count Signal Can Help Save The Day, Defensively

In many situations a defender can give the count by signalling high-low to show an even number of cards in a suit.

When he has an odd number of cards in the suit, he plays first low and then high.

Declarer drew to rounds of trumps, and East discarded the deuce of hearts.

South then led out the top spades and gave West his spade trick.

TOURNEY PUZZLE

It all happened in the 1953 national tournament, and Frank Weishbach had to find the right return from the West hand.

If he returned South's doubleton clubs, South would get two club tricks but would eventually lose a heart.

If West returned hearts, South would get two heart tricks, ruff a heart and discard the queen of clubs on dummy's good spade.

The clue came from East's discard of the deuce of hearts.

East could not possibly know at the second trick, when he made this discard, what his partner's problem would be several tricks later.

Still, the deuce was a clue.

CHOICE OF DISCARDS

Since East obviously had no high cards he could discard either a discouraging club or a discouraging heart on the second trump.

At the same time, if possible, he would try to give his partner a count.

If East held six hearts and three clubs, he would play his lowest club to show an odd number of clubs.

If East held five hearts and four clubs, he would play his lowest heart to show an odd number of hearts.

If East had five hearts, as his signal showed, South held three.

Weisbach therefore returned a club, and declarer eventually had to lose a heart trick.

Don't be discouraged if it takes you a couple of minutes to work this out so that you can apply the principle some day in actual play.

It's 13 years since Weisbach played the hand, but he still sweats when he thinks of it.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♡ 6 5
◇ A K Q 8 4
♣ 6 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention.

If partner can bid spades, you plan to raise to game in spades.

Otherwise, you plan to jump to three notrumps at your next turn.

Oysters Win A Lesser Role For State Fair

Marin County supervisors yesterday had a difficult time deciding what the county's exhibit in the state fair should be next fall and whether an exhibit is worth the effort.

They agreed that neither of two proposals made so far is satisfactory.

Artist W. Kenneth Gaffney of Pope Valley, Sonoma County, commissioned to prepare an exhibit for $3,000, last week suggested a booth depicting the West Marin oyster beds. He was asked to come back yesterday with something depicting Richardson Bay.

He proposed a three-dimensional collage of Southern Marin with the Golden Gate Bridge in the foreground.

"This is nothing but a cartoon of Southern Marin," Supervisor Chairman Byron W. Leydecker said.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen apologized profusely to both the artist and Mrs. Marcelle B. McCoy, county fair manager, but confessed he was discouraged. "I'm just going to abstain," he said.

Leydecker questioned the value of a state fair exhibit.

"If this is what the exhibits are like," Leydecker said, "I'm not sure I want to go."

However, he began trying to muster votes for the oyster exhibit. Before that came to a vote, County Administrator Alan Bruce came up with a solution.

"Why not authorize an exhibit on the general theme of Tomales Bay?" he asked.

Supervisors jumped at this, approved it 4-0. Vacationing Supervisor Peter H. Behr was absent.

New Tuberculosis Cases Reported

Four new cases of tuberculosis reported last month bring the year's total to 10 new cases and three reactivations, the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn. reported today.

Half of the new cases have occurred in San Rafael, two during February. Three patients are in the 30s and 40s and two are over 60.

Also stricken last month were a 22-year-old San Anselman and a 33-year-old Tiburon resident.

Peace Corps Exams Slated In San Rafael

Anyone over 17 with no minor dependants may take the test, but first must present an application form, available at any post office, to the tester. The test in concompetitive and is used to determine how the applicant might best be used overseas.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Daktari' Surprise Hit In The Ratings

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —The really surprising smash hit among the new mid-season television series is not "Batman," but rather "Daktari," a weekly one-hour show set in an animal compound in Africa.

"Batman," a 30-minute entry that appears Wednesdays and Thursdays on ABC-TV, was almost predestined to be a popular success, at least temporarily, because of the brilliant promotion job on it.

However, CBS-TV's "Daktari," which is aimed straight at the family trade and is done on a shrewdly simple level, had relatively minor promotion if one compares it with "Batman."

Yet in the latest national ratings, the Thursday episode of "Batman" finished 10th among all shows, while "Daktari," which airs Tuesdays, came in 11th, only four-tenths of a percentage point behind the caped hero.

Strangely, the Wednesday episode of "Batman" fell off to 20th, still a strong entry—but, for the first time since the series weighed in rousingly, giving an indication that there might be sudden truth in predictions that interest in the way-out tone may drop quickly.

It seems clear, in fact, that only continued brilliant promotion will keep "Batman" on top, for, as someone has said, the show is so bad that it is bad.

There is nothing to "Batman" except the word of mouth generated by the promotion, and the frantic desire by the excessively bourgeois segment of the audience to be part of the "in" crowd—which, by rapid calculation, amounts to an exclusive society of some 40 million viewers.

Since "Batman" stories are two-parters, starting on Wednesdays and ending on Thursdays, it is a curiosity that the ratings reveal the conclusions are watched much more than the beginnings.

It is possible that the psychology here is similar to that employed by readers of every mystery and detective novels: They know all the material is done poorly but want to see how it comes out anyway, so they skip most of the early stuff and start with the last chapter.

Anyway, the ratings also reveal that the astoundingly popular Red Skelton finished second among all shows, behind only "Bonanza."

The recent Carol Channing special, meanwhile, came in fifth, while Gene Kelly's one-hour musical tribute to New York landed in the 74th position among 106 entries.

The Wednesday "Batman" episode—20th—was tied in the ratings by "The Fugitive," which is showing its strength over the long haul.

And "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." is more solid than ever, rising to seventh.

Ironically, the Smothers Brothers comedy series on CBS-TV came in a strong 28th, although it is reported due for cancellation by the network. There has, however, been some talk around that the competing ABC-TV organization might be interested in picking up the series.

The new Sammy Davis Jr. series, due at present for a quick axing, once again finished 97th, making clearer than ever that only the presence of Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton on the premiere garnered the high opening ratings for the show.

U.N. Stand Urged On Anti-Semitism

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Coordinating Board of Jewish Organizations, a non-governmental affiliate of the United Nations, has urged that anti-semitism be condemned in any international convention against religious intolerance.

The board sent a letter to Secretary General Thant in connection with the opening of the session of the U.N. Human Rights Commission which is expected to draft a convention against all forms of religious intolerance.

"In consequence of the persistent and pervasive character of the unique form of religious intolerance known as anti-semitism. . .we strongly urge that the international instruments include an article specifically condemning anti-semitism and placing it beyond the pale of organized society," the letter said.

Archbishop Sees Suspects' Photos

SAN FRANCISC (OAP) — Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken picked a photograph from a group presented by police yesterday and said it generally fits the description of a man who attacked him.

The Roman Catholic prelate was knocked down and robbed of his rosary Feb. 26 as he returned to his residence from a nighttime stroll.

Archbishop McGucken, 64, picked the picture from a stack of 25.

"The man generally fits the general description of the man who attacked me," he said.

Police refused to disclose the man's name but said he already had admitted 16 strong arm robberies in the Pacific Heights area.

Irish Police Set Guards On Britons

DUBLIN (AP)—Strong police guards were posted at the British Embassy and other potential targets today to forestall new attacks by the anti-British demonstrators who blew up the Nelson Monument in the heart of Dublin.

Police guarded the homes of embassy staff members and the Phoenix Park monument commemorating the Duke of Wellington, Britain's victor over the French at the Battle of Waterloo.

Detectives said at least eight men have been brought in for questioning about the explosion early yesterday which brought down the 20-foot statue of the hero of Trafalgar and more than half of the 114-foot column which supported it.

Constitution Revision Study Gets Marin Backing

Revision of the California Constitution should be considered during the special session of the Legislature in the opinion of Marin's two legislators.

"It is incumbent on the governor to put the matters before the Legislature," said Senate Minority Leader John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

"The Constitution Revision Commission worked diligently for more than two years. The people ought to be given the opportunity to express themselves on the proposed revisions."

"The occasion is here," said Assemblyman William T. Bagley. In my opinion, we ought to move on it this year. There is no question about the caliber of the commission which worked on the revisions."

Among major changes recommended in the Constitution are annual sessions of the legislature and permitting legislators to set their own salaries by statute rather than having salaries (at present $6,000 per year) frozen into the Constitution.

It takes two-thirds vote of each house of the Legislature to approve revisions or amendments to the Constitution. Then such revisions or amendments must get a majority vote of the people before becoming part of the Constitution.

Traffic Petition Slated In Ross

A petition asking Ross Town Council to consider action to discourage the use of Shady Lane by commuter traffic will be presented at a meeting of the council tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall.

Expected to have more than 100 signatures, the petition will make several recommendations to the council, including a request that members take a close look at how a study of traffic patterns for Sir Francis Drake Boulevard can help residents of the lane.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion on the Corte Madera Flood Control Project, and ordinances concerning a community antenna system, parking, and business license fees.

Water Pollution Transfer Vetoed

Any revision in the boundaries of the Bay Area Water Quality Control Board's territory would have to be made by the State Legislature.

In its battle over septic tank requirements with the board, the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked if the county might be transferred entirely to the North Counties Water Quality Control Board.

Paul R. Bonderson, executive officer of the over-riding State Water Quality Control Board, reported that any boundary revision would have to be done through legislative amendment. The state board has no power to make such a change, he said.

Bigger Role By Administrators Of Schools Are Held Threatening

DAVIS—Professional writings favoring more decision-making by the school administrator and less by the school board and staff are posing threats to the democratic basis of U.S. public education.

John F. Gallagher, political scientist at the University of California, Davis, reaches this conclusion after analyzing professional writings on public school administration, primarily from the American Assn. for School Administrators.

Gallagher says that while professional literature endorses the traditional view of popularly directed education, it nevertheless supports efforts to consolidate more decision-making with the school superintendent under the guise that he is a professional and more qualified than the school board layman.

The professor points out that the writings urge democratic action in policy decision by which is meant affording staff members the opportunity to participate in matters affecting them. The argument is advanced that democratic administration is in the American tradition, contributes to the development of staff unity and morale, encourages creative thinking, and facilitates policy administration.

Following this premise, however, the writings short-circuit the democratic appeal. They encourage channeling of all information and recommendations through the superintendent who is charged with business management as well as the instructional program.

The superintendent decides what issues are presented to the board and when to present them. The board's "responsibility is consistently described as that of responding to recommendations from the superintendent."

For example, the board may only accept or reject pay scales, employees, and budgets recommended by the superintendent and no effort is made to formulate alternative proposals.

The writings have failed, explains Gallagher, to justify professional status for the superintendent, the single thread of evidence that would allow an administrator a predominant role in policy matters. He says the public should be wary of proposals that suggest a larger decision-making role for the superintendent until the literature successfully demonstrates his superiority over laymen in public school decision-making.

Dangerous Moose

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Annie Lambert, a maid, filed a $15,744 suit for damages against her employer, claiming that while she was polishing a table top, amoose head fell off a wall and knocked her out.

Lighthouse Has A Dark History

PESCADERO, Calif. (AP)—Pigeon Point Lighthouse sweeps a million candlepower beam 18 miles to sea, but one segment of its own history remains dark:

Was its lens once buried in the sands of an Atlantic beach to prevent its destruction during the Civil War?

There's no question about the origin of the beautiful, bronze-mounted revolving lens with its 1,008 pieces of hand polished glass.

It was built by Henry LePaute in Paris, and went into service Nov. 15, 1872, at Pigeon Point, where San Mateo County thumbs a rocky nose at the Pacific.

A 1939 WPA guidebook of California states: "The powerful lens was used first on the New England and later on the South Atlantic coast where it was buried in the sand during the Civil War according to one story to keep it from falling into Confederate hands."

The San Mateo Historical Society dug from its May 1951 "La Peninsula" this reference: "Its (Pigeon Point's) revolving lens came from Cape Hatteras, N.C., where it had first served to replace a light that the Confederates removed during the Civil War in order to hamper the operations of the U.S. Navy."

Edward Rowe Snow in his "Famous Lighthouses of America" says the lens came "from Ft. Sumter Light, Charleston, S.C., where it had been buried on Charleston Beach to prevent its destruction during the war between the North and the South." Snow adds that the lens was dug out of the sand and shipped around Cape Horn to Pigeon Point.

A leaflet handed out to visitors by the U.S. Coast Guard, which operate the station today, has a reference to the Ft. Sumter story crossed out.

"We believe the story has no basis in fact," says WO James Boyd of the 12th Coast Guard District.

Old newspapers of San Francisco, 50 miles to the north, shed no light on the mystery. Neither did a search by a California state librarian of U.S. Treasury reports from 1816 to 1866 and from 1872 to 1873.

But it is known that 164 lights were forcibly discontinued during the Civil War on southern coasts, according to the Coast Guard's "Historically Famous Lighthouses."

The lens' past may be cloudy, but its prisms gleam. Four Coast Guardsmen—Loid C. Shipp is the officer in charge — see to that.

Every day, they clean and polish the racks of thick glass that focus light of a singde 1,000-watt bulb into a far-reaching beam.

The electric bulb and a motor have replaced oil-burning wicks and a weight-powered clockwork originally used in the light.

Pigeon Point took its name from the clipper ship Carrier Pigeon, which was wrecked there in 1852. It had been called Whale Point by its first known inhabitants, Portguese whalers who built 13 cottages and two warehouses there.

The lighthouse is a 115-foot white masonry tower whose top rises 148 feet above the booming surf. Congress appropriated $20,000 to buy the original Spanish grant of the site. Construction cost $125,000.

Pigeon Point's piercing light —now combined with a foghorn and a radio beacon—has helped guide many a ship away from danger at night or during periods of low visibility.

Ticket Giver Is Battered

BEIRUT (AP) — Drivers in Lebanon, where the streets resemble a race track gone berserk, don't accept traffic tickets lightly.

The latest victim of traffic temper, according to newspaper reports, was a policeman in the northern city of Tripoli who was rushed to hospital with head injuries and a broken jaw after he tried to issue a ticket.

The newspapers said the policeman stopped a car driving the wrong way on a one-way street and pulled out his ticket book, when the car door opened. The driver and three or four passengers jumped out and beat him unconscious.

Sitting in the back seat, the papers charged, was a member of Parliament, who watched the beating "with apparent approval."

A military court began an investigation of the case.

Too Many Alarms Spoil The Dinner

ST. PETERSBERG, Fla. (AP) — A fire—or a false alarm—is likely to burn up the epicures at Fire Station 2 if the gong finds them at table.

Charlie Hobbs and Earl Huff, two of Station 2's crew, are avid amateur chefs and serve everything from snacks to banquets prepared from groceries their comrades buy. All-out meals are served on the stationhouse ping-pong table.

Ex-Wives Seem Not To Need Alimony Badly

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The Circuit Court clerk has $2,500 which wives didn't claim for alimony and child support.

Money totaling $1,354.85, a portion of the $2,243.35 which has been accumulating as far back as 1921, will be turned over to the state.

Funds not claimed within seven years become payable to the state.

Circuit Clerk J. Harold Bolles found the money was paid by 39 parties. The sums range from $1 to $300.

By contacting lawyers, relatives and the telephone directories, Bolles was able to find six persons who forgot to pick up their money.

Constitutional Amendment On Succession Moves Near

By DON BACON
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—The proposed 25th Amendment to the Constitution—clarifying the uncertainties of presidential succession—is expected to be ratified by the required number of states in about a year.

West Virginia became the 15th state to approve the amendment, in January. Ratification is needed from 23 more states before the 38 required for adoption is attained.

Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), one of the chief sponsors of the proposal when it was before Congress last year, has been keeping close tabs on its progress through the state legislatures.

According to Bayh, 15 state legislatures meet in regular session this year, five state legislatures may meet in special session, and 15 state legislatures convene in 1967.

Thus, final adoption of the succession amendment is impossible in 1966, but the goal may be so close that legislatures will rush to ratify it in 1967.

The amendment would set up orderly procedures for the succession of the vice president to the presidency, for the selection by Congress of a new vice president to fill the vacancy created by succession, and for the temporary takeover by the vice president of the presidential duties whenever the president declares his inability to function. None of the conditions is provided for in detail in the original constitution.

Bayh has been working with the American Bar Assn. and the ABA's junior bar conference in a program to keep state legislators from losing interest in the amendment. Although the proposal has been strongly endorsed by most legal organizations, jurists and President Lyndon B. Johnson, there is danger that states will defer consideration while they take up seemingly more pressing matters.

The ABA's junior bar conference, headed by John Feerick, a New York lawyer, has been carrying on a campaign to inform state legislators about the amendment, and to counter criticism of it.

Feerick and his colleagues recently rushed to put out a small fire started by a South Carolina lawyer. The South Carolinian had argued in a state law review publication against passage of the measure, opposing specifically the provisions dealing with succession of the vice president. Copies of the article later showed up in the mailboxes of members of the Arkansas legislature.

Feerick, the author of a book on presidential succession, asked the South Carolina law review for space to write a rebuttal, and got it. Meanwhile, other ABA members were busy in Arkansas answering the charges put forth in the original article.

The Arkansas legislature ratified the amendment without difficulty. South Carolina is due to consider it this year.

The only other state causin the proponents any worry has been Colorado, where the state senate last year rejected the amendment after it had passed the house. After spadework by Colorado's two U.S. senators and others, the amendment came before the state senate again, and this time passed. Now house passage is again required.

The following states have already ratified the Bayh amendment: Nebraska, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Massachussets, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Arizona, Michigan, Indiana, California, Arkansas, New Jersey, Delaware, Utah and West Virginia.

Fire Engine Given To Nicaragua Town

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Engine No. 1, a 30-year veteran of many fires and rescue calls in suburban Shorewood, is being readied for a new career in Central America.

The ancient red fire engine has been given to Matagalpa, Nicaragua, whose 15,000 residents have organized a fire department but have no modern equipment.

Shorewood will replace the vehicle with a new $26,000 machine.

NOT TOO OLD FOR PEACE WORK

Robert Marlin, 80, a retired furrier turned sculptor, says he is not too old to join the peace effort. He's due in Chicago soon to be trained by the Volunteers in Service to America, a domestic version of the Peace Corps. Marlin underwent a special physical examination last fall to qualify. He will teach sculpture to under-privileged children.

Oldsters Still Can Learn A Lot

SAN FRANCISCO — You can teach an old dog new tricks, if he wants to learn, and oldsters today are not only learning more than ever before but enjoying it, according to Edwin A. Lee, dean emeritus, of the UCLA School of Education.

Speaking at an American Medical Assn. conference here on aging and long-term care, Lee suggested that many people are continuing their education in later life for the sheer joy of learning, rather than under social or economic necessity.

"It has been estimated that the enrollment in public school adult education exceeds that of high schools and junior colleges," he said. "Add to these the extension programs of the state colleges, and it becomes clear that no adult wishing to learn is denied ample opportunity to improve himself."

Island Field Study Area Set By U.C.

SANTA BARBARA — Permission to operate a field station for teaching and research in the natural sciences on rugged Santa Cruz Island has been granted to the University of California by the Santa Cruz Island Co.

The station will be under the jurisdiction of the university's Santa Barbara campus which has been administering preliminary field station operations on the island.

A long - term contractual agreement allowing access to 54,488 of the island's 60,741 acres is being made between the University Regents and the Santa Cruz Island Co.

The station has been and will continue to be made available for use by all nine campuses of the university for teaching and research in marine and field biology, archaeology, geology and paleontology, forestry, agronomy and entomology.

The field station is envisioned as a relatively small operation, with a maximum of 15 to 20 persons on the island at any single time.

At the present time, visiting field parties sleep and dine in a small permanent facility in the central valley. Separate sleeping quarters and a simple laboratory will be constructed sometime in the near future. Electric power, water and heavy equipment for operation of the station are supplied as a gift by the Santa Cruz Island Co.

Transportation to the island on a space-available basis has been provided by the U.S. Navy which shuttles a 65-foot craft three times a week between the island and the Pacific Missile Range at Point Mugu in support of the Navy's microwave relay facility established on the island as part of the space program.

Animal Lovers Win Expensive War On Traps

JOHANNESBERG, South Africa (AP)—Animal lovers in Durban, on South Africa's east coast, planned to buy the city out of animal traps and throw them in the sea.

They wanted 1,500 people each to give 10 shillings ($1.40) so they could buy all the animal traps for sale in the city.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals persuaded two of the major importers of traps not to bring any more into the country and to sell all they had on hand to the SPCA at cost price.

"We want to clear our house of these foul instruments," said SPCA chairman C. R. Stuart.

Animals caught in traps had torn their legs off in their efforts to free themselves, he said angrily.

California Engineer Believes There Is Captain Kidd Treasure

By WILLIAM J. STANFIELD
United Press International

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) —To most people, a search for a legendary $30 million treasure buried by Captain Kidd would be a romantic dream, but for a Bakersfield geologist it's strictly business.

George R. LaPerle, president of Western Continental Operating Co., says he and a handful of business associates plan to use modern mining techniques to uncover the treasure, if it really exists, on Oak Island off the coast of Nova Scotia.

The island is owned by M. S. Chappel of Sydney, N.S. Its 275 acres have been scoured and bored repeatedly by generations of treasure seekers spurred by a 150-year-old legend that Captain Kidd, or some other pirate, buried his booty there.

LaPerle is convinced the treasure exists. He cites records of oil drilling firms which have drilled through oak, then through metal, including gold, then through oak again, suggesting a buried chest. Pieces of parchment have turned up in the drill bits, LaPerle said.

"It's a most remarkably concealed treasure," LaPerle said.

Finding it in the past has been complicated by a series of man-made tunnels leading off from a shaft known as "the money pit." Many of the tunnels are deliberately contrived booby traps, LaPerle said, including some flood tunnels connected directly to the sea.

Four men died Aug. 17, 1965, when their leader, Robert Restall, 59, fell into a carbon-monoxide-filled shaft and three others, including his son, Robert Jr., 24, tried to rescue him.

LaPerle said he and his friends have purchased controlling interests in the treasure rights from Restall's widow and they plan to assault the island with heavy equipment and hydraulic sluicing machinery before the end of the year.

A three-yard clam shell scoop will excavate the entire pit area where the treasure is believed buried and then the material will be sluiced.

The four major participants in the project are LaPerle, Robert Dunfield, Canoga Park, Los Angeles County; Jack Nethercutt of Beverly Hills, Los Angeles County; and Dan Blankenship, of Miami, Fla. Mrs. Restall retained a small percentage of the operation.

LaPerle said he and the three other major participants have invested about $35,000 in the project so far.

Are they anxious to get started?

Con Artists Use New Ruse

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The "Hidden Treasure" ruse is the latest con game technique being used in Champaign.

The man stops a victim on the street, explains that he has forgotten his eye glasses and asks the victim to read a letter he has received.

The letter contains information of $500 cached somewhere in the city.

From this point, the game takes several variations.

Police Sgt. William V. Bates says the standard one is an offer to share the windfall if the victim will put up an amount of cash as "good faith."

Pot-Hunters Say Electronics Is Good For Finds

OXFORD, England (AP) — The Research Laboratory for Archaeology and Art at Oxford University has announced a new electronic device that enables archaeologists to locate buried objects without having to dig for them.

The latest device, a gradiometer, is described by J. C. Alldred in the laboratory's bulletin, Archaemetry.

It uses two fluxgate detectors at each end of a vertical staff suspended from a horizontal pole carried on the shoulders of two operators.

The instrument has already located 10 Roman kilns in field trials at Mancetter, Warwickshire.

The now widely used proton magnetometer, Alldred wrote, has the advantage of being affected by magnetic storms, electric trains and passing cars.

Some Brief Therapy Being Used

LOS ANGELES—A 10 to 20 minute visit with a psychiatrist plus a tranquilizer may be just as effective for many mental patients as the traditional time-consuming office psychotherapy.

A four-year study at the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute of this "brief contact therapy" has been carried out by Drs. Ronald R. Koegler, Edward W. Forgy, Norman W. Brill and Leon J. Epstein.

The investigators emphasized that the new "brief contact therapy" in no way replaces the need for long-term, insight-producing psychotherapy in those cases where such therapy is indicated. It is just another method of therapy which appears to work well with many patients, they said.

They found that many psychiatric patients responded well when seen every week or so for 10 to 20 minutes only and usually given a tranquilizer. They often seemed to make as much progress as patients receiving the usual 50-minute psychotherapy session program.

Marked improvement was maintained for 10 to 18 months after treatment was discontinued, according to follow-up studies. Average period of treatment was four months.

The time-saving arrangement has enabled the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Clinic to handle more patients. Many such patients might have been delayed in receiving treatment.

ONE-WINGED PELICAN GETS AROUND

Special Cells Patrol Body Against Germs

LOS ANGELES — Highly specialized defense cells patrol our bodies and largely determine our resistance to a host of germs that are constantly invading our bodies and challenging their defenses.

Dr Charles G. Cradock of the UCLA Medical School has been charting these lines of defense in his laboratory. Working with him are Dr. Alan Winkelstein, Dr. Yoshihiko Matsuyuki, Dr. John S. Lawrence, Robert Yelenosky and Mary Baker.

At a recent meeting of the Western Assn. of Physicians, Dr. Craddock presented a picture which shows how these defender cells may function. The picture is a composite gleaned from many research laboratories throughout the world.

Two types of cells are mainly involved: long-lived white biood cells known as lymphocytes and short-lived lymphoid cells originating in the bone marrow and thymus. Much has been learned about the long-lived lymphocytes in recent years, but the role of the short-lived cells remains something of a puzzle.

The defense cells move throughout the body in a system which enables them to meet challenges quickly anywhere in the body. Recognition of the "enemy" is based upon a characteristic "uniform" of the invading germ. The "uniform" is a unique protein characteristic of each germ and is known as antigen.

Identification of the antigen puts the defense mechanism on the "wartime footing." Follicles in the lymph glands, which are the bases of the defense mechanism, expand rapidly. In response to antigen, the long-lived lymphocytes start production of antibodies specifically tailored to destroy a particular type of germ.

Evidence from Craddock's laboratory has suggested that the short-lived cells may have an important role in capturing and processing antigen. Thus specifications for particular antibodies specifically tailored to destroy a particular type of germ.

Evidence from Craddock's laboratory has suggested that the short-lived cells may have an important role in capturing and processing antigen. Thus specifications for particular anti-bodies are passed on to the long - lived lymphocytes. Without this initial processing of antigen, antibody is not made.

Woman Driver Has An Excuse For Her Ticket

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Norma Jean Knight had an eight-pound alibi when she appeared in court to answer a traffic ticket.

Mrs. Knight, 18, was charged with sideswiping a car.

"The pains kept getting worse every block," she said. "I put on my lights, sped up and started honking the horn."

Then came the accident. She wasn't hurt, but was sped to a hospital where her eight-pound baby girl was born.

Centenarian Sees If He's Eligible

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Will Mullins came to the Social Security office recently to see if he could begin collecting some benefits. He's 102.

Mullins, who held his last full-time job in 1946 at 82, apparently didn't know about Social Security until a relative told him about it.

Mullins has 11 children — eight of them are still living. He worked most of his life at a sawmill near Macon, Ga. He lives with his daughter in Akron.

Wormy Pets Linked To Infections

SAN FRANCISCO—A new and urgent reason to deworm puppies and kittens — to protect children against eye infections —has been disclosed by physicians at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center.

U.C. ophthalmologists described a six-year-old girl whose case leads them to believe that certain eye disorders may be caused by household pets.

The girl had suffered blurred vision in her left eye for a year before her first examination at the U.C. eye clinic. Physicians found a large number of tiny snowball-like spots near the retina, but only after the child died from other causes were they able to establish a definite diagnosis of the disease which was caused by a single larva of the common dog round worm.

The eye specialist, Drs. Michael J. Hogan, Samuel J. Kimura and William H. Spencer, said that "more attention should be devoted to this eye problem by those in the public health field who are concerned with chronic disease."

It is also the duty of doctors and veterinarians alike, they said, to warn patients and pet owners of the danger of not deworming puppies and kittens. "Children should be kept out of kitten sandboxes," they concluded.

Little Town Is Tucked Away To Aid Mental Handicapped

By RICHARD W. LAY
United Press International

PALATINE, Ill. (UPI) — Tucked away in the gently rolling countryside just outside of Chicago is a community with a population of 83. It has no taverns, no drag strips, and no police force.

Its atmosphere is unusually quiet. Its residents seldom, if ever, venture outside its limits. It is believed to be unique.

It is called Little City—founded with the hope that what goes on there will provide new ideas on the care and treatment of the mentally handicapped.

On the 60 acres that make up Little City the residents—mostly children—learn to live, work and play in the non-competitive atmosphere which the professional staff at Little City feels is best suited to their needs.

Founded in 1958, the experiment is designed to remove from the path of the mentally handicapped those pressures of modern society with which they are unable to cope.

"At Little City, they are given their first chance to learn to live in the complex, difficult world they've been born into," said Miss Bette Kurtzman, director of community relations.

The aim is the rehabilitation of the community's residents to the extent that they can lead productive lives in a normal society.

But, Miss Kurtzman said, some may remain for life.

The ages of the residents range from six to 33. They live in 10 ranch style buildings. They are assigned to a cottage on the basis of degree of mental retardation.

A typical cottage, Miss Kurtzman said, accommodates 17 residents and their house parents.

Here the child learns to adjust to his new surroundings and cottage-mates at his own unhurried pace, participating in the daily routine of maintaining the cottage.

Little City maintains schools for the children and provides a trained staff of 65.

Children are given vocational training through professionally staffed schools.

The community's schools attempt first to teach a student health, safety, and social adjustment. Later come language instruction, music appreciation and simple arithmetic.

Further development includes vocational training with simple office work and working on the Little City newspaper.

The latest planned addition to the community's vocational training program is a poultry and egg farm, completely run by the children.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, chairman of the scientific advisory board of Little City Foundation, said the project will be the first in this country. "Research on this type of vocational education is sorely needed in the field of mental retardation," he said.

Most of those enrolled in the school are on scholarships. Only one or two are now paying the $420 per month tuition charge, Miss Kurtzman said.

"No child is turned away because of lack of funds," Miss Kurtzman said, "but, there must be an opening."

Student Sculptors Try Hands At Giant Pizza

BERKELEY — Student sculptors at the University of California's Berkeley campus chose a unique work of art for their final fall semester project: a 25-square-foot pizza.

This gigantic gourmet approach to art was baked in a new gas kiln that is normally used for burning wax models out of plaster molds prior to casting metal sculpture.

The event, which undoubtedly created a "first" in the world of art, also blazed new trails in student - faculty relations, since faculty artists were invited to help consume the masterpiece.

Lowell Pepper, the student organizing the event, said the result may be some sort of pop-art, since the aesthetic rewards were far from abstract. He added this was done to celebrate the semester's final days of classes, and also to inaugurate the new and improved kiln acquired by the Department of Art.

The idea was cooked up in a graduate sculpture seminar taught by Assistant Professor Harold Paris.

XB70A Reaches Top Speed And Altitude

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The No. 2 XB70A research plane has reached a speed of 2,000 miles an hour at 70,000 feet altitude for the third time.

Alvin S. White piloted the aircraft with copilot Joseph F. Cotton. The flight was made to test the handling characteristics at three times the speed of sound and to study the effects of 600-degree air-friction heat on the skin of the plane.

Expert On Population Warns That Earth Space Running Out

LOS ANGELES — If the present rate of population growth continues, all available space on earth will eventually be exhausted, a population expert declared recently.

The dire prediction was made by Philip M. Hauser, director of the Population Research and Training Center of the University of Chicago, who estimated that by the year 2000 the world's population will have swelled from 3.3 billion to 7.5 billion. Since "it is wishful thinking to expect that human fertility will ever decrease," he emphasized that "something has got to give." Some experts he suggested, have been eyeing outer space as a way out solution.

Hauser pointed to better sanitation and medical progress, resulting in a decreased mortality rate, as responsible for the paradoxical problem of too many people and concluded that we must either 'increase the death rate or decrease the birth rate."

Lady Dhanvathi Rama Rau, president of the International Federation of Planned Parenthood and wife of India's former ambassador to the United States said that because "the food supply of the world is not keeping pace with need" the problem facing the world today is hunger.

The comments came at a recent UCLA conference on birth control.

"For five years now," she reported, "there has been no increase in the world agricultural production per capita. Forty per cent of the total world population today lives on the edge of starvation." To feed adequately the population of 2000 A.D., the world's food supply will have to be trebled she claimed.

"According to family planning experts, more than 1100 babies are born in India every hour," said Lady Rama Rau. The birth rate in one year adds up to about 12 million, which is the population of Australia.

In her opinion "the prospect for the future is a grim one. Can we any more turn our faces away from the concept of family planning when the alternative is starvation or death?"

Noise levels, lack of privacy and an increased competition for the rewards that society has to offer are all stress factors of overcrowded conditions, explained Dr. Judd Marmor, UCLA psychiatrist and chief of the division of psychiatry at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center. "All this leads to social disorganization such as increases in irritability, competition, homicide, mass violence, child beating and neglect."

Winds that blow across the world are called by many names: cyclone, typhoon, monsoon, tornado, sirocco, chinook, williwaw and cocked-eyed bob.

Variety Of Things Happen To Old Car License Plates

NEW YORK (UPI) —What happens to old license plates?

In 28 states and the District of Columbia, plates are changed annually. In 22 other states, plates may stay on vehicles for several years, with validation tags or stickers issued periodically.

Eventually, however, all 136,310,000 license plates now on cars, trucks and buses will come off. What happens then?

If your plates are still valid and you are moving out of state, junking your car, or for some other reason no longer need them, some states require that you return the plates. If you sell a vehicle with still-valid plates, laws in some states require that the license states stay with the car or truck. In other jurisdictions, you may remove the plates and transfer them to another vehicle after notifying the proper authorities.

But even in states where license plates remain government property while valid, no one seems to care what you do with an expired plate.

Some people, reports the New Hempshire motor vehicle commissioner, use them "as a replacement for broken glass or to mend their chicken coops."

In the 17 states which now issue reflective "safety" tags, car owners have found that strips snipped from old plates make fine homemade reflectors. Visible in the headlights of an oncoming car at 1,500 feet, these reflectors are used to mark roadside fence posts, trees and mail boxes. Affixed to stakes, such reflective license plate strips also can be used to delineate driveway openings.

Expert Denies Claims Of 'Brain Drain'

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The so-called "brain drain" of top students from all parts of the nation to the East is a fallacy according to a leading educator.

Doctor Hans Rosenhaupt, director of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, said a study based on 2,500 Woodrow Wilson fellows showed most of them returned home after completing graduate study.

New Swap Idea Used By Firms On Wall Street

CHICAGO (AP)—Swap stock is a new investment game being played in the investment fund field.

Commerce Clearing House says in recent years the new technique involves an "exchange fund" instead of cash for trading its own shares of stock for acceptable securities held by investors.

Gain or loss is recognized when the investor withdraws from the fund or when his shares are redeemed by the fund for cash or other securities.

The exchange fund, under regulations, must distribute to its shareholders at least 90 per cent of its net investment income for a taxable year, either in cash of in the fund's shares.

Bicycle Is Still Vital To Transportation

By PAUL R. ALLERUP
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — Only in America is the bicycle a plaything, the province of children. Almost everywhere else in the world, it is a vital mode of transportation.

And in the world today, there are an estimated 154 million bicycles in use.

In Britain, for a starter, the bicycle people claim there are least 10 million spinning their way around the United Kingdom. If there were no bicycles here a lot of country mail (and some babies) would be delivered late, a lot fewer policemen would complete their rounds, a lot of schoolboys including the young men of Oxford and Cambridge, would have a devil of a time getting to their classes.

And many a peer or parliamentarian would lose face with his constitutents and forego an occasional splash in the nation's newspapers, shown wheeling solemnly through London traffic to the House of Commons on a bike.

But the familiar two wheels held together by a frame are an important form of transport in most of Europe and the basic one in vast regions of emerging Africa. People literally would starve, commerce would suffer and populations would be immobilized over great tracts of such African countries as Malawi, Zambia and Rhodesia if there were no bikes or an equally simple and cheap substitute.

Europe's dependency on the bicycle has diminished in recent years but far from disappeared. To some extent — after a decline in the first postwar years which brought greater prosperity and more elegant and faster means of travel — the bicycle is beginning to come back.

More and more Europeans are finding that the cars they bought as their pocketbooks fattened tend to be immobilized in traffic jams. So they go back to the bike to do their city shopping, traveling to jobs, or just going for a spin in the nearby countryside.

For the African in the mass the bicycle is a necessity. It also in parts of Africa is a class symbol. No self respecting white dweller in a South African city would ride a bike (except for sport) unless he were desperate. The bicycle there is the transport of the country's negro population.

In the countryside or "outback" the bike is pretty nearly king of the road and certainly king of the lanes. Natives in these areas take great pride in their two-wheelers and are apt to decorate them gaudily with mirrors, head and tail lamps, multi - colored reflectors and mudguards. They shine their saddles and bedeck them with symbols from animal tails to native chiefs' headdress feathers. From their remote kraals African men sometimes transport their families as well as goods for sale or barter.

A United Press International correspondent swears he encountered one African sweating along through the dust recently with a baby sitting on a crude crossboard over the front wheel, papa himself in the saddle with another baby clinging to his back, and momma on another crude seat behind him with still another tot strapped to her back!

In the more sophisticated areas of Africa, as in South Africa, the bicycle becomes more of a vehicle for the children, or for sport or exercise, than of a necessity. And as is true in Europe and Britain more and more former pedal pushers have switched to motorized bicycles.

Prosperious or not—and they are among the most prosperous people in the world these days —the West Germans have not deserted the bicycle. The country's Association of Bicycle and Motorcycle Manufacturers estimates that at the start of this year 76 per cent of all West German households owned at the start of this year 76 per cent of all West German households owned at least one bike. The industry says there are 20.5 million of them in use in the country.

There was a time when the bicycle in Germany was "the transport of the proletariat." Not any more. The dignified man you see pushing himself carefully through Bonn's traffic may be a government official, a banker, a highly-paid chemist —or a grocery clerk.

Bicycles in Germany were never a child's plaything. When a young person was given or could buy a bike, he was usually old enough to start looking for work, if he wasn't working already. The bicycle was for work, for shopping, for short family trips.

After the last war, when most of the bicycles were worn out through lack of replacement, there was a boom in manufacture. Then came the pattern, as Germans prospered, of putting away the bike and getting a Volkswagen, and perhaps later a larger, four-door car. But the traffic jams have brought out the bicycles again.

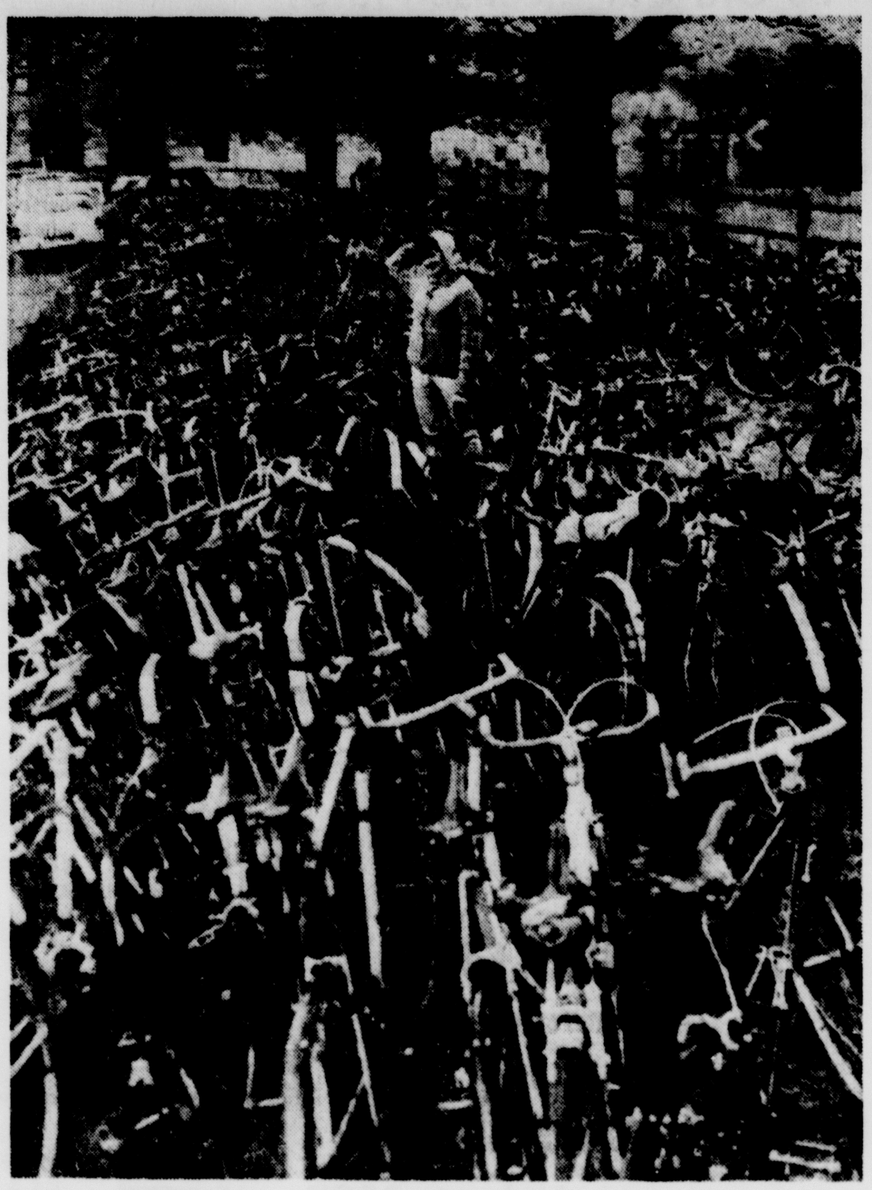
In Germany as in most of Europe the importance of the bicycle as part of daily life also made it a center of sports interest. Bicycle racing, long past its heyday in America, remains a top sport in much of Europe.

Perhaps of all European countries Denmark has been best known as "the land of bicycles." Thousands of tourists down the years have taken home their snapshots of Copenhagen streets jammed with its rush hour bicycles. It is still popular transport in Denmark but has fallen off in recent years as THE means of travel.

There are signs, however, that the bicycle may come full circle in Denmark because, like all other Western countries, it has an increasing traffic problem and especially, in cities, a parking problem.

The saddest report on bicycles received in this survey came from UPI's Middle East Manager in Beirut who said: "Lebanon, with more cars per capita than any other Middle Eastern country, relegates the lowly bicycle to delivery boys and messengers.

Here, few students use them and children seldom want them."



MANY AROUND—The lowly bicycle is still an important means of transportation in many areas of the world and even in the richer nations, the bicycle is becoming popular once again as traffic jams get bigger. Here, a girl searches for her bike among the dozens lined up for the cycle race in London.

Hospital Aides Invent Better Movable Bed

CHATANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A movable hospital bed that jacks up like a barber's chair makes life easier for patients and volunteer workers at Memorial Hospital.

With a simple pumping motion of the foot, the rolling stretcher's level may be changed to parallel the patient's bed, the X-ray table or the operating table.

Coworkers of Mrs. N. B. Hargraves Jr., a member of the hospital's Women's Auxiliary, insist that the stretcher was her idea and her specifications led to its manufacture.

Mrs. Hargraves told a stretcher maker what she wanted. The firm made one. It's been so successful, the Pink Ladies have ordered another.

On the gate of the notorious Dachau death camp, the Nazi wrote "Work makes men free."

Stretched Out Jet Held Answer To Cheap Long Distance Air Trips

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "SST" stands for the glamorous supersonic transport, but the initials that may mean more to the traveling public are "SJ."

They stand for "stretched jets"—elongated versions of today's subsonic jets. They hold a promise of lower fares, perhaps $100 to cross the Atlantic on long-range flights, and as such they may bring an economic revolution to air travel just as the SST will bring a technical revolution.

The stretched jet is simply a regular jetliner with an additional section of fuselage to increase the seating capacity. Douglas already is building a long-bodied DC8 and has 16 firm orders for the new giant. It will carry 280 passengers instead of the conventional DC8's 190.

Boeing has somewhat more modest plans for stretching its famed 707. A radical stretch-out, such as Douglas is doing with the DC8, has been ruled out for the 707. But Boeing is offering a slightly larger version of the intercontinental model of the 707 which will seat upwards of 200.

Britain's iggest jet, the VC-10, is being offered in a 265-seat version which might be called the "padded plane." Instead of lengthening the fuselage, engineers have put windows in the lower cargo compartment—something like the old Boeing Stratocruiser with the cocktail lounge in the belly.

Behind the stretched jet planning is the realization that fares could be lowered, particularly on well-patronized transcontinental and overseas trips, if seating capacity were increased. An airline can make money on a long flight with a jet only half-full, or even less than half-full. The profits really soar when all seats are occupied and the bigger the capacity, the blacker the ink, the greater the possible fare reduction.

Exactly how much of a fare reduction is possible is still being kicked around by airline economists. But some carriers figure they could reduce the coast-to-coast fare to as low as $75 one-way and the Transatlantic fare down to $100.

To many industry officials, the stretched jet makes more sense than the prospect of operating a civilian version of the C5A. This is the monster military transport approved by President Lyndon B. Johnson, which is conceivably adaptable to commercial use.

The plane will haul at least 500 passengers and probably up to 700.

At least one U.S. airline, Pan American World Airways, is reported to be taking a serious look at the C5A as a plane that could earn its keep with a $75 fare between New York and London. But Pan American and any other airlines considering such an enormous aircraft also will be taking a look at inherent disadvantages, starting with the fact that the stretched jet will be available a lot sooner.

There there is the unhappy headache of dispatching a plane with 700 passengers. There is not an airport in the world with facilities capable of handling so large an individual plane-load. One airline official has estimated that even if new and larger counter and baggage facilities were built, it still would take 30 minutes to an hour longer than at present to get passengers aboard.

Safety is another problem.

Obviously, a civilian transport the size of the C5A would need at least double the emergency exits now on today's jets. And regardless of how many exits are available, there are some experts who warn that it is impossible to get 500 to 700 passengers evacuated from a crippled plane in the two minutes required by federal regulation.

The C5A might be further handicapped by its enormous weight, for not many airport runways could absorb the beating from a plane weighing twice as much as a 707 or DC8.

The stretched jet appears to be the more logical approach. But one major carrier isn't enthusiastic about either the elongated jet or the C5A. An official explained:

"By the time we'd get them in any numbers, our regular jets will have depreciated so much we could afford to cut fares anyway."

A scrawny acacia tree is so important a landmark in the Sahara that it appears on maps, the National Georgraphic says. The Tree of Tenere in Niger, the only large plant growing for a hundred miles, guides caravaneers to a well.

Some People Of Influence Use Rewards, Punishment

RIVERSIDE — Much is known about the effects on human behavior of rewards and punishment. But what makes a person who desires to influence another use either rewards or punishment as a primary technique? That question is under investigation by Norman Miller associate professor of psychology at the University of California, Riverside.

There are a number of general observations, he says, that may or may not be borne out by experiment, such as that lower class people, (who typically tend to be more aggressive) will be more prone to use punishment. Likewise, those with little "tolerance for delayed gratification" should more readily use punishment, since it more abruptly changes on-going behavior. Another notion is that as people gain more power, they tend to use punishment more sparingly.

Miller is a long way from offering definite judgments on such matters. As an experimental psychologist, attempting to secure laboratory results that can be validated, he sets up artifical, simplified situations. In some of his experiments, he has had several subjects communicate with one another by pressing buttons on panels in separated booths. The situation is competitive, with each subject attempting to devise a strategy, by offering rewards or punishment, which in the end will give him the best record of success in influenceing others. Both the sequence of rewards and punishments and the timing of them can be made important.

Furthermore, says Miller, it is possible to impose a power structure on on the group, by regulating the degree to which a subject can communicate successfully. Numerous more complex variations are possible.

This research program was initiated at Yale University with a National Science Foundation grant. With another grant of $30,400 from the National Science Foundation, Miller plans to pursue this line of research further.

Robber Phones Order To Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An anonymous caller telephoned his order to a drive-in restaurant, saying he wanted all the money, to go.

"This is a holdup, he said over the telephone. "Put all the money in a bag and put it on the counter. Then go into the back room, close the door and stay there."

The restaurant employes did as they were told. When they emerged from the back room 15 minutes later, they found $347 missing.

Windshield Saves Money

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) — Strange things have happened since Mount Sterling adopted a law requiring a $7 windshield sticker for autos.

When residents change cars, they pay only $1 for a new sticker if they can produce a portion of the old one.

Recently, a woman showed up at city hall carrying a large section of windshield to which the sticker was affixed.

Her old car had been wrecked and she couldn't remove the sticker, so she brought along the whole works.

Courts Tougher On Damage Suits

CHICAGO (AP) — Manufacturers, distributors and retailers face tougher injury obligations because of the spreading doctrine of strict liability.

High courts in California, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey and New York have ruled in favor of persons whose injuries from defective products were foreseeable, according to Commerce Clearing House.

For example, Missouri buyers of a defective gas stove recovered a full property damage after it set fire to their premises.

Snapshot View Of Paraguay Is Misleading

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI) — First impressions deceive the visitor to Paraguay.

Indian women smoking big black cigars undulate through the hot streets of Asuncion, with wicker baskets of oranges balanced on their heads.

A solitary gray donkey sleepwalks across a downtown intersection, indifferent to the honking of a dozen automobiles.

On the Parana River at the border with Brazil, barefoot men armed with slender poles shove huge logs downhill to water's edge, then ride them out nimbly and lash them to rafts.

It would appear the 16th Century had not yet yielded to the 20th in Paraguay.

But these snapshot views, captured by every tourist's camera, are misleading. Paraguay — landlocked, isolated, decimated by wars—is bridging the gap.

Within the past five years, progress has come in a rush to the least populated nation of South America.

International jet flights touch down at Asuncion, the colonial capital. This airstrip was in service long before Paraguay even had paved roads to neighboring Argentina and Brazil.

Highways now get top priority. Only 28 kilometers (25 miles) remain to be paved on a highway extending east from Asuncion to the Brazil border. The trip will take about four hours. Until now, it has been a riverboat journey of 15 to 20 days.

Another paved road is reaching north to Asuncion through Argentina. Within one year a motorist will be able to drive with reasonable comfort from Buenos Aires to the Paraguayan capital and then east to Brazil.

Recently engineers completed an unpaved road stretching across Paraguay's underpopulated western Chaco region to the Bolivian border. It is now possible for cattle to be trucked to market in Asuncion. Formerly, they had to be herded here, with great loss of weight.

A dam to be built on the Parana will open a fertile farming area in eastern Paraguay.

Asuncion now has a waterworks system. It also has a first-class hotel, a triangular 13-floor tower built with social security funds.

Across Independence Plaza from the hotel, a blinking red, green and blue neon sign—occasionally blacked out by power failures—proposes this explanation for Paraguay's progress: "Peace, Work and Welfare With Stroessner."

The neon message is a reminder to the forgetful that Paraguay is governed by President Alfredo Stroessner, 50, an army general who has held office since 1955.

Stroessner has not stinted with these reminders. Photographs of the general — his chest ablaze with medals — decorate shops, taxis and public buildings. His name appears in two-foot-high letters on the Asuncion airport, and a leading city on the Parana River is known as Port Stroessner.

Despite these trappings of the strongman, even Stroessner's opponents acknowledge he has brought stability to Paraguay. Stroessner and Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain have one thing in common: exiles continue to oppose them bitterly, but in their own countries they have achieved growing acceptance.

Before Stroessner, Paraguay had 35 presidents in 50 years.

Stroessner, in building his recent public works projects, received generous U. S. and international financial aid. His own national budget totals only 25 million dollars a year.

American advisers openly admire the short, stocky general. He is implacably anti-Communist and has the reputation of running a clean administration.

Industrial Show Now Big Business Factor

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Industrial shows now are an important factor in big business to stimulate internal as well as external interest in a company's activities.

Typical of entertainers in this field are the Four Saints, singing and instrumental group who own and star at the Trade Winds Hotel here. Among major firms for whom they put on trade shows are General Electric, General Mills, Buick, National Biscuit Company and Aetna Insurance Company.

In A Half Billion Years There Will Be 30-Hour Day

LOS ANGELES—Relief is in sight for all those busy, busy people who simply can't find enough hours in the day. The 30-hour day is coming up in about a half billion years. And in 4½ billion years, give or take a few millions, junior executives can squeeze their work into a 200-hour day.

On the vast time scale of astronomers such as UCLA Professor Peter Goldriech, the days are gradually getting longer because the earth rotates ever more slowly on its axis.

Basic cause of the slowdown is the energy lost through the continuous rising and falling of tides in the earth's crust and oceans, which also causes the moon to move away from the earth at the rate of one inch a year.

The same theory of tidal frictions has long been used by astronomers to gauge the rotational speeds of other planets in the solar system.

Over the last three years, a new breed of scientists called radar astronomers has rechecked the rotations of some planets by bouncing radar signals off Venus and Mercury and analyzing the signals frequency shifts.

The scientists found, to their surprise, that the time-honored period of 88 days for Mercury's rotation was wrong. During the past months, the raw radar data have been closely analyzed by Goldreich and his fellow UCLA astronomer, Stanton J. Peale. This week, the two young assistant professors came up with the following theoretical calculations:

Mercury apparently rotates once in 58.65 days. This rotational speed seems "locked in," so that Mercury—unlike the earth—will not slow down further in the future.

Earlier calculations by Goldreich and Peale showed that the chances of Mercury being locked in at the 58.65 figure were only one in four while there was a three-in-four chance that the planet would stop slowing down at a rotational speed of between 60 and 65 days.

Although the lower theoretical odds now seem to be the right ones, final confirmation will have to wait for more and better radar measurements.

Yugoslavian Streets Solve Parking Crisis

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Narrowest street in Yugoslavia is believed to be eight-yard-long Ferari Street in the Dalmatian town of Tribanj. It is paved, has street lights—and is just 18 inches wide.

GARDEN DWARF

Hamburg sculptress Vera Mohr-Moeller has created this new variety of garden dwarf, unlike the ones now popular in Germany. She hopes the old dwarves with their red nightcaps will go away. This model is called piesepampel.

Two Science Ships Make Study Of Undersea Saves

SAN DIEGO — Two oceanographic research vessels — one towing the other — from the University of California, San Diego, Scripps Institution of Oceanography are at sea on a seven-months' Pacific Ocean expedition, the Kani, that will center research on underwater acoustics and related oceanography, including internal wave studies.

The veteran "Horizon," in service with Scripps since 1948, is towing a 355-foot-long, strange-looking ship named Flip, that has the appearance of a huge floating log with a small cabin at one end. Flip is the acronym for Floating Instrument Platform.

"Horizon" is towing Flip in Hawaiian waters. Most of their investigations will be conducted there between now and late September, when they are due back in San Diego.

Periodically during the Kani Expedition, 'Horizon" will work apart from Flip on other geophysical and scientific research assignments. At such times, a commercial tug will tow Flip.

The Kani Expedition, so named after the Hawaiian word for "sound" or "noise," is under the general direction of a co-designer of Flip, Fred N. Spiess, associate director of Scripps, professor of oceanography, and director of Scripps' Marine Physical Laboratory.

Launched in June, 1962, Flip has the ability to maneuver from its normal horizontal towing position to the vertical and return to the horizontal by filling its ballast tanks with and emptying them of water. In the vertical position, she stands erect with 300 feet under water and the cabin area some 55 feet above sea level. The cabin accomodates five scientists and a crew of seven, maneuvering gear, laboratory space, and electronic equipment. Funds supporting Kani Expedition are derived mainly from the Office of Naval Research.

For three weeks in April, Flip will be left in an area 200 miles off Maui. This will mark the first time Flip has worked unattended so far from shore or from its towing ship.

Arab Youngest Ambassador To Great Britain

LONDON (AP)—Of more than 100 ambassadors stationed in in London, easily the youngest is 26-year-old Sheik Salin As-Sabah As Salim.

He has just arrived to take up his post as envoy from oil-rich Kuwait.

The new ambassador is the son of the prime minister of Kuwait and a nephew of the Emir. He has never before held an ambassadorial post, but was head of the political department at the Foreign Office in Kuwait.

The next youngest envoy in London is 33-year-old Dr. Josphat Karanja, high commissioner (equivalent of ambassador) from Kenya.

Insurance Man Seeks Psychological Tests

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Insurance broker Harold Marshall says psychological tests for motorists would help "spot the guy who's going to take it out on his car if he has a fight with his wife."

Marshall appeared at a state commission hearing and said insurance rates could be cut if applicants for drivers' licenses were given such tests.

INSPECTING THE BIG ROOF

Like a fly on the roof of the Civic Arena, Ronald Tappe goes about his business of inspecting the huge dome's radial closures—the seals between the leaves, as a field superintendent for the John Harrison Co. The routine inspection lasted three days. (UPI Telephoto)

High School's Students Build Real Airplane

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A tiny open cockpit bi-plane — built by industrial arts students as a class project at Milwaukee Bay View High School—had a successful test flight recently.

The pilot, Col. Paul Poberezny, put the plane through its paces for 20 minutes and told the boys who gathered at the airport: "You've done a wonderful job. She handled tremendously."

Poberezny is president of the Experimental Aircraft Assn., a world wide group of build-it-yourself airplane enthusiasts.

Bay View Principal Arthur L. Showers commented: "We're through with those little projects like bookcases and end tables."

Giraffes sleep only a few hours a night, usually with heads held erect.

Peace Corps Leader Hopes For Expansion

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — This year will hopefully see Peace Corps members in five or six additional countries, says Jack Hood Vaughn, the new director of the corps.

Vaughn also said at Texas Southern University that one out of four Peace Corps volunteers drops out during training and one out of 10 drops out before the two-year hitch is up.

Buenos Aires Warehouse Holds Collection Of Pawned Furniture

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Cheap cane-backed chairs nudge a 500,000-peso ($3,450) period French writing desk. Two battered upright pianos with yellowing keys flank a costly concert grand.

In the storage warehouse of the Banco Municipal, Buenos Aires' government-run pawn agency, the worthless and the priceless share space democratically.

The warehouse—three stories high and a block and a half in area—is the largest structure for pawned furniture in South America.

It houses more than 10,000 articles — everything from dentist chairs to wheelchairs, birdcages to baby scales—with a total estimated value of 1.5 billion pesos (10.3 million dollars).

Since the building opened in 1938, there has never been a fire or a robbery. A staff of only 20 persons maintains the warehouse and closely watches the condition of its contents.

It takes only three men with brooms and feather dusters to clean the furniture. They work from noon to 7 p.m., proceeding from one floor to the next along a carefully determined route. Their major headache is a set of delicate lacquered Chinese chairs which must be handled as though they were porcelain.

Double thick iron doors divide each floor into compartments. If a fire broke out, it would not easily spread to another section. Once a month, warehouse workers get surprise fire and robbery alarms to keep them permanently alert.

The warehouse has its own simple system of tabulating the time articles have been in storage, quite separate from the ledgers kept by the Banco Municipal. The articles all bear cords with knots. Each knot represents four months, the period in which storage payments must be renewed.

Some pieces of furniture have cords several yards long. One dining room set has been stacked away 26 years, since shortly after the building opened.

Also in storage—testimony to shattered careers — are more than 100 complete sets of equipment for a doctor's office and a large supply of barber shop equipment.

An informal inventory tallied 500 refrigerators, 200 washing machines, 200 record players, 500 radios, 700 chandeliers, wheelchairs, operating tables, safes, birdcages, baby scales, kitchen cupboards.

For antique dealers, the warehouse is a frequent source of bargains. When storage payments are not maintained, the city government sells articles at prices far below those on the regular Buenos Aires antique market.

Intended for the financially hard-pressed, the Banco Municipal pawn agency now serves other sectors of the community as well. Furniture dealers, for example, are reported to use the building for storage of surplus merchandise.

Diplomats, too, when assigned to tours of duty overseas, have found the Banco Municipal convenient for storing household goods.

Confronted with these unexpected customers, with chairs piled atop tables atop cabinets up to dizzying heights, the Banco Municipal recently announced it would accept no further pawned furniture.

Chamber Leader Says Viet War Tax Needed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A special Viet Nam war tax should be instituted to slow down the nation's inflation, says the president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Robert P. Gerholz said at a press conference, "We need something instead of increased deficit spending."

The Wedding Follows Minister To Hospital

DECATUR, Ala. (AP)—You've heard of weddings where either the bride or groom was ailing so the ceremony had to be performed in a hospital. Linda Faye Adams and Lee Ackland Parsons added a new wrinkle. When their wedding date arrived, the minister was in Dacatur General Hospital with a pancreas ailment.

The bride said she would be married by no one else but the Rev. Elam B. Kuykendall—so the vows were exchanged in the hospital chapel.

School Buses Cost

FRANKFURT, Ky. (AP) — Nearly 400,000 Kentucky youngsters—60 per cent of its schoolchildren — use buses to go to school. Next to teacher salaries and buildings, pupil transportation is the largest educational expenditure.

Tractor Is World's Best Farm Animal

NEW YORK (AP) — In the fight for food for the world's booming population, the farm tractor is replacing the mule, the ox, the buffalow.

Free world sales of wheeltype tractors are expected to set records in 1966.

But they still have a long way to go before the last plow-pulling buffalo is retired.

"Given good weather and reasonably good economic conditions," said Gordon A. Guthrie, international marketing manager for the Ford Motor Company's Tractor Division, "1966 sales could exceed 679,000 tractors." Estimated sales last year in the free world were 669,000.

Farm mechanization has been accomplished in the United States and Britain, now the world's largest tractor market. But a large number of countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America, where tractor sales are increasing but are still low, find it difficult to increase food yields as much as 1 per cent annually in the face of much higher population growth.

The pace of farm mechanization — of which the tractor is the key factor — must be stepped up rapidly if agriculture is to avoid falling farther behind in the race with exploding population, said Guthrie. The mechanized farming areas of the world undoubtedly will continue to carry the major burden of feeding the world for some time to come, he said.

Developing nations of the world represent more than 60 per cent of land area, but have less than 10 per cent of the world tractor population. Latin America, which has 15 per cent of the world land area, accounts for only 6 per cent of world tractor sales. This percentage is expected to rise to 9.8 per cent by 1970 with annual purchases of 68,000 tractors.

Offshore Oil Rigs Insurance Rate Up

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Insurance rates for offshore drilling and production equipment have risen sharply in recent years because of hurricanes.

A spokesman for Southern Marine & Aviation Underwriters Inc., said new rates in the London insurance market — traditionally handling most of the offshore equipment on the Louisiana and Texas coast — will more than double the old.

Radio Makes Preaching Risky

ALTON, Ill. (AP)—Members of the Rosewood Heights Baptist Church are experiencing a sermon blackout because ham radio operators are horning in on the public address system.

When the preacher, the Rev. Everett S. Beal, is trying to make a point in a sermon, a voice comes booming over the loud speaker asking someone named "Tom" how he likes fried chicken.

A member said there is always fear that some free-wheeling conversationalist will come up with something off-color.

However, most of the conversation is small talk.

Marines Send Viet Currency To Campus

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Marines in South Viet Nam are saying thanks to American college students with 20-piaster Vietnamese notes.

The notes are about the equivalent of a U.S. quarter.

Scrawled on the otes are messages of thanks to students at Midwestern University here for 273 pints of blood donated last December. Members of Marine Air Group 16, stationed near Da Nang, sent the notes.

Bolinas Citizens Save Tennis Court Project

Bolinas residents yesterday protested any major change in the two-acre community park, site of a tennis court and restroom.

They made their protest before the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission, which had earlier been concerned over the future of the little park.

Last week Commissioner Melton Ferris wondered if there was enough community interest in the park to justify continued county operation and development.

Yesterday he learned there was considerable interest.

As a result of the protest, the commission:

1. Voted to include $12,000 in the fiscal 1967 budget to enlarge the restroom.

2. Ordered an investigation of use of vacant land, next to the old Coast Guard station as a second restroom site.

3. Asked title search of beach land between Bolinas and Agate Beach.

Ferris was particularly concerned over a 10-lot subdivision adjacent to the park. This subdivision was shown as part of a large community park on the Bolinas-Stinson Beach master plan. Tentative map for the subdivision was approved by the county planning commission last year with only one protest, Ferris said.

Hurford Sharon, owner of the lots who also chaired the master plan committee, said Bolinas residents generally did not want a larger park because it would only attract more visitors.

He said the community is already over-run with surfers and other visitors.

Atty. Thomas Barfield declared that Sharon's property was once in county ownership, but reverted to private ownership because it was not developed for public use.

He said the two acres would also revert if the county replaced the tennis court with a parking lot. Ferris protested that he held no brief for a parking lot, which was suggested by commissioners last week as something that would get wider use than a tennis court.

Marin Parks And Recreation Commission Also:

1. Voted to include $4,900 in the fiscal 1967 budget request for continued operation of a recreation for handicapped program at the Terra Linda Recreation Center. The county contributed $2,500 for the current fiscal year.

2. Accepted the recommendation of Director Pierre W. Joske to defer second phase planting and construction at Paradise Beach Park near Tiburon until next fall. Starting the work this summer as orginally planned would interfere with heavy use of the park, Joske said.

3. Referred for committee study the proposed county ordinance that would require dedication of land for parks in tracts of 100 lots or more. Developers of smaller tracts can be required to pay a fee in lieu of land.

4. Put off until April 13 discussion of the state's proposed expansion of Tamalpais State Park.

5. Decided to oppose detachment of the 8.2-acre Muir Beach Overlook from the Muir Beach Community Services District. The detachment is included in the proposal of the developers of Seascape subdivision to pull out of the district.

6. Asked chairman Gibbs H. Lawson to prepare a resolution of thanks for commissioner Adele J. Alpers, recently by supervisors Tuesday by Howard Council of Marinwood. Council attended his first meeting yesterday.

7. Adjourned at 6 p.m.

Absent were Commissions Peter Gottheiner and Lothar Salin.

Germany Newest Exchange Area

Germany is the destination of Redwood High School's newest exchange student on the Youth For Understanding Program, Ed Lesko, son of Mrs. Alberta Lesko of 50 Corte De Sabla, Greenbrae.

Ed was chosen as an alternate under the Experiment for International Living Program in September. He then reapplied under the Y.F.U. program and was accepted for Germany.

He will fly to the Y.F.U. headquarters and on to Germany in June, and will return in August. He hopes to attend the Preetz high school, Redwood's sister school.

Eight Ukiah Teachers Enroll

Eight teachers from the Ukiah School District have been enrolled in a teacher training program at the DeWitt Reading Clinic in San Rafael.

The program is designed to help the district set up a remedial reading program. Latest techniques in the diagnosis and correction of reading disabilities are being taught to the teachers.

Two groups of four teachers each are being sent to San Rafael for the program. In addition, Frances B. DeWitt, director of the clinic, has been authorized to conduct a 30-hour teacher workshop in Ukiah, and will act as consultant to the district while it sets up the remedial program.

Similiar workshops are scheduled in Fort Bragg and San Leandro schools.

No Quorum

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission was unable to muster a quorum last night. An other meeting date is to be set, according to commissioner Dorothy Stitham.

Urban Poor Now Have Power, Educator Says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The urban poor "are now assured of enough political leverage" to bring the economic power of the community to heel," an educator declared yesterday.

Dr. Dan W. Dodson, New York University professor of education, spoke at the closing session of the California Assn. for Health and Welfare's annual conference.

Unless federal and state governments help cities fight poverty, he said, "the poor will take care of themselves — through political leverage where they have it—through new Watts-type outbursts where they do not have it."

Through politics the poor "can literally confiscate the wealth of the community, if necessary," he added.

Most local communities, he said, want to use federal funds "to tranquilize the poor sufficiently that they will not challenge the power arrangements of the community. They want to buy off tension."

"This follows the British technique in their control of the colonies during the period of their glory," Dr. Dodson said. "They learned to control tension by squirting a little more welfare on them."

"Even yet, in local communities, I do not see a great upsurge of moral commitment to the elimination of poverty," he said.

The professor criticized religious and private agencies saying they left the issues of poverty to politicians.

Dr. Dodson is director of the Center of Human Relations and Community studies at NYU.

GOP Slaps Administration Spending, Deficits, Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders gibed at the Johnson administration today, saying "the Great Society has become the high society," complete with "high taxes, high prices, high spending, high deficits."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan teamed up at a news conference to accuse the administration of fueling inflation by piling domestic spending on top of Viet Nam war costs and engaging in "fiscal chicanery."

"Inflation is not around the corner—it is here," said Dirksen, the Senate GOP leader. He said it will "rank right up at the top" as an election issue this year.

Ford, the House Republican leader, said it is time for the administration to be candid about the government's budget so that the people will know "how much they are spending to meet the administration's vast commitments here and abroad."

Ford said that with President Johnson "making more and more troop commitments" for the fighting in Viet Nam, he expects military costs to exceed the defense budget estimates by at least $5 billion.

Newsmen asked the GOP leaders if they favored a general tax increase at this time to check inflationary pressures.

"If you are going to spend this money, you are going to have to have a tax increase," Dirksen replied. But he added he preferred "to start at the other end" and go through the President's budget with a sharp knife.

Ford also said Congress should first make reductions in non-military spending. Neither he nor Dirksen pinpointed any major cutbacks they would make. But Dirksen suggested "taking a look at the money we are going to spend" on landing a man on the moon.

Streetcar Theft Charged To Man

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Francisco Municipal Railway employee was charged today with stealing a streetcar.

Motorman R. J. Johnson left his N car last night to make a phone call. When he came back, car and passengers were gone.

Police found it five blocks away—still containing two puzzled passengers.

In a nearby bar Patrolman Gerald Mahoney found Raymond Anderson, 22, Muni employee on the extra list, and arrested him for grand theft. Mahoney said Anderson's only explanation was "I'd been drinking."

Lecture Series To Be On Morality

Next week's lecture will be "Why Morality is Always Old Fashioned," "The Christian in Context" the following week, and "The Sermon on the Mount" on March 30.

DRIVE FOR COMIC BOOKS PLANNED FOR HOSPITALS

Redwood High School sophomores are after comic books.

They want them, however, not to read surreptitiously in class, but to contribute to hospitals and other institutions in Marin County, according to Alex Herrmann, sophomore class president.

The comic book drive will begin Monday and last three weeks. The class wants still-readable comic books that students "can tear themselves away from" so children in institutions can have them to read, said young Herrmann.

Humane Center Donations Held Better Than Statue

Besieged by queries about a memorial for Blackie, the sway-backed horse, the Marin County Humane Society has begun urging that citizens pay tribute by helping to build the planned humane education center at Ignacio.

Blackie became ill and was put to death Feb. 26, after spending nearly 30 years in his pasture at Tiburon Boulevard and Trestle Glen.

During those years, he came to be regarded as a natural part of the landscape, and the expression "watch for the sway-backed horse" became a common phrase in telling people how to find their way around the peninsula.

Society executive director Melvin L. Morse said the society feels donations to the center, part of which would be used to aid aging animals like Blackie, would have more meaning than a statue or other monument at the horse's old pasture. Such a monument, he noted, might be moved or destroyed if the pasture gives way to development in the area.

"Those persons who have already designated something for a memorial are asked to consider the fact that the sentiments expressed in the passing of Blackie could serve the needs of other animals in distress," said Morse.

"Those persons who never knew Blackie and are moved by the story of this wonderful old horse could materially assist by directing their remembrances to a 'working' memorial."

Training Completed

Thirty firemen from various departments in the county and one sheriff's deputy have completed a course in disposal of explosives given by the California Disaster Office, Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom announced today.
